GOP Tests Predominate

(See list of precinct polling places inside.)

Attention will be focused on the Republican side of the primary ballot Tuesday as voters put an end to several months of campaigning and speculation.

Two races are expected to help the Republicans maintain their traditional majority over the Democrats in the northwest suburbs—five men seek the two nominations for state representative from the 3rd District, three want the nod for senate candidate from the 3rd District. (See editorial page for endorsements by Paddock Publications.)

Lines for the Senate and House districts coincide, taking in Barrington, Hanover, Schaumburg, Palatine, Wheeling and Elk Grove Townships, plus half of Northfield Township and a portion of Maine Township.

Heaviest turnout should come in Wheeling Township, with the highest population in the district.

Three of the GOP House candidates come from that township — incumbent Eugene Schlickman of Arlington Heights, William J. Moore of Mount Prospect, and William L. Means of Buffalo Grove. David J. Regner of Mount Prospect lives in Elk Grove Township, and Robert L. Hesse lives in Palatine.

Call for Results

Results of top election contests will be available on Paddock Publications' public service wire, 392-2100, after 10 p.m. Tuesday or as they become available.

IN WHEELING Township, the contest has been heightened by Schlickman's campaign for committeeman against Thomas W. Novotny; Hesse is running for Palatine Township committeeman, but he has no opposition. (See separate story on committeeman race.)

Observers place Schlickman as the incumbent, Hesse and Regner as the top finishers, although Moore may prove to be a darkhorse. Neither Moore nor Means has been endorsed by any of the regular party organizations, and primary results usually reflect the job done by party workers in getting out the vote for their candidates.

"Plumping" (also called "plunking" or "bulleting") could make the difference — by voting for just one House candidate instead of the two permitted, voters may stack the vote in his favor. When just one candidate is chosen by a voter, he gets three votes; when the ballot is split, each candidate gets 1½ votes.

WHEN THE NAMES of the two candidates go on the November ballot, the one with the highest total gets top spot.

The GOP Senate race pits incumbent John A. Graham of Barrington against two challengers: Robert O. Atcher, Schaumburg village president, and William Davies, Streamwood attorney.

Here again the incumbent holds the edge, and Graham has been strongly supported by the party for his part as a member of the majority team in the Senate; however, the odds in Atcher's favor have been building up.

In the other significant contest on the GOP ticket, Cook County Commissioner Gerald Dolezal of Cicero is struggling to hold onto his seat. One of five GOP incumbents — all from the suburbs — he is running on his own after being dumped by the party slatemakers to make room for Sheriff Richard B. Ogilvie, candidate for county board president. The board president must be elected as commissioner to qualify for president.

On the Democratic side of the primary ballot, things have been pretty quiet. Technically, there's no contest in any race, but the party has two candidates for the State House. And, in a Republican district like the northwest area, two GOP representatives are certain to be elected in November; the third must be Democratic.

This means one of the two incumbents will be out of a job, and it's resulted in a widening rift between them.

PERTURBED and disappointed by encouragement of plunking for Rep. Eugenia Chapman in Wheeling Township, Rep. Bernard Peskin of Northbrook says, "I never asked anybody to plump for me." Peskin has been in the House since 1958; Mrs. Chapman, a resident of Arlington Heights, since the 1964 at-large election. Her strongest booster is James Stavros, Wheeling Township committeeman who takes credit for getting her on the ticket in the first place and rejects Peskin's claim that he was the one who put her up.

Evading the issue, Stavros says, "I don't say we're really plunking, but we're trying to get representation from our area." Some of his fliers completely omit Peskin's name from a sample Democratic ballot, but he denies giving his precinct committeemen any orders to work solely for Mrs. Chapman.

The complete ballot, except for committeeman candidates, is listed below (*denotes incumbent). Tuesday's voting hours will be 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. A straight party ticket cannot be voted in the primary; candidates must be voted individually.

Hot Race In GOP Ranks

(See inside for statements by each GOP committeeman candidate.)

Committeemen for both the Democrats and Republicans in Wheeling Township will be elected in next Tuesday's primary.

Veteran Democratic Committeeman James Stavros is unopposed.

But in the Republican ranks, a hot race has developed between two candidates. Thomas W. Novotny and Eugene F. Schlickman are vying for the seat to be left vacant by retiring committeeman Thomas J. Houser. He decided not to run again for the post because he is director for Charles Percy's campaign to unseat U.S. Sen. Paul Douglas.

When stepping down, Houser recommended Schlickman for the committeeman position. Schlickman, an Arlington Heights attorney, also is running for re-election to the Illinois House.

Novotny, also of Arlington Heights, is the owner of a management consultant firm in the Loop.

THE RACE FOR both hopefuls has been a long and sometimes bitter one and showed a split in the Wheeling Township organization. Novotny and Schlickman have long worked with GOP groups in the township.

Experience in party organization, campiagn management, public relations and fund raising were cited by Novotny as his major selling points. He said good organizational ability is essential for a committeeman.

Novotny calls himself a "pragmatic conservative" and admitted more of his backers were conservative and more of Schlickman's were liberals. He said, however, the fight for committeeman was not a conservative-liberal one.

Schlickman said he was a "moderate," and claimed his organization has a balance of liberals and conservatives.

Novotny has hammered away on the subject of "one-man, one job." He contends that a man who is committeeman should only have that job, and not two as Schlickman would have if he were elected.

SCHLICKMAN points to his leadership ability and a "positive program" as his main qualifications for the committeeman spot. He claims he will be available to work in the township more than his opponent.

Schlickman also emphasizes his experience in working in the Republican party, as well as his governmental experience as a village trustee and state representative.

The Arlington Heights attorney also contends the two jobs of committeeman and state representative are complementary, that holding one will allow him to do a better job in the other.

Both men have promised, if elected, to forget the battle, and that none of the opposition in the fight will be purged out of the organization. They said it was important to form a united front against the Democrats in November.

Arlington Site of New University?

The Arlington Heights area was suggested Tuesday by a committee of the State Board of Higher Education as a possible site for a four-year commuter college.

The committee recommended that two four-year commuter colleges be built in the Chicago area as soon as possible. The other suggested site was the Downers Grove area.

The committee is headed by Prof. Clarence Stephens of Southern Illinois University and is one of four technical committees appointed by the Board of Higher Education Dec. 27.

The recommendations were grounded in the committee's report that by 1970, over 75 per cent of the college-age students in the state will live in the Chicago metropolitan area.

Seek Appearance on District 25 Agenda

St. James parishioners are planning to ask elementary District 25 to provide free bus service next year to their students living more than 1½ miles from the parochial school.

A letter asking to appear at Monday's board meeting to discuss the matter was sent Wednesday by the St. James parents.

Spearheading the effort is Mrs. Harry Rood, who lives in the Prospect Meadows subdivision where parents of public school children are up in arms about plans to bus their youngsters to North School next year.

The St. James parents who have looked into the matter have been told by the state superintendent of public instruction's office that it is not only proper—but mandatory — that bus transportation be provided to students in private schools provided they meet these requirements:

—THAT THE district now provides free bus service to its public school students living 1.5 miles or more from school.

—That the private school students live 1.5 miles or more from their school.

—And that the public school system does not change its routes to pick up the non-public school students.

The state superintendent's legal aides confirmed this Tuesday at the request of a Paddock Publications reporter. They in fact stressed that the free transportation must be provided for private school children who live along routes established for the public school children even if buses must be added to handle the additional load.

St. James School children living in the Prospect Meadows neighborhood would be well over the mileage distance. Residents

Prospect Meadows

Ask Reversal On Boundary

The Arlington Heights elementary school board Monday will face a group of determined Prospect Meadows residents who don't want their children bused to North School next year.

The protesters are all residents of the Prospect Meadows subdivision, which lies north of Kensington and east of Regent Park in an area which is outside Arlington Heights village boundaries though within District 25.

They object to the board-approved plan to bus what school officials estimate will be 120 students from kindergarten through fifth grade because they prefer that their children continue to attend "a neighborhood school" — Kensington School within walking distance.

The Meadows residents plan to send school board members and District 25 administrative officials a statement of their position and findings, culled from huddles with school officials and village maps, before Monday's 7:30 p.m. meeting.

THE GROUP, which has circulated petitions and collected considerable statistics in an effort to provide effective opposition to the board-approved plan that will move their children from Kensington School to a school more than 2.5 miles away, chose Thomas Heinz, 400 Oriole, Mount Prospect, as their spokesman at a meeting Tuesday.

Their choice is in effect a move to insure aggressive defense of the Meadows group's position. Earlier planning of the protest had been done by an all-woman committee that included Mrs. Richard Mateja, chairman; Mrs. Leo Murray, Mrs. Robert Musser, Mrs. Fred Vollhardt, Mrs. Kenneth Schultz and Mrs. William Vosburgh.

Mrs. Mateja and committee members met with Supt. Ralph Clabaugh Friday and consulted him again Monday and Wednesday in order to clarify school attendance figures which they plan to cite in challenging the busing plan and proposing possible alternatives.

The homeowners are particularly concerned because they believe it likely that the busing of their neighborhood's children will be a permanent arrangement.

THEY HAVE been told by Clabaugh that no additions are planned for Kensington School, the school to which children from their 15-year-old subdivision had previously been assigned.

Mrs. Mateja says school of-

'Warm' Village Embrace

Give History Society Official Recognition

The village of Arlington Heights extended the warm embrace of its official support to the Arlington Heights Historical Society Monday with a resolution of commendation that was adopted unanimously by the board of trustees.

Trustees endorsed the society's activities and threw their support behind its efforts to raise funds for a permanent home by urging interested citizens and residents to contribute to the society.

The Historical Society was founded in April, 1957, but until now has existed without official recognition.

NOTING THE historical heritage of Arlington Heights which "should be preserved and documented," the board cited the Historical Society for its "outstanding job of collecting historical items depicting the background and growth" of the village.

The society's collection of historical data and articles of historical value consists of early photographs of the village, documents, books, magazines, chests, trunks and cabinets full of clothes, tools and other items.

It includes items brought here in 1838 by the family of Revolutionary War veteran and early Arlington Heights settler Eli Skinner.

THE SOCIETY'S success at amassing its collection has resulted in the problem of where to store and display it.

The bulk of the collection is presently in the home of Mrs. Milton Daniels, curator of the society, with the overflow scattered among the Wheeling Township Hall and homes of other society members.

Action Deferred On Paving Project

The Arlington Heights Village Board Monday deferred action on the Wing-Ridge-Miner paving project in the face of protests and complaints from Wing Street residents.

The special assessment project encompassing Wing Street between Chestnut and Ridge and fragments of Ridge Avenue and Miner Street had been before the village board for approval after being adopted by the board of local improvements May 26.

TRUSTEES decided to hold the project over to their June 20 meeting and in the meantime arrange for a joint meeting with the improvements board to get the background on it.

Wing Street residents Monday reiterated complaints made at the board hearings that they should not be assessed for 80 per cent of the paving costs because a usable street had been torn up when storm sewers were installed in 1963, and because they constituted a minor portion of the traffic using the street.

To this was added complaints that the road surface was not restored after the storm sewer installation and they had problems with dust and holes.

They received immediate relief from the dust problem. The village public works department graded and oiled the gravel portion of the street Wednesday afternoon.

VILLAGE officials generally expressed a lack of familiarity with the complaints of Wing Street residents. Village Pres. John G. Woods and Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson both told Paddock Publications that none of the residents previously had appeared before the village board to air their complaints.

THE BRONZE STAR awarded posthumously to Lt. Neil A. Kroger is conveyed to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Kroger, at their home in Arlington Heights, by Lt. James H. Baldy (right), representing the commanding officer of Fort Sheridan, Ill. Lt. Kroger also received the Purple Heart and Vietnamese awards.

Killed in Action

Bronze Star Awarded To Viet Nam Casualty

The Bronze Star has been awarded posthumously to Lt. Neil A. Kroger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Kroger, 1537 N. Belmont Ave., Arlington Heights, for heroic action in Viet Nam Nov. 15, 1965.

The award was conveyed to Lt. Kroger's parents in a simple ceremony in their home by Lt. James H. Baldy, representing the commanding officer of Fort Sheridan, Ill.

LT. KROGER'S citation read in part:

"For heroism in connection with military operations against a hostile force.

". . . Lt. Kroger distinguished himself by heroic actions on Nov. 15, 1965 in the battle of Ia Drang Valley, Republic of Viet Nam.

"His company was. . . attacked by an estimated three companies of North Vietnamese. Throughout the ensuing battle Lt. Kroger, while directing the defense of his platoon, exposed himself repeatedly to intense enemy fire.

"Lt. Kroger displayed outstanding courage and professional competence and inspired his men to a successful defense of their positions. It was while directing his platoon that Lt. Kroger was mortally wounded."

The Purple Heart — the Army's oldest award and given for wounds received in action against an enemy — was previously awarded posthumously to Lt. Kroger and conveyed to his parents.

Lt. Kroger was buried in Mount Carmel Cemetery on Nov. 29, 1965.

He is survived by his parents, brother Jeffrey, two sisters, Nancy and Martha, and paternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Kroger of Northlake.

A native of Oak Park, he graduated from Fenwick High School in 1960. He attended the University of Illinois at Champaign and Northwestern and Loyola universities.

He entered the Army in November 1963 and graduated from U. S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga. May 13, 1965. He received additional ranger training after graduation.

Lt. Kroger's parents have been residents of Arlington Heights since December, 1964.

Wayside Awaits Okay Of Mobile Classrooms

A matter of semantics has delayed action on a request that Our Lady of the Wayside parochial school be permitted to erect two mobile classrooms.

Village Mgr. L. A. (Rudy) Hanson says he has delayed putting the matter before trustees because he is awaiting Catholic archdiocesan school authorities' explanation of how long the mobile classrooms will be needed.

The Catholic school authorities have told Hanson that the mobile classrooms will be "temporary" only.

TRUSTEES HAVE questioned just what "temporary" means, and Hanson has asked for a written explanation of how long the two mobile units would be needed.

Use of the temporary classrooms was proposed by the archdiocesan school board, which has not acted on Rev. H. T. O'Hara's request for approval of an extensive building program at the south side parochial school. The mobile units would ease overcrowding in the packed parish school, where Father O'Hara would like to add a junior high building with gymnasium, science laboratores and a meeting hall.

Archbishop Cody has delayed approval of all building program plans throughout the Chicago area. He asked village permission for erection of the mobile units in a letter which noted that crowding of public elementary schools could result if the parochial school situation in the village changed.

TO ALLOW THE erection of the mobile units, village trustees must approve a temporary use permit, since the temporary structures do not meet village building requirements.

Such permits are usually applied for by private contractors, who then post a bond as assurance that the "temporary use" will not be exceeded. (A

Johnson Honored

Retired Arlington Heights Police Lt. Oscar E. Johnson was honored with a resolution of commendation awarded by the village board Monday night.

Johnson retired from the force May 1. Noting his 20 years of service as a member of the police department, trustees cited him for his "civic contribution to the civic well being of Arlington Heights."

Johnson was born in Chicago and has lived in Arlington Heights since 1921. He graduated from Arlington High School in 1932.

LT. JOHNSON

His appointment to the police department as patrolman came in 1946. He was promoted to sergeant in 1950 and to lieutenant in 1959.

Before joining the police department, Johnson worked for Schimming Oil Co. in Arlington Heights and as a Coca Cola route salesman. (A

Eye on Arlington

Amidst the Flags, A Plea for Police

by DAVE CRIPPEN
News Editor

A record crowd estimated at 10,000 turned out for the Arlington Heights Memorial Day parade last week. What they saw was probably one of the largest and most colorful displays ever put on in a suburban community.

CRIPPEN

As I watched flags and fanfare move down the streets, I heard a long-haired teenager read aloud the inscription on the side of a float.

"Support your local police? Oh, brother," he scoffed. I was indignant. Why shouldn't our local police receive our support?

The float rolled by where I was standing. I noticed someth[illegible] else inscribed below the plug for the loc[illegible] police. "The John Birch Society Stands for Law and Order," it read. Then it was my turn to say, "Oh brother."

I heard Republican and Democratic feet alike shuffling on the sidewalk. Walking alongside the float was a man guiding it with a steering bar. Ironically, metal handle jutted out from the left side of the float. Obviously, someone in the Birch bunch did not pay attention to the innuendos of such liberal construction.

To add to the embarrassment of these patriotic fellows, some very red fire-fighting trucks rumbled along noisily right behind the float.

Later, I checked the parade schedule to see if the Birchers were included. The order of march showed the Arlington Heights Post Office listed before the fire department.

"Hardly likely the Post Office could be a front organization for our friends on the far right," I thought. And the Birchers were not listed anywhere else on the parade program.

The local VFW post, sponsors of the annual parade, reported the float was not listed because the Birchers applied after the program was printed. VFW officials further explained their policy was to allow any group participation in the parade as long as it conformed to regulations. These regulations prohibit any advertising or political promotion.

Originally, the society wanted to enter a bookmobile as well as a float in the parade. But this was a bit too much for parade officials, so the Birchers were told to leave their propaganda wagon at home.

Where did the Birch bunch come from? No one seems to know. Apparently, they were not from Arlington Heights, though their home base appears to be somewhere in northwest suburban area.

The Birchers' push for law and order at least is commendable. Besides, it's enlightening to find the society is in favor of something.

A Day Like All Days . . . Almost

Tuesday, June 14, 1966.

Primary election day? Yes. Flag Day? Yes.

That's not all. Tuesday has also been proclaimed "Patriotic Day" in Arlington Heights by the village board.

The resolution approved by the board establishing Tuesday as Patriotic Day called upon the people "to display the flag of the United States in observance and reaffirmation of their respect of the flag and what it stands for and further exemplifying their inalienable right to vote on the primary day."

The Patriotic Day proclamation was requested by the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce. (A

District 59 Expenditure Is Approved

Expenditure of $20,684.02 for equipment and supplies for School District 59 schools for next year was approved at Monday's school board meeting.

The money is spread over four areas, and bids were let on all items. Consumable science supplies for the three junior high schools in the area cost $904. Science equipment cost another $8,400, but about half will be reimbursed through the National Defense Education Act.

CLASSROOM shelving for the Robert Frost and Grant Wood schools will cost $3,090, with another $500 for installation. The cost of metal shelving for the libraries at Clearmont, Frost, Low, Wood, and Holmes schools will cost $7,790.02.

Metal shelves were chosen over wooden ones because of greater flexibility. (ACME

Hearings on a request to rezone a vacant lot at the northeast corner of Eastman Street and Salem Avenue from M1 (Manufacturing) to R5 (apartment) were continued Wednesday to July 6 by the Arlingtnn Heights Plan Commission.

The hearings were continued at the request of the petitioner, Joseph Bernstein, who is seeking rezoning to construct an apartment complex on the site.

The 319-by-353 foot parcel involved is a part of a site occupied by the former Grigsby plant which has been vacant for more than two years.

Bernstein is not seeking rezoning of the land occupied by the plant. (A

Near Completion Of Packing Co. New Addition

A new $25,000 addition to the Arlington Packing Co., 119 W. Campbell St., Arlington Heights, is nearing completion.

The addition is to accommodate new cooler and freezer units which will double the wholesale and retail meat supply firm's refrigerated storage capacity, according to Joseph Barone, partner in the firm.

Arlington Packing Co. deals largely in wholesale meat supplies for schools and restaurants. Barone said the expansion of facilities was necessitated because the firm quadrupled its business volume in the past three years.

Arlington Packing Co. has been in Arlington Heights for 15 years and at its present location for the past nine years.

Target Date Is April 22

Urging fast action on building plans, the Arlington Heights library board has set April 22 as the target date for next meeting with architects and library consultant Donald Beane.

The board went over the plans Tuesday evening with Robert Cheney and Robert Nicol, representing the architectural firm of Nicol and Nicol.

The discussion, termed a "progress report" by Nicol, drew suggestions that the architects look into:

—The cost of further depressing part of the parking area under the building so that larger trucks can unload at the service entrance.

—The possibility of partially burying the air conditioning tower, placed in the plans shown Tuesday at the southeast corner of the building.

—Different arrangements for office space and meeting room facilities.

—Ways a book drop — or two —could be located to be most convenient for both the staff and public.

Some screening for needed bicycle racks was also suggested by board members, although they agreed that the number of bike slots needed was hard to estimate. (A(E

'Full Speed Ahead' On College Building

Officials of William Rainey Harper Junior College plan to go "full speed ahead" toward establishing an area two-year college.

Concrete steps toward its doors were laid Saturday when residents of four townships approved a $7,375,000 bond issue for construction.

Robert P. Lahti, Harper College president, said they probably will be ready to advertise for bids on general obligation bonds within 60 days. He expects to be able to purchase land in negotiations within 60 days.

"HOPEFULLY, IF all goes well, we can advertise for construction bids as early as February and break ground as soon as we can get on the property," he said.

The 6,030-2,038 vote for the bond issue also authorized a tax of 6.5 cents per $100 of equalized assessed valuation. The junior college district covers Wheeling, Palatine, Schaumburg and Elk Grove Townships.

The tax to pay off the bond issue will be levied in September, Lahti said. He said financial consultants are to determine if the total tax is to be levied and if all bonds are to be released at once.

The junior college officials do not expect to receive their funds from the state — to cover 75 per cent of costs — when grants are made this fall. The bond issue will cover the local 25 per cent share, which Lahti said will be spent only on the three-to-one basis as funds become available from the state.

Total construction costs are estimated at $29,500,000. The first phase is expected to cost $18 million.

Lahti said the college will apply for $13 million and if that is not received this fall, the college will be first in line for new grants when the legislature convenes in January.

"I'M HOPEFUL IN the next biennium the State Junior College Board will say building programs are awaiting appropriations," the president said.

The state has $20.5 million available now but six college districts are applying for funds.

Lahti said planning for the first construction phase is still in a schematic stage. The first phase is to be one-third of the total campus.

The college district is negotiating for 91 acres owned by George Jayne at the northeast corner of Roselle and Algonquin Roads. The college has an option on 80 acres adjacent to this.

St. James Parents Ask Public Busing

of the subdivision estimate in fact, that the distance is closer to 2.7 miles.

The St. James parishioners have talked by phone to Supt. Ralph Clabaugh of District 25, about their request. He wrote them a letter citing the requirements that must be met in order for private school children to qualify for free bus transportation.

CLABAUGH TOLD Paddock Publications Tuesday that he did not know whether he would put the St. James parents on next week's agenda. He said he was not sure whether their proposal was concrete enough yet for them to come before the board.

The matter was discussed by the members of north side Catholic parish Wednesday evening in St. James School. It was the second of two meetings on the bussing matter for the parents of students attending the parochial school.

While Arlington Heights elementary district has never provided free bus service to pupils attending parochial schools, surrounding school districts have.

In surrounding districts parochial school children living more than 1.5 miles from their school receive free bus transportation along regular public school bus routes. This has been done in Wheeling's District 21 for more than seven years and in Elk Grove township's District 59 for at least four years. Mount Prospect District 57 does not bus parochial school children, but it provides no bus transportation for public school children either.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS that do provide free bus transportation for non-public school children receive state reimbursement for the transportation just as they do for busing students who attend public school.

At one time the state superintendent's office held that school districts were obliged to provide free bus service for non-public school children living more than 1.5 miles from their school only if there were empty seats on buses. Many school districts turned down requests on the grounds that there was no room.

But in 1961 the state legislature amended the school code to specify that the title of the code's busing section read "students from all schools." N. E. Hutson, chief legal adviser, has ruled that this means what it says — that the law applies to all children and that parochial students must be bused even if extra vehicles will be needed as a result.

Paddock Publications was told that the requirement would apply even if the parochial school students, in order not to have the public school bus routes changed, were dropped off at a point short of the 1.5 miles.

The key distance, the state superintendent's spokesmen said, was whether the students lived 1.5 miles or more from the parochial school.

Prospect Meadows Group Asks Change

ficials have explained that the busing is necessary because Kensington, where their children formerly attended, is crowded and so is neighboring Windsor School.

Their 120 children (the number estimated by Clabaugh, though the figure is disputed by the Meadows homeowners on the basis of their own survey last week) will replace 67 lost to Ridge under a boundary change, some 40 North students who will attend Olive instead next year and another 16 who will instead go to Windsor.

THE SHIFTING of students will mean that Kensington, which last year had three-fourths of its classes with more than a 30-student optimum, will probably have no classes over 30 next year. Windsor, also benefiting from the transfer and boundary switches, will also likely have no over-30 classes compared to three-fifths that way this year.

North School will, however, probably have two-thirds of its classes over 30, just as it has had this year.

Well-Traveled Arlington Folks Are Home from Trips

Sidelights Of Arlington Heights

Dorothy Meyer, CL 3-2298

Dear Sidelighters:

Through nine year's worth of Mondays you and I have spent countless telephone-hours together and I feel as though we're old friends. We've laughed a lot—even cried together once or twice—and we've talked about everything from politics to lawn fertilizer, all en route one more Sidelights column. This is my last one, though, and because you all have been like old friends, I want to say "Thanks" for nine year's worth of memorable Mondays. Sincerely, Dorothy Meyer.

Well-traveled Arlington Heighters are home from trips abroad and jaunts to the south; scholarly ones are busy graduating from kindergarten, college and all grades between; cupid-caught young people are orbiting on pink clouds through bridal showers and rehearsal dinners as their elders happily celebrate anniversaries of wedding days of the past. June is off on a happy - hectic marathon of sociability.

MR. AND MRS. Ralph Meyer, 706 N. Mitchell, and the Walter Clausings, 717 S. Evergreen, returned Thursday from a mutually enjoyed first-time trip abroad that was "like a dream." The Meyers, tentatively planning to tour Europe sometime this year, talked the Clausings into jelling their "some day we'd like to go to Europe" plans, and away they went together early last month. Their itinerary reads, "London to Holland to Belgium to Germany to Switzerland to Austria to Italy and France," and their enthusiasm for each country would make wonderful reading for the foreign chambers of commerce. Each couple says that the company of the other added to their pleasure—and so did ideal summery weather that followed them everywhere while Arlington Heights lilacs were being nipped in the bud by frost.

The Charles Bakers, 19 N. Pine, also returned last week from a three-week tour abroad, but for them there was more warmth in a reunion with a former "daughter pro tem" than there was in the weather. During their stay in France they visited Mme. Michel Iritz, the former Mlle. Florence Berger who lived with the Bakers during her year here as a foreign exchange student in Arlington High School. Since returning to her native country, the Bakers' proxy daughter has married and, as of last fall, presented her American Mom and Dad with a proxy granddaughter. Mr. and Mrs. Baker also enjoyed a visit with Florence's parents in southern France. The rest of their vacation time they spent sightseeing in Paris and London and absorbing Shakespearean atmosphere in Stratford-on-Avon.

THE BAKERS' daughter, Linda, is vacationing briefly at home after a session of hard work with the American Field Service program in New York, and before her return to the books on the campus in Kalamazoo. She leaves here next Wednesday.

Still in a spin from their 17-day whirl through 11 European countries are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wist who buzzed home last Wednesday to 837 S. Vail. No matter how many more May 27 birthdays she has, Mrs. Wist will never forget this year's which began with breakfast in Rome and included a box lunch along the Italian Riviera, dinner in Monaco and after-dinner drinks in Nice on the French Riviera. "And that," says the birthday girl, "was a typical day!" All of her unbirthdays in Europe maintained nearly the same go-go-go pace and the whirling Wists are still only partially unwound. The weekend visit of their daughter and her husband, the Jerry Pattersons of South Bend, helped them taper off on their excitement kick.

MR. AND MRS. Patterson were here to join a Patterson family celebration for Jerry's sister, Sue, who graduated last week from Sacred Heart of Mary High School in Rolling Meadows. An afternoon party Sunday in the Patterson home, 1011 S. Dunton, brought Sue the congratulations of 30 family members. More best wishes came her way Sunday evening, when neighbors and other local friends dropped in for part two of the graduation party. Sue will attend Southern Illinois University this fall. Home from her college year at St. Norbert's in time for Sue's graduation and a reunion with brother, Jerry, was the Pattersons' other degree-seeker, Cheryl.

Two sons graduating on consecutive days last weekend kept the Richard Weidners' household in a happy dither Saturday and Sunday. At a "hooray-I-made-it" celebration Saturday night, the Weidners' eldest son, Larry, flashed his just-acquired diploma from Northern Illinois University as his young brother, Dale, tried not to remember that he was eight whole years away from a similar goal. Dale graduated next day from St. James Catholic Junior High School and another celebration, junior grade, marked his accomplishment. Monday at 1131 N. Dunton was kind of quiet.

THE SENIOR William Kopplins, 515 W. Euclid, recently accompanied their son and daughter-in-law, the junior William Kopplins, 410 W. Wing, on one of the proudest, happiest trips in the family history. They motored to Charleston, S. C. where on May 27, the younger Kopplins' son and Grandpa's namesake was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force at 8 a.m., graduated from The Citadel at 9 and married at 4 in the afternoon. In true military tradition, the wedding took place in the chapel on campus, and the bride and groom exited the chapel under an arch of crossed swords. The new Mrs. William Kopplin is the former Susan Kline of Philadelphia.

Day before the wings-and-wedding-bells event, the family thrilled to the spectacle of the Citadel's senior parade with Bill at the head of his battalion. Sharing all the excitement and pride were Bill's twin brothers, collegians Bob and John, who flew from their respective Rockford College and Michigan State University campuses to join the rest of the family in Charleston.

JUNE BRIDE-ELECT Sarajane Precilio, 888 S. Bristol, was feted recently at a pre-nuptial party given by a former neighbor, Mrs. Arnold Selan, 706 S. Dunton, and attended by 18 other South Dunton friends of the Precilio family. The party was intended to be a surprise to the honor guest and was so successful that Miss Precilio appeared at the Selan home in super-casual attire. She'd been busy at home with one detail of wedding preparations when she was called by the hostess and asked to help with another detail. Her delight with the shower of miscellaneous gifts and the fun of being so thoroughly surprised made it a perfect evening.

Setting the pattern for an on-the-go summer schedule at 107 S. Kennicott, Mrs. Boman and son, Brian, returned from a week in Florida just in time to repack for a family-all-together holiday stay in Door County. Everyone came home last Wednesday and are currently settled down—for a week or two, maybe. In Florida, Brian and his Mom visited his sister in Fort Lauderdale and his grandparents, Mrs. W. T. Butler and Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Boman in Madiera Beach.

SCHOOL'S OUT for University of Tulsa coed Claudia Hansen but she won't be home at 1517 W. Fremont until a week from Monday. She leaves for Florida by plane from Tulsa this weekend, then will go by boat to the Grand Bahamas to attend the national Kappa Alpha Theta convention, representing her chapter as its secretary. There'll be a flying trip back to the campus after the convention before she returns home.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon S. Lindgren, 29 S. Reuter Drive, recently returned from a three-week Hawaiian vacation that was an early celebration of their July 20 silver wedding anniversary. It was their first visit to the islands and they flew to each of the outer islands from their base in Honolulu, then enjoyed a leisurely five-day cruise back to the mainland.

Veteran Arlington Heights residents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wichtner will observe their 52nd wedding anniversary Sunday, five days before the groom's 80th birthday. Celebrations are not planned but the anniversary couple expect "drop in" visits from old friends. The Wichtners reside at 630 W. Campbell, their home for 40 years.

Many local residents will remember Wichtner from his years in Neumann's barber shop where he worked until his retirement 12 years ago. At least one former customer, this writer's husband who formerly had hair, joins other longtime local residents in extending best wishes to the Wichtners.

MR. AND MRS. Robert Hutchinson, 1520 N. Kennicott, were hosts a week ago Friday night at a rehearsal dinner in the Pyrenees Restaurant, Skokie, honoring their son, Alan, and his fiancee, Miss Alice Russell of Wilmette, on the eve of their wedding. Out-of-town guests, weekending here to attend the wedding, were the groom's aunt and cousin, Mrs. T. T. McNelley and her son, Terry, of Fort Wayne; another cousin, Mrs. John Johnson of San Diego, and longtime family friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thornberry of Louisville, Ky.

Next evening, following the afternoon wedding reception in Villa Moderne, Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson entertained their out-of-town visitors and other friends at a buffet supper in their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Haugen, leaving next week for a new home in St. Louis, were guests of honor Friday evening at a farewell dinner party hosted by Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Raasch, 420 S. Windsor. Adding their reluctant farewells were other longtime local friends, Mr. and Mrs. Al Wilcox, the Jerry Jedds, George Gows and former Stonegate residents, the Robert Mitchells, here from Delavan, Wis., for the occasion. The Haugens have made their home here for the past 10 years and leave 1714 E. Mayfair "with mixed emotions,' excited about the future but sorry to be saying goodbye to old friends. (A

Notes from Arlington Acres

Heartfelt sympathy is extended to the family of Barney Kleinhuizen, 512 S. Phelps, on his death over Memorial Day weekend. Although Barney had been in Holy Family Hospital for a week while undergoing tests, his death was totally unexpected.

When the Dick Spagnoli family, 1815 E. Grove, moved from the area last week, the best wishes of their former neighbors went with them. Elaine and the children, Jamie, Michael, Lori, Joey and Toni, will spend part of the summer with her parents in Van Nuys, Calif., while Dick makes plans to build a new and larger home for them in the Skokie area.

The welcome mat is out for Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hoffmann who moved into the former Lane home at 1823 E. Park, last week from Mount Prospect. Their children are Linda, 6, and Michael, 4. Mr. Hoffmann is with Allied Radio in Chicago.

MRS. DEXTER Ashbrook and Mrs. Robert Morgan hosted a morning coffee Friday for Mrs. William Bayuk, all of the 400 block South Forrest. The Bayuks have sold their home and are in the process of building a larger one in another area of Arlington Heights.

Immediately after the "coffee" the Ashbrooks and their daughters, Jane, Susan and Nancy, left for Normal, where they planned to help the senior Otto Ashbrooks celebrate their golden wedding anniversary at a small family party Saturday.

A welcome houseguest of the Gerald Schneiders, 508 S. Prindle, is Jackie's grandmother, Mrs. Legora Allen of Jamestown, N. Y. Mrs. Allen, whom the Schneiders haven't seen in 10 years, is en route to Atlanta to visit other relatives. She is thoroughly enjoying being shown around the Chicago area, as well as becoming acquainted with her great-grandchildren, Mark, Laura and John.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Longrie, 429 S. Forrest, with Marcia, Mark and Keith, spent Memorial Day weekend in Oconto, Wis., with Lyle's parents. Highlights of the trip for the children included the holiday parade and church supper, the availability of horses to ride, and for the boys all the pleasures on playing in a country barn.

A MORE sophisticated weekend was spent by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond O'Donnell, 405 S. Gibbons, who made a flying business-pleasure trip to Mexico City and Guadalajara for the holiday weekend.

At an honors assembly at St. Viator High School May 27, two area students ranked high in the list of awards. Mike Brunsfeld, 416 S. Phelps, received a certificate of honor merit cum laude for general proficiency in Latin and Jim Chappell, 440 S. Forrest, was awarded the same honor as well as recognition for the highest standing in his class and a special citation for having made the honor roll all year.

WHEN ST. JAMES School graduated its eighth grade class Sunday, three members were from the Arlington Acres area:

Debby Byrnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Byrnes was roundly congratulated at a buffet supper at the Byrnes home, 437 S. Phelps, following the afternoon ceremony. Among the 42 guests present were a great-aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. James Murtaugh of Chicago.

Susan Thorstad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Thorstad, 412 S. Phelps, whose quiet family celebration took on larger proportions with the arrival of several unexpected guests.

Elizabeth Obuchowski, 409 S. Forrest. Celebrations in this family are necessarily limited to the immediate circle because of distance, so to mark her graduation, Elizabeth, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Obuchowski and her brothers, Mark and Paul, had dinner at the Americana in Des Plaines, where she was surprised with a candle-lit cake, a gift of the maitre d'.

MR. AND MRS. Robert Robinson, 504 S. Prindle, enjoyed dining at Mangam's on Beverly Lake Saturday with a group of friends from Park Ridge, wives and members of a hobby band group which gets together several times a year to play at philanthropical affairs. Unknown to the other members of the party, the Robinsons were celebrating their third wedding anniversary.

To celebrate his ninth birthday June 1, Stevie Butkus, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Butkus, 429 S. Phelps, invited a few school friends and his cousin, Jay Pinney, to join him for cake and ice cream Friday evening.

With plans for a wedding in the household only two weeks off, the Charles Miners dauntlessly went ahead with a party to honor 4-year-old Robert's May 28 birthday. The only bration was moved ahead two preparations was that the celedays and on Thursday afternoon an ice cream cake roll was served in a party atmosphere to Darcy Switzer, Michael Morgan, Mari Miller and John LaMar at the Miner home, 421 S. Gibbons.

LAST THURSDAY Mrs. Albert Lorr, 2106 E. Park, took her turn at entertaining the Birthday Club with an evening cake and coffee party in honor of the May 30 birthday of Mrs. Ray Fritz, 420 S. Phelps.

Congratulations are extended to Barbara Rasmussen, 432 S. Waterman, on her May 28 birthday.

The traditional wedding month brings anniversaries to many area couples, including: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bruce, 441 S. Gibbons, June 1, and on June 2 to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Truelove, 532 S. Phelps, and Mr. and Mrs. John Shahinian, 2105 E. Grove. (A

A message from George Harris, Your Presciption Pharmacist

YOU CAN REDUCE HEART ATTACK RISKS. The American Heart Association reported scientific evidence indicates that, if certain precautions are followed, there may be less chance of a Coronary.

AVOID HIGH CHOLESTEROL LEVELS. It forms a sort of rust within arteries. Large quantities of cholesterol are found in egg shellfish, liver, kidneys, and the saturated fats in meat, butter, cream and whole milk. Eat them sparingly.

DON'T BECOME OVERWEIGHT. Middleaged men, 30% or more overweight, have twice as many heart attacks than men of normal weights.

DON'T SMOKE TOO MANY CIGARETTES. Heavy cigarette smokers suffer two to three times as many heart attacks than nonsmokers, pipe smokers, cigar smokers or former cigarette smokers.

BE SURE AND GET REGULAR EXERCISE. Studies show that with no exercise there are increased chances of heart problems.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE MUST BE TREATED. If you have high blood pressure don't worry. We have many drugs which can now usually control it.

GUARD AGAINST DIABETES. If the diagnosis and treatment are not early, often a rise in cholestrol and arterial disease occurs.

HAVE A YEARLY PHYSICAL CHECK-UP. Don't make drastic diet changes without consulting a Doctor. Follow suggestions. If medication is needed we can fill any prescription.

High-Rise Zoning Approved for Lots

Two lots at the southwest corner of Vail Avenue and Sigwalt Street were rezoned from two-family to R-6 high rise apartment classification by the Arlington Heights Village Board Monday.

The property was among three rezoned in Monday's board action. All three had been recommended by the plan commission. There were no objectors.

The lots at Vail and Sigwalt lie within the 330-foot eligibility ring around the downtown business district within which high rise apartments are permitted.

THE REZONING was requested by Builder Edwin Albright, who told the board he intended to build a 45-foot high, four-story apartment building on the site. He said the basement of the building would be used for parking.

Albright told trustees he expected construction on the building to start this fall.

In the south part of the village a four-and-a-half-acre tract located on the west side of Arlington Heights Road and about 400 feet south of Algonquin Road was rezoned from R-1 single family to a B-3 general service business district.

The rezoning was sought by owner Joseph Schavilje, who said part of the property would be developed by the Ace Washer and Dryer Co. for a retail appliance outlet.

The rezoning was granted with the stipulation Schavilje dedicate a 66-foot right of way across the center of the property to provide access to Arlington Heights Road for another property located to the west of his tract.

THE BOARD also approved rezoning of property at 401 W. Golf Road from single family residential to M-1 limited manufacturing classification.

The property is the site of Scientific Small Animal Laboratory & Farm, Inc. The owner, Charles Hume, indicated that he wished to construct animal feed storage facilities on the property. (A

Street Vacation Action Deferred

The Arlington Heights Village Board Monday deferred action on two street vacation proposals until its June 20 meeting.

The first proposal came as a recommendation by the board of local improvements (BOLI) that the village vacate portions of two side streets in the Northwest Highlands subdivision. They are:

—Marion Street between Ridge and Chestnut Avenues; and —Clarendon Street between Ridge and Highland Avenues.

BOLI's recommendation to vacate is an offshoot the Northwest Highlands street paving project it is now working on.

BOLI's contention is, in essence, that the streets are not needed and there is no need to burden residents with the expense of having them paved.

BUT TRUSTEES backed away. Facing a crowded agenda Monday evening, they termed immediate action "hasty" and tabled the proposal. No committees were named to study it.

The second proposal was a request from the Mobil Oil Co. that the village vacate the south Mors Parkway easement, located at the northwest corner of Northwest Highway and Arlington Heights Road.

The item was held over at the request of the petitioners. (A

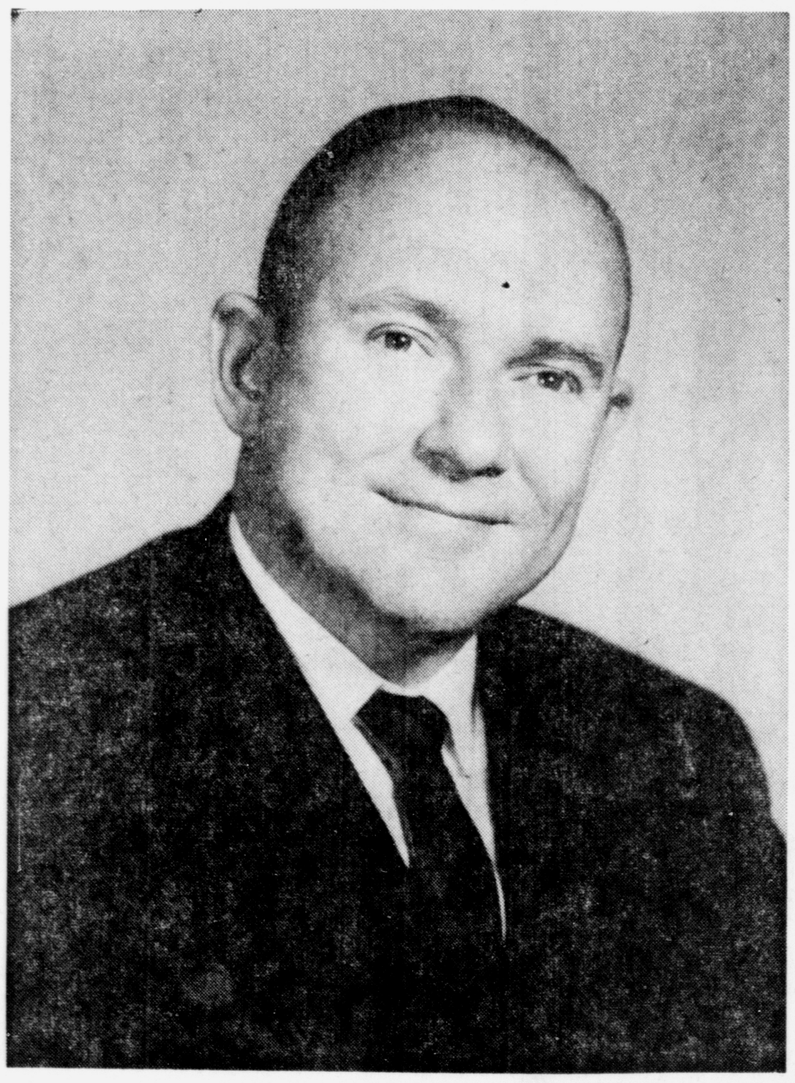
MOORE

He Comes on Strong!



Bill Moore is the only candidate to release a platform so you could know where he stands. Give him a chance to speak out for you. It's easy: Vote for Bill Moore, June 14. Here is his platform:

1. SUPPORT HOME RULE. Support Municipal Home Rule to enable municipalities to meet expanding responsibilities. Increased municipal control over unincorporated multiple zoning.
2. FLOOD CONTROL. Initiate state action on Flood Control. Municipalities acting alone lack the legislative tools to initiate effective flood control projects.
3. WATER FOR SUBURBS. Immediate state studies would be sponsored to insure relief for acute water shortages projected for the rapidly growing suburban area of the Third District.
4. ELECTION REFORM. Sponsor Election Reform Laws to eliminate vote fraud in Chicago which cancels out your vote.
5. HIGHWAY SAFETY measures are essential to save thousands of lives. State action should include: a) Annual safety check for all automobiles, b) Periodic driver qualification reviews, c) Safety Certification of used cars before sale.
6. CUT STATE EXPENSE. Improved fiscal controls and operation of state government on a business-like basis will effect substantial economies. Reduction in the almost 11,000 new state payrollers will also produce large savings.
7. REVENUE REVIEW — BUT NO INCOME TAX. Thorough analysis of all aspects of the proposed Revenue Amendment. The existing personal property tax is obviously inequitable. Strongly opposed to increased sales taxes or a graduated state income tax.
8. JUDICIAL REFORM. Implement Judicial Reform by creating additional courtrooms for the convenience of the citizens served, to reduce delays, provide faster justice and eliminate long trips to courts.
9. LOCAL GOVERNMENT COOPERATION. Support maximum intergovernmental cooperation in solving problems which cannot be handled by local governmental units acting alone. Oppose centralization of legislative power away from the municipalities into a Metropolitan Super Government.
10. NO PUNITIVE OPEN OCCUPANCY. Fully support the right of every citizen to live where he chooses but oppose punitive open occupancy legislation.
11. TOLL ROAD ENTRANCE. Additional toll road exits and entrances are essential to serve new centers of population in the Third District
12. EDUCATION AND HEALTH LEGISLATION. Support soundly conceived legislation in the fields of education, health and mental health.
13. AIR AND WATER POLLUTION. Air and water pollution control legislation is necessary to cope with an area-wide problem.
14. OPEN SPACE. Preservation of open space before rapid development uses up all available land.
15. ELIMINATE CREDIT ABUSES. By a) abolishing wage assignments, b) full disclosure of interest rates in advertising and on face of time purchase contracts, c) reasonable restrictions on transfer of sales contracts to finance companies.
16. REGULATE PRIVATE WATER UTILITIES. Support legislation to protect homeowners from exhorbitant charges from private water utilities.
17. MIGRANT HOUSING. Support better housing for migrant workers to prevent these hard working people from becoming second class citizens.
18. ATTRACT INDUSTRY TO LOWER TAXES. Attraction of highly desirable light industry under rigid zoning safeguards will afford a broad tax base and reduce citizen tax load.
19. CRIME CONTROL. Will support sound legislation to cope with crime. Our police must have the necessary crime-fighting tools while fully protecting the rights of the individual.
20. EFFECTIVE LEADERSHIP. Will furnish effective leadership while being fully responsive to the needs and wishes of the electorate.

Bill Moore, former Arlington Heights Village Trustee, is a lawyer and civic leader. He's a Lincoln-Dirksen Republican.

WILLIAM J. MOORE • REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE for State Representative, Third District
Moore for Representative Committee
Rolland J. Franzen, Chairman

The Republican Party can survive without... Bob Atcher

So what if Bob Atcher doesn't get elected State Senator from the 3rd District — it certainly won't spell the end of the GOP, not by a long sight.

True, the current senator, with his brand of Republicanism, is turning many voters away from the Republican Party. Sure it'll hurt the party if we don't send a modern-day, positive Republican to Springfield.

But kill the GOP it won't.

Would opera have suffered if the great Caruso had never sung a note? Would baseball have been something less than the National Pastime if there'd been no Babe Ruth to hit those exciting home runs? And wouldn't it still be every bit as Grand an Old Party, even if Lincoln had never been elected President?

Once in a great while, a man of immense ability . . . of character . . . of true dignity . . . happens along, be it in the field of music, the field of baseball, the field of politics.

Great or near-great. Or just a darn good man.

Bob Atcher's certainly the latter, if not more. And he has helped make folks realize the word "politics" is a proud word, a word with dignity.

On second thought, maybe the Republican Party CAN'T afford to pass up the likes of Bob Atcher.

• • • •

The following — among many, many others throughout the 3rd Senatorial District — believe the GOP must attract . . . and elect . . . men like Bob Atcher.

They urge you to join them June 14 in casting a positive Republican vote — a vote for Robert O. Atcher for your State Senator.

As village president of Schaumburg, Mr. Robert O. Atcher:

- never has levied a village real estate tax!
- gave residents of the community a million-dollar community center at no cost . . . got the land donated, improvements put in at cost, balance (now less than $100,000) paid off with accumulated building-permit fees.
- led a group of Plans Board personnel, working one night a week for nearly two years, in advance work on 350 ordinances. Included: five major plans at a cost to the general fund of only $6,000, as against a normal cost of $75,000 or more. Included are master plan, comprehensive subdivision control ordinance, comprehensive zoning ordinance, etc. Ordinances now considered one of finest sets in the state.
- induced Sears and other large, quality firms to locate a huge shopping center there.
- induced the Milwaukee Road to buy 610 acres of industrial park to install what will be its largest railroad industrial park in the railroad's entire 14-state system. Conservative assessed value: $150-200 million.
- induced Nuclear Data, a Wisconsin firm, to locate there, as well as Motorola, which will complete a $12 million building this year (three major $12 million buildings all told).
- set up area's first park district . . . with no taxes levied to date.
- early supporter of township library, to provide area with this cultural advantage.
- has worked tirelessly to raise the tax base in all school districts.

BOB ATCHER FOR STATE SENATOR, 15 E. Miner St., Arlington Heights, Ill.

Transportation Tax Increase Expected

A tentative 1967-68 levy budget that will likely require a 3-cent increase in the transportation tax will come up for approval at High School District 214's board meeting Monday.

A perennial on the agenda, the architectural firm of Berger Kelley Unteed and Associates, will make one of its continuing reports on school construction at the 7:30 meeting in Slichenmyer Adminstration Center, 799 Kensington Road, Mount Prospect.

Area police chiefs have been invited to attend, since the board will discuss the possibilities of having security officers assigned to the district's schools.

APPROVAL will be asked for application for a $2,013 reimbursement from the State Department of Public Instruction for purchase of art materials and books. The funds would come from a state-administered federal grant, available on a 50 per cent reimbursement basis.

Another perennial — the quest for a name for the sixth high school—will also be considered, with Dr. Frank J. Smith reporting on names proposed by District 214 high school students. Supt. H. L. Slichenmyer says suggestions of names are being accepted all this week.

NEED FOR A 3 cent raise in the transportation tax was explained at last Thursday's finance committee meeting by Francis J. Coleman, director of business services.

In part because of the board's approval of the $65,500 Davidsmeyer Bus Service contract, the district will go beyond its budgeted-for district transportation fund for the coming year.

Half of the 3 cent increase will go to reimburse that amount. Hopefully that 1.5 cents will not have to be levied more than one year, Coleman explained.

Supt. Slichenmyer has already met once with the police chiefs. He and other members of the administrative staff met last week with chiefs from Arlington Heights, Rolling Meadows, Wheeling, Elk Grove Village and Mount Prospect.

SLICHENMYER said most of the police officials favored having policemen assigned to the district's high schools, though some thought they should be uniformed rather than plainclothesmen.

He also said that while some felt a half-and-half split in paying the officers was acceptable, others said that a tight budget would make it necessary for the district to pay full cost of salary of any additional personnel taken on for assignment to the schools. (ACME

Bus Licensing Law Is Declared Void

A recent Illinois Supreme Court decision has probably voided the Village of Arlington Heights' controversial school bus licensing ordinance.

That is the opinion of William R. Engelhardt, attorney for High School District 214.

Jack Siegel, Arlington Heights village attorney, agrees — but with reservations.

THE ILLINOIS Supreme Court ruling involved a similar school bus licensing ordinance, passed by the City of Chicago and challenged by a school bus company.

The Supreme Court held that the City of Chicago had gone beyond its powers in passing the school bus licensing ordinance.

"The legislature expressly exempts school buses and drivers from specified areas of municipal regulation and by providing for comprehensive regulation, implies that municipalities have no power to regulate this activity," the court declared.

Engelhardt says the court's opinion, applied to the Arlington Heights' village ordinance, would render it "unconstitutional and void."

SIEGEL says he too would interpret the Supreme Court ruling in that manner.

However, he added, he does not plan to recommend at this time that the village rescind its ordinance.

He says he will do that only when the Supreme Court ruling becomes "final," a point that would be reached, he said, when a petition for rehearing of the case is filed and denied.

He added, "The Supreme Court very seldom changes its mind."

Siegel had previously defended the village's power to regulate school buses, retorting to an opinion from State Superintendent of Public Instruction legal aide N. E. Hutson that licensing school buses was not a proper function of village government.

THE SCHOOL bus licensing ordinance was passed last year but has never been enforced. It provided that each bus driver be licensed for a $5 fee, furnish references and submit to fingerprinting. Inspection of buses was also required.

School officials objected strenuously to the ordinance. They charged it would make it even tougher to get drivers, already in short supply, and challenged village right to take such action. (ACME

Something like this the nice lady told her husband while we serviced the television set in their living room.

The Lively Fun of a Beautiful Summer Day

The day was a summer beauty and the June sun was a catalyst as kids at Arlington Heights' Pioneer Park enlivened the scene with arabesques of fun.

After returning to 1141 N. Harvard from a vacation in Del Rey Beach, Fla., the R. E. Pecks attended the Honor's Day Convocation at the University of Illinois. Their daughter, Patty, now Mrs. Harold S. Nichols of Springfield, who graduated from there last year was on the dean's list.

The Vance Vorhees, 1300 W. Clarendon, are home after a trip westward. Driving, they stopped at Concordia, Kan., to visit Vance's cousin and his family, Dr. Frederic Emery, after which they drove on to Roswell, N. M. to spend five days with Vance's mother, Mrs. Roy W. Vorhees.

Continuing their trip west, they were accompanied by Vance's mother. In La Jolla, Calif., they stayed at the La Valencia Hotel on the ocean. The hotel is a landmark and is said to be the oldest hotel there. They visited Corinne's sister, Mrs. Irene Locker, while there, and they also went to San Diego where they attended Mickey Finn's night club.

FLYING HOME May 22, they had four days before Vince had to leave on a fishing trip to Canada. During the week he was there the fish were really biting and he caught the full quota of lake trout, wall-eyes and northern.

Sue Vorhees will be kept busy during her vacation this year, going to summer school at Elmhurst besides tutoring Spanish.

It was a good year for Corinne Vorhees' bowling as she received an engraved sterling silver celery dish from the Prospect Heights ladies league for first place in team standings and in the Sherwood league she received a pin for high series. (A

Educators React Against Force Recommendations

Within the staid walls of Park Ridge's Maine East Township High School, some 250 north and northwest suburban educators and citizens last week heard recommendations that could revolutionize the state education system and turn the northwest suburban school districts into an academic battlefield.

The recommendations, in the form of a 21-page report from a select study group covering 68 specific areas of education—from reorganization of school districts to the adoption of a state income tax—were presented by William P. McClure, director of the Bureau of Educational Research and a member of the Illinois Task Force of Education.

THIS BLUE-RIBBON committee set up by the state legislature with a $210,000 budget has for the past year and a half ben studying ways to upgrade education in the state.

The Park Ridge meeting was the ninth and last public meeting called by the committee to present its tentative recommendations and to measure local response.

This was considered by the committee to be the most important of the public hearings because these suburbs are expected to present the strongest opposition to key areas of the proposal.

OF PARTICULAR concern are the proposals calling for a state-wide system of unit school districts and the merging of small districts into one large district.

Opposition to the unit system (elementary and high schools in same district) comes mainly from educators and citizens from areas under the dual system (elementary and high schools are separate districts.) The dual system operates in nearly every North Shore and northwest community.

During the three-hour hearing, members of the audience fired questions at the seven-man team representing the task force. As expected, the discussion centered on district and school sizes and dual versus unit districts.

IN ANSWER TO the first question, Prof. Robert J. Havighurst, University of Chicago educator, said the northern suburbs would not be included in a massive Chicagoland school district. He said that if adopted the plan would probably start in the southern part of the state.

McClure said the committee wouldn't pinpoint how big a high school should be, but he added, "We feel that to be effective a high school should have at least 2,000 students."

He said the committee had worked out a "semi-permissive" plan that would encourage local people to participate in the reorganization of school districts.

According to the recommendations, the state would be divided up into 200 new school districts. A state survey team would work with local areas in winning voter approval to reorganize into large districts. If the voters could not or would not agree, the survey team would have the power to set up the district.

"HOW PERMISSIVE really is this?" a New Trier educator asked. "What you seem to be saying is that local people have the right to have two votes to reorganize and if they don't then you step in and lay down the law."

McClure answered that the plan was in essence an attempt to create local agency government with state leadership. "It really is a way to decentralize the system."

An Evanston educator challenged the committee's assumption that the unit district was better than the dual district.

"Yes, we think that the unit is better," McClure said, "but realize there are exceptions like New Trier, Evanston and Niles. From the point of communications and utilization of staff, materials and programs, the unit district is better."

CRITICISM came again. "You treat the state as if all districts had the same problems and this isn't so. The south is far different from the north."

Rebuttal came from the audience: "I'm tired of hearing educators say, 'Let's do something to improve education in Illinois, and then add, but let's not do anything in the northern suburbs because they are special and don't need it.' "

Dual versus unit continued. "Local people have the right to decide how schools should be run. It is improper to make districts conform to set patterns. Excellence, not size, should be the measure. If a dual district does the job then there is no reason to force it to merge with another." (Area educators fear the proposals would result in one massive north-northwest school district.)

"The state has long discriminated against the dual system and now the committee is following suit. I suggest you hold a few more meetings and set up a concrete study of dual versus unit instead of relying on just the so-called opinion of experts."

McCLURE ADMITTED that the state law did favor the unit district. "Money is an incentive to reorganize and the state provides the way to nudge local citizens."

(Under state law dual districts can tax without referendum up to $2.50 per assessed valuation—$1.25 for the elementary and the same for the high school. But under the unit system a district can only tax up to $1.90. This means that a homeowner with $10,000 in assesed valuation could pay about $60 less living in a unit district than a dual.)

A militant-looking woman asked if the committee had worked with the Northeast Illinois Plan Commission. McClure said they had.

"We say the Northeast Illinois Plan Commission is a vehicle for overthrowing the constitutional government," she charged. "They propose one great school district with the authority solely in the hands of appointed administrators. Your plans seem to be strangely similar to theirs."

McClure answered that the task force, on the contrary was attempting to strengthen local districts so they could better respond to local needs. "What we say to local districts is if your community can't raise enough money from property taxes we will show you a way to get the money you need and have a better educational program. There are just too many small districts in the state that do not, and cannot, provide the kind of education that is so important.

"Summing up, we feel that education should be so comprehensive and so good that it takes care of the needs of all. No one should be left out." McClure said the committee's final report will probably be submitted to Gov. Otto Kerner next December. (A15

Shifting Manhole

High School District 214's committee meeting last Thursday sounded for a time like a scene from "The Case of the Shifting Manhole."

Due to a land survey error, the board was told, one of the manholes at the front of the Prospect High School fieldhouse foyer addition will be less than a foot away from a utility manhole. Four or five feet had been the expected distance.

A second manhole will have to be moved four or five feet, architects have since determined.

THOUGH THE survey errors will not mean the delay suspicioned originally by architects, the construction change will require $300 cost to move the manhole and what architect Wayne Fritch termed some "careful work" by contractors around the manhole closest to the foyer footings.

Suspecting possible error in other land maps, the architects also checked the survey made on the sixth school site.

This Tuesday they reported that the only topographical feature not shown was a water-collecting depression that will receive about five feet of fill, anyway, when the sixth school goes up. (ACME

First Legislator in 25 Years

Peskin Earns Citation From Welfare Group

State Rep. Bernard M. Peskin (D-Northbrook) was recently honored by the Illinois Welfare Association for his work as Chief house sponsor and floor manager of the new Juvenile Court Act. He was the first legislator in 25 years to win the association's annual merit award.

Peskin, who helped write the new law, which has been hailed as a model for the nation, resolved most of its controversial features through four months of meetings with its opponents. As a result, it passed both houses of the General Assembly without debate in the last week of the 1965 session.

"THIS NEW Juvenile Court Act provides us with the tools to drastically cut the soaring delinquency rate," Peskin asserted. "Through improved juvenile probation services, with a big assist from state funds, we will rehabilitate many boys and girls before they become adult criminals."

The four-term veteran legislator, considered a legislative expert in the fields of children's services and special education, claims that the new law finally puts 'due process' into the juvenile courts. "This is a feature we think little about," Peskin said. "That is, until it happens to your own child.

"Because a child is under the age of 17 does not mean he shouldn't have the same constitutional guarantees as you or I. In addition, it puts teeth into the law for the protection of the general community. It is a great step forward in intelligently handling the growing number of juveniles who come into contact with our law enforcement agencies and our courts."

PESKIN also recently received the Disabled American Veteran's Meritorious Service Award for his work on behalf of veterans, particularly the handicapped during the last session of the General Assembly.

Peskin was co-sponsor and one of the prime movers behind legislation which requires that all public buildings in Illinois be constructed with ramps so disabled persons, particularly those in wheelchairs, can move about.

"This legislation has long been needed," said Peskin. "Many public buildings, such as libraries, museums, and other places of interest which are visited as a matter of course. have been barred to disabled persons simply because they cannot negotiate the stairs or maneuver the doors."

Peskin, who is chairman of the House Banking Committee, is running for his fifth term in the House. He was twice awarded the Independent Voters of Illinois "Best Legislator" award.

In his eight years in Springfield, Peskin's chief interests have centered around the fields of education, mental health, children's services and revenue reform. He has acted as floor leader or chief sponsor of much of Gov. Otto Kerner's legislative program.

He lives with his wife and two children at 821 Timber Lane, Northbrook. (B10

School Library Hours Extended

A plan to keep School District 59 school libraries open on Saturdays during the winter months will not go into effect on recommendation of the schools' administrations.

The libraries will, however, be open after school on certain days during the regular school week.

The exact hours will be determined when the schools open again in September, said Dr. Roger Bardwell, district Supt. of Schools.

The proposal for Saturday library hours was dropped because of the expense, Bardwell explained, which had been estimated at $6,650. (ACME

Deny Retail Zoning For Stonegate Area

A request to rezone property on the northeast corner of Carlyle Place and Northwest Highway in the Stonegate subdivision from R-5 apartment to B-1 limited retail classification was turned down by the Arlington Heights Plan Commission last Wednesday.

The rezoning was sought by James Blackburn, James Hurley and Jerry Powell, partners in The Assurance Agency, 209 N. Evergreen, Arlington Heights, to allow construction of a new $120,000 office building.

OBJECTIONS by Stonegate residents and past litigation in which the village successfully opposed commercial zoning for the property were discussed before the plan commission voted to recommend denial of the request. It is scheduled to go before the village board June 20.

One interesting sidelight of the discussion was a reference to the 1965 Tec Search proposals for Arlington Heights downtown redevelopment which recommended the block where the Assurance Agency is now located as a site for a future post office.

Powell related the Tec Search plans to one of his motives for wanting a new office building: that the Assurance Agency's present quarters would be condemned for a new post office.

Clyde Ferry reminded Powell that the Tec Search plans were proposals not officially adopted by the village.

But Powell said Village Mgr. Hanson had told him that it was hoped plans for a new post office building at that location would be completed by the end of the 1966 fiscal year.

RICHARD A. COWAN, attorney for the petitioners called architect Ronald H. Stahl and realtor Robert A. Cagann as witnesses in support of the rezoning request.

Stahl said the office building proposed for the Stonegate site was designed to preserve the residential character of the neighborhood: it would be single story, colonial style and that its specifications would more than exceed village standards.

Cagann contended that the building would be the "highest and best use" of the property. He noted:

—77 per cent of the north side of Northwest Highway is zoned commercial;

—The office building would provide more property tax revenues than an apartment building on the site could produce;

—Other commercial establishments in the area (Bruns Realty and Hilltop Interiors) "haven't impaired residential values."

Opposition of Stonegate residents was led by John Gillen of the Stonegate Association. He said the board of directors of the association had voted unanimously to oppose commercial zoning for the site on the grounds that —It would set a bad precedent for future commercial rezoning requests in Stonegare;

—In past litigation, the village had opposed commercial zoning for the same site and was upheld in court. He referred to the long legal battle between Arlington Heights and Roto Mercury Sales, located at 1410 E. Northwest Highway, opposite the property in question.

Plan commission member Leo Mueller also noted that that case couldn't be dismissed from consideration and it would be inconsistent for the commission to reverse itself.

Residents also opposed the rezoning because they contended the building plans provided for inadequate parking and an overflow of parked cars from persons using the building would create congestion on the side streets in the subdivision.

Arlington Holds Lead in New Home Permits

Arlington Heights continues to lead all other suburbs in home building.

During the first four months of 1966, the village issued permits for 252 homes valued at $6,476,700 — almost twice as many new home starts as the next highest suburb, Northbrook.

That suburb issued 139 home building permits during the first four months of 1966. Their total value was $5,030,572.

The Bell Savings monthly report of home building activity found that the average value of new homes started in Arlington Heights during the four-month period was $25,701.

In April alone, Arlington Heights dropped to third place for all types of building, with a reported total building value of $2,262,700.

It still led in number of building permits, however, with 58 issued for homes valued at $1,509,400. (A

Seek Cause Of Faulty Parking Lot

Forest View High School parents and students will have to put up with a bumpy parking lot when they attend graduation exercises.

Swift patching of the badly broken up south lot, proposed by Principal Lawrence Jenness for the convenience of graduation audience, has been delayed so that the school district can look into the cause of the asphalt failure.

THE BOARD concurred in the delay when it was explained at a finance committee meeting last Thursday that undersurface water drainage is a probable cause.

School officials said that evidently a farm tile "upstream" from the Forest View High School has been damaged in construction and must be located if repairs to the parking lot surface are to be anything but temporary.

Sidewalks, too, have been affected by the drainage problem, the board was told.

Two Bus Firms Seek Airport Service OK

In the past, the only form of public transportation between Arlington Heights and the O'Hare Air Field passenger terminal has been taxicabs — with taxicab prices.

Now two bus companies are courting the village board for its favors.

For the Continental Air Transport Co., Inc., the favor would be in the form of an endorsement of its proposed direct transportation service for airline passengers to and from the airport.

For United Motor Coach Co. the favor would be denial of an endorsement for Continental.

THE SPECTACLE arose at Monday's village board meeting when Thomas F. Meagher, vice president of Continental Air Transport, appeared before the board.

He explained his firm is proposing direct airline aero bus service specifically for airline passengers, luggage and guests to the O'Hare passenger terminal. The fare would be $1.50 per person one-way.

His proposed schedule included six trips a day to O'Hare except Sundays, and five from O'Hare. The trip from Arlington Heights would take 35 minutes.

Meagher said his firm has an application before the interstate commerce commission for a license and asked the village board for an endorsement.

Opposing a village endorsement of the proposed service was the United Motor Coach Co. represented by John T. Hanck, vice president, and Richard Kerwin, an attorney.

They contended that United is an ICC regulated transit company providing service for the whole community. Hanck said United Motor Coach was willing and able to perform the service proposed by Continental.

THAT WAS the cue for verbal needling from Village Pres. John Woods who repeatedly asked Hanck why, if United Motor Coach was willing and able, it hadn't provided O'Hare terminal bus service before the initiative was taken by Continental.

Hanck said his firm had been making studies of the need for the service.

As discussion continued, statements from the two vice presidents took on charge - counter charge overtones until Woods referred the question to the board's legal committee.

The committee will report at the June 20 board meeting. (A

Fire Truck, New Sidewalk Bids Accepted

Two bids were approved by the Arlington Heights Village Board Monday.

For rebuilding a piece of fire equipment the trustees accepted the $8,600 bid of General Body Co., Chicago. The other bidder was Able Fire & Safety Co., Chicago, $14,000.

Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson said that a new truck would cost $20,000.

THE LOW BID of 72 cents per square foot submitted by Concrete Engineering Co., Arlington Heights, for removal and replacement of 5,000 square feet of sidewalk throughout the village was also accepted.

There were four bidders; next lowest was Albin Carlson Co., 80 cents a square foot. (A

High Schoolers to Collect Books for American Troops

CUTTING UP! Arlington Heights Village Pres. John G. "Books for Boys in Viet Nam" is the slogan adopted by a group of area young people who will man a booth at Randhurst Shopping Center the week of June 27 to July 2 to receive literary donations.

High school students and graduates from Prospect Heights, Wheeling, Arlington Heights and Buffalo Grove are among those cooperating in this effort.

THE CAMPAIGN for books was conceived by Sharon Gehrke, 13 Edward Cul-de-Sac, Prospect Heights, after she received a letter from a serviceman-friend who complained of the meager quantity and trashy quality of reading material available at Army posts.

Miss Gehrke enlisted the aid of a friend, Joanice Krienke, 157 George Road, Prospect Heights, and the two girls contacted friends, churches, schools, businesses, local organizations and the armed services for help.

As a result, Randhurst has supplied them with a booth for their scheduled week-long collection; the U. S. Navy has promised to ship the books free of charge; the Des Plaines VFW is accepting books for the program; and Bruno Waara, principal of Arlington High School, has offered his support and room at the school to store books before shipment.

Trucks have also been made available to take the books to a Navy shipping station.

HOWEVER, the girls still need volunteers for their collection booth at Randhurst, particularly during the daytime, and to pack the books into boxes for shipment.

A donation of rope or twine for tying the boxes would also be appreciated.

Persons wishing to help in this Books for Viet Nam project may contact Miss Gehrke at 296-1243 or Miss Krienke at 537-0569 after 5:15 p.m. (B10

No Complaints On TV Repairs

A review of customer complaints filed with the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce against various businesses does not include a single local television repair organization, reports E. C. Alft, Executive Manager.

Alft said that although he is in sympathy with Illinois Atty. Gen. William G. Clark's efforts to uncover malpractices in the television repair industry, he feels the probe reflects unfavorably on the integrity of honest repair organizations.

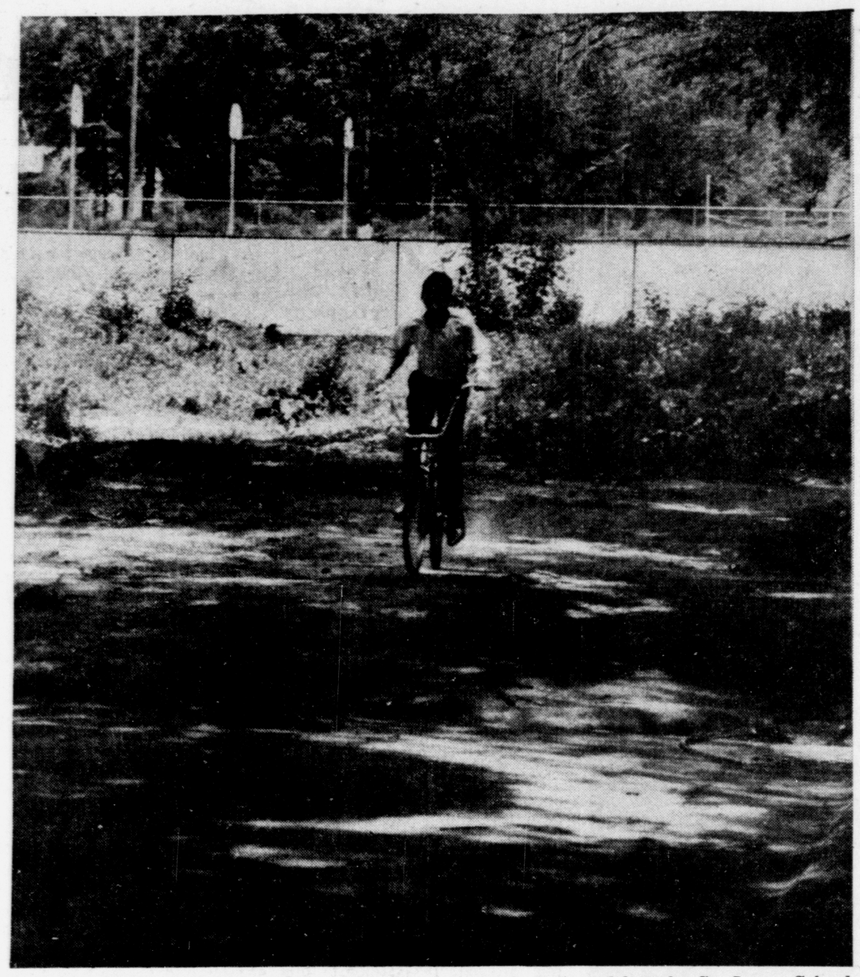
A week before her graduation, Donna Zaborowski of N. Hickory Avenue joined the 70 eighth graders from St. Hedwig School in Chicago and her uncle, the Rev. Joseph Zaborowski, for a trip to Washington, D. C., and five days of sightseeing in the nation's Capital.

GRANDPARENTS, Mr. and Mrs. William Krewer of Skokie, Mrs. R. J. Eggers of Evanston, uncle James Egger and aunt, Mrs. Dennis Scherer of Skokie were guests at the dinner party for graduate, Ken Krewer, of N. Beverly Lane.

Forty guests attended the outdoor graduation party for Joseph Danna, E. Clarendon Avenue. Among them were the senior Joseph Dannas, Mrs. Anna Giachetti, grandmother, uncles and aunts, the Carl Wrobleskis and the Richard Beckers, of North Haddow.

A dinner party attended by 20 relatives observed the graduation of Dennis Hill in his N. Douglas Avenue home after the ceremony on Sunday.

Graduate Dennis Lindsey of N. Douglas Avenue celebrated the occasion with a family party in his home. (A



IF EXTENDED NORTH to Willow Street, as proposed in plans to be considered by the Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements tonight, Evergreen Avenue will run through existing St. James School playground, background). Right-of-way for the street is dedicated but the St. James School was permitted by the village board to use it for a playground. Protests from both Evergreen Avenue residents and representatives of the St. James parish are expected at tonight's hearings on the project. (A

Evergreen Project Opposed by Parish

The Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements (BOLI) will face opposition from the St. James Church parish when it opens hearings at 8 p.m. tonight on plans to extend Evergreen Avenue south from Willow Avenue through the existing church school playground.

The question is whether a quorum of BOLI's five members will be present.

One member, Russell Colvin, is on vacation and two others, Pres. Sam Rudder and Sec. Ben Chaps, were reported Tuesday to be out of town on business. However, BOLI Pres. pro-tem Harold Klingner told Paddock Publications Tuesday he expects one of the two away on business to be back in time for him to muster a quorum tonight.

BOLI PLANS call for the installation of Evergreen Avenue along dedicated right-of-way south from Willow Street through the St. James school playground to where the street dead-ends north of Hawthorne.

Cost estimates for the project range from $67,750 to $62,380, depending on the type of paving material used.

The St. James parish is opposing the project and will be represented tonight by William E. Bolasch, 719 N. Forrest, Arlington Heights, and an attorney. Bolasch said Tuesday that Evergreen Street residents affected will also protest.

How a church school playground happened to be constructed on dedicated street right-of-way goes back to several years ago when church officials asked the village to vacate the street to the rear of the school.

Village officials did not vacate the right-of-way but permitted St. James school to use the land for a playground as long as it was not needed for a street.

THE ST. JAMES School subsequently incorporated the street area into its playground by clearing, leveling, blacktopping and fencing it in.

Father Edward Laramie, of St. James Church, told Paddock Publications that the improvement was done at considerable expense to St. James parishioners. He said there is a serious need for playgrounds in the area and the St. James one is used by both church school and neighboring children. (A

Some Positions Are Still Open For Park Work

Some eight-week summer positions for college students are still open at the Arlington Heights Park District.

Instructors are needed for arts and crafts classes, baton and marching, and model making classes.

The park programs open June 20. Most of the playground activities are given in two four-week sessions, ending Aug. 12.

Students interested in working for the park district should apply at Pioneer Park, 500 S. Fernandez. (A

The new face in the Arlington Heights village hall is Fred J. Snider, administrative assistant to Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson. He was named to the position last month and started working Monday.

Snider, 28, comes to the Arlington Heights position from Borger, Tex., where for two years he was assistant to the manager. He formerly was an administrative intern in the budgeting office at Phoenix, Ariz. for two years.

A native of Fairmont, W. Va., Snider received his B. S. in business administration from Bowling Green University, Ohio, and did graduate work at the University of West Virginia.

His wife, Constance, and their 10-month-old daughter will join him here as soon as he is settled.

School Financial Survey Parley Seen

A scheduled meeting between school board members and the citizens committee that assisted with the current district financial survey will be a likely result of next Monday's 7:30 p.m. District 25 board meeting.

Board Pres. Harold Sortor said after last Monday's meeting at which the financial survey report was presented by a University of Chicago team that he wants to meet with the citizens advisory committee before the final survey report is received.

Receipt of the final report is scheduled for the last week of June.

University of Chicago officials making a financial survey of elementary District 25 financial picture have softened a preliminary recommendation for a specific 32.5 cent tax rate raise.

PROF. J. Alan Thomas told the school board Monday, at the university team's first such meeting since the survey began, that he would not "recommend" a tax rate raise.

"We don't in any way want to presume to tell you what you should do," he said.

Instead, the professor stated, the section of the Midwest Administration Center's conclusions relating to taxes will be worded something like this:

"After having looked with extreme care at all variables, we see no way by which the level of quality education can be maintained without a tax increase."

He stressed that the 32.5 cent tax increase was necessary to provide the school district with funds for a per-pupil expenditure $35 over the 1965 suburban average. Its present $510 per pupil expenditure is $25 under the 1965 average.

Some members of a citizens advisory committee formed to assist with the survey reacted strongly at an earlier meeting to the recommendation for the tax rate increase, questioning why the specific — and substantial — 32.5 cent raise suggested.

No citizens' comments were asked for at Monday's meeting, but Sortor indicated he would hear them at a later date and would also want a future meeting with the University of Chicago Midwest Administration Center team.

Board member Charles Bennett did most of the questioning Monday. He commented on wide use of 1960 census data, asking, "Could you not get updated material?" And he questioned the validity of the opinion survey, showing a general support for public schools and their tax expenditures, but drawn from interviews with just 50 homeowners.

THOMAS STRESSED in the presentation that a substantial tax rate raise would be necessary to even maintain Arlington Heights' "present quality education."

This will be necessary, he s a i d, because the University team's findings indicate that between now and 1970 there will be a continuing increase in the pupil population but a steady decline in the per-pupil assessed valuation.

The team's other findings and recommendations, reported in a continuing series of Paddock Publications stories, included suggestions that the school district seek more experienced teachers and up its salary scale in order to retain them, that they study the bond retirement schedule so that the bond tax rate will not need to be raised or can be lowered, and that there be more use of non-certificated personnel for duties that do not require teaching skills.(A

Women Have Dilemma in Parking Car

Do women drivers ignore parking lot line markers if they don't like the arrangement?

George C. (Bud) Beacham told his fellow Arlington Heights Library Board members Tuesday that he has been assured by shopping center operators that they do.

Saying this, he suggested that the library architects look into the possibility of providi n g slanted "heringbone" type parking in the 112-car lot behind the proposed new library.

He said he has been told that women drivers, more likely users of the library lot, preferred the slant parking and tended to ignore the straight-slot parking provided in the architects plan.

His comments drew dissent from Mrs. Elsie Hubbard, the only woman board member present at the meeting. (A

Chamber Questioning School Bus Contract

E. Charles Alft, executive director of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce, has asked permission to appear at High School District 214's board meeting Monday to inquire about the school bus service.

Alft says he has been authorized by the Chamber Board of Directors to inquire into the High School District's reason for having a "split" contract next year, with students transported by two school bus companies.

Alft told Paddock Publications he had made a personal investigation of the school district's bus service but preferred not to go into details before the meeting not to "tip his hand."

HE SAID the Chamber board is interested in learning why the school board decided to have Davidsmeyer Bus Service haul Elk Grove High School students at a rate which is "considerably more" than the bid submitted by Cook County School Bus Company.

The 7:30 p.m. board meeting will be in Slichenmyer Administration Center, 799 Kensington Road, Mount Prospect. Alft has been assigned a spot well down the agenda in a category reserved for audience comments.

The District 214 board, after weeks of discussion, voted 3-2 on May 11 to diversify its bus service by accepting Davidsmeyer's bid of $65,520 for the Elk Grove High School hauling. Nine 84-passenger buses were to be provided.

SINCE THEN Davidsmeyer, Elk Grove elementary District 59 and the high school district have approved an arrangement in which Davidsmeyer would provide two more buses to the high school district at no extra cost. In return, the company will use five of the high school buses on second-run routes for District 59's special education students.

The contract with Davidsmeyer has not yet been formally approved and Alft said it was for this reason that the Chamber is inquiring at this time.

Discussion of the Davidsmeyer contract is not formally scheduled for Monday's meeting.

However, the high school board does plan to hear suggestions for equipment changes in the Cook County School Bus Company vehicles.

The board will also hear suggestions for changes in Cook County's contract — changes designed, Supt. H. L. Slichenmyer said, so that provisions of both companies' contracts will jibe. (ACME

2,500 Will Attend 214 Summer School

Some 2,500 teenagers in High School District 214 have decided to forego a summer without the books.

Instead, they have enrolled in classes offered in the district's four high schools.

Of these, 750 will be getting behind-the-wheel instruction necessary for completion of driver training courses.

The rest will take advantage of a wide range of summer school class offerings ranging from art to typing to industrial education and languages.

NEW COURSES include Junior Great Books, offered in this high school district for the first time; harmony and arranging, taught by the music department, and weight lifting.

It will also be the first time a choral music program has been offered in all the District 214 schools. Final approval of the choral program was given by the board too late for it to be included in the summer school brochure, but information will be available at each high school.

School officials say that the summer program is designed for the serious student, for the high schooler needing to bolster his grade or his background in a course he did poorly in before, and for those who want to spice up a regular program of "solids" with summer cultural activities.

MANY college-bound students whose regular school year schedule is filled with advanced math and science courses will be taking art and music during the six-weeks summer term.

Not all the summer school students are enrolled in public school during the regular school year.

District 214's summer program regularly attracts students who attend parochial high school during fall and spring. Many of them take driver training, offered in the public high schools with substantial state reimbursement.

Family Picnic Set by Church

Watermelons will be trucked to Deer Grove Forest Preserve Sunday for the annual all-church family picnic of the Congregational United Church of Christ, Kirchoff and Kennicott, Arlington Heights.

Families attending the picnic will meet at 3:30 p.m. at Area 3 in the forest preserve. A pot-luck supper will be served at 5 p.m.

A worship service has been planned for 6:30 p.m., church officials said.

Exchange Students Selected

Six area high school students have been selected by their respective high schools to participate in the International Fellowship, Inc., student exchange program.

They are Lloyd Bronwyn, James B. Conant High School; Arthur Zajonc, Palatine High School; and Polly Brothers, Nancy Thorpe, Janet McNeil and Lawrence Kutt, all of Prospect High School.

Bronwyn, Arthur and Polly will spend their summer vacation in Argentina while Nancy will go to Brazil, Janet to Chile and Lawrence to Colombia.

WHILE VISITING these countries, the students will live with families with whom they have already had an opportunity to correspond. They will also attend school with their South American brothers and sisters to broaden their knowledge of customs and culture and increase their ability to speak Spanish.

This is a reciprocal program so that next winter a South American student will come to live with each of the participating students for approximately three months during their vacation.

Any area students and their families desiring information about International Fellowship, Inc., may call Mrs. William C. Bischoff at CL 5-6497. (B10

Lorenz Advises on Legal Steps to Take

The steps to take after being involved in a traffic accident have been outlined by Francis S. Lorenz, director of the Illinois Department of Public Works and Buildings.

Lorenz, whose department includes the division of highways, discussed the problem on a recent radio program broadcast by Illinois stations as a public service.

"First of all, if you are involved in an accident and in particular one where there is death or injury, you must stop," the director related.

"There is a legal and a moral obligation to do so. 'Hit and run' accidents are a common occurence despite the fact that Illinois state law provides severe penalties for leaving the scene of an accident.

It is also imperative to notify police immediately, Lorenz said, giving the location of the accident and requesting that an ambulance be sent if it is needed.

Next, he said, enlist the aid of bystanders to warn oncoming traffic.

"Frequently a second crash at the scene of the original accident is more serious than the first collision," he pointed out. "Ask someone to divert traffic or at least slow it down until the police arrive. You also have an obligation to aid the injured. It is best to make the victim as comfortable as possible but no attempt should be made to move him unless there is danger of fire, explosion or similar hazard. Many injuries can be further complicated by improper handling."

Discussing the relationship of motorists involved in a mishap, Lorenz said:

"You should state your name and address, the license plate or registration number of your car and show your driver's license. It is best to refrain from further argument or discussion at the time. Co-operate with the investigating officer, giving him complete details. He will write a fair and unbiased report that will provide the information needed for insurance or other purposes. In the event you strike an unattended vehicle or cause property damage, you should make a reasonable attempt to find the owner. If this can not be done, leave a note giving your name and address and then report the incident to the nearest police station."

Lorenz pointed out that two reports must be made, one to the police and the other to the division of highways.

"The sole purpose of the report to the division of highways, he said, "is to provide information regarding the cause of accidents and their locations so that preventive measures can be taken to make driving safer. The combination of reports received from drivers and the police reveals many contributory factors that cause accidents." (CR

Employes 'Blip' Tested by Consultant Firm

Problem: Put Round Pegs in Like Holes

by DAN PRIBILSKI
Staff Writer

John Clitherow was an electrical engineer, but he didn't really like the work. He liked people and working with them.

Today, he heads Dill-Clitherow Co., a management consultant firm with home offices in Palatine.

The most interesting part of this company's work, although it represents only 20 per cent of its business, is testing personnel to "get the round peg in the round hole and the square peg in the square hole."

Clitherow was misplaced as an electrical engineer. A test used by the company today clearly shows this.

"Only reason I went into engineering is because my father was one," Clitherow commented. "I minored in psychology."

It was psychology that he should have majored in.

THE DILL-CLITHEROW Co. uses the Preception and Preference Inventory (PAPI) test developed by former Harvard professor Dr. Max M. Kostick.

Developed originally as a test for career planning, the test has developed into an extremely useful tool of industrial management.

The Dill-Clitherow Co. has the franchise to use the test in the Midwest, and, said Clitherow, expects to have it for the West and South soon. The East franchise is held by Kostick's own firm, Applied Psychology Associates.

The test takes only half an hour, and the end result is a circular chart with a man's preferences and drives charted. The chart is called a "bulls-eye" because of its resemblance to a target, and the pattern called a man's "blip."

This test, coupled with a test administered before this one is taken, gives a pattern of what a man thinks of himself, that is, the image projected to others, and what he really is.

Clitherow showed several recent test results.

IN ONE, the man had an image of himself as an outward going, dynamic driver who "strives to get the job done." The "blip" indicated differently. Actually, the man had little drive, but just the show of working hard.

The results could have far-reaching effect on the man's career.

What might have prompted the test was that management noticed production was down yet everyone seemed to be working extremely hard.

Clitherow told how one time an engineer, a very good engineer, had production problems. The test showed the man was an extreme introvert and literally hated to be surrounded by people. Yet, in his office, he was surrounded by people.

CLITHEROW experimented. He put the man off in a corner behind a glass partition. From then on, production went up, the man was no longer irritable and the company was able to keep the man.

Any resistance to such testing—such probing for a man?

"No," responds Clitherow. "Management sees the value of it and many presidents take it themselves. If they see how well it reflects them, then they are willing to rely on it for their employes."

Certainly, the test is not foolproof, Clitherow observes. "No test is. But it is 80, 85 per cent accurate."

THE TEST shows the "what" of a situation, not the "why" in a man's behavior. To get the why, if the case is extreme enough, a psychologist is needed.

The Dill-Clitherow Co.'s main business is plant layout and procedures and management training. Much of the work today involves proper use of computer data systems.

"We're often called in after the equipment is in and not working the way it should. Then we have to rearrange things."

Clitherow got into plant procedures and personnel work during World War II. He was with Westinghouse and put into time study work. He worked on ways of increasing production geared to the war.

After the war, he formed the company with Walter Dill, an engineer with RCA.

"MUCH OF OUR work then was in reverse of what I had been doing. We had to figure out ways to gear industry back to peacetime."

Since the company's formation, its business and reputation has spread throughout the country.

The company has clients all over the U. S. and in Canada. However, its prime business is in the Midwest and Clitherow likes to think of the company as a "Midwestern" one.

The company moved from its Chicago office to the Palatine office because most of the work is in plants themselves rather than in company offices. The nearness of O'Hare Airport makes the location a pleasing one.

WALTER DILL is a resident of Arlington Heights. He is chairman of the company. Clitherow, a resident of Inverness, is president and general manager. A third top figure is Robert Lowe, vice president in charge of operations.

The company has 20 men, all of whom are engineers but two. Those two are psychologists.

Main asset of the company's men is that they like people. Like Clitherow, they are engineers, but to be practicing engineers would be putting a round peg in a square hole.

Applicants Invited for 'Miss Teen'

Applications are now being accepted for the Miss American Teen Age contest for girls 13 through 17, who will be judged for scholastic and civic activities in the community, poise, personality and appearance.

Girls desiring applications may contact the North Central regional director, 126 Bunn Drive, Rockton, Ill. Groups wishing to stage a local contest to send a representative to the state finals in Rockford on August 26 and 27 should also contact the above address.

The grand finals this year will be held on Sept. 7, 8 and 9 at Palisades Park, N. J. Some of the grand prizes will be a Dodge Charger, scholarship, trip to Hollywood, a part in an MGM television show and a wardrobe.

This national contest, now in its seventh year, was founded to honor the American teen-age girl in her role as daughter, sister and friend; to cite her influence in the American way of life and her part in the activities in her community. (A15

Atcher Campaigns: 'Hey, Look Me Over'

"Hey, look me over!" was the campaign cry of Robert O. Atcher as his primary election campaign for the Republican nomination for State Senator (3rd District) moved into its final stages.

"The past is prologue," said Atcher. "What I have done — in this instance, my accomplishments as mayor of Schaumburg — indicate how I will serve you in the future as your state senator, if elected."

AS MAYOR OF Schaumburg he:

1. Never has levied a village real estate tax.
2. Gave residents a million-dollar community center at no cost — by getting the land donated, improvements put in at cost, the balance (now under $100,000) paid off with accumulated building-permit fees.
3. Induced Sears and other quality firms to locate a huge shopping center in Schaumburg.
4. Induced the Milwaukee Railroad to buy 610 acres of industrial park to install what will be its largest industrial park anywhere in its 14-state system.
5. Likewise induced Nuclear Data, a Wisconsin firm, to locate in Schaumburg, as well as Motorola, which plans a $36 million investment in three major buildings alone.
6. Set up the area's first park district — with no taxes levied to date.
7. Was an early supporter of a township library.
8. Has worked to raise the tax base in all school districts.

ATCHER SAID that among "my proudest accomplishments" is the huge savings he made for Schaumburg by leading a group of plans board personnel, working a night a week for nearly two years, in advance work on 350 ordinances.

Among them were five major plans (including a master plan, and a comprehensive zoning ordinance) costing the village only $6,000 — as against a normal cost of $75,000 or more.

The ordinances now are reported to be among the best i nIllinois, were copied extensively by one huge community nearby.

A BAND WILL play and dancers will cavort Saturday as Atcher takes his primary election campaign to the voters.

Atcher will cap his final week's drive with a bunting-bedecked "Bob's Bandwagon," which will enliven 10 shopping centers throughout Illinois' 3rd District.

The band, the Coachmen, and the John Kessler Dancers, will entertain the crowds. Atcher will speak briefly from a platform, then, accompanied by Mrs. Atcher, will shake hands with the voters, who will receive campaign literature and lapel buttons.

The Coachmen include Atcher's son, Bob; Jeff Ferguson, Joe Goduto and Gary Ramos. The Kessler troupe consists of Marianne, Jane and Gene Dwyer; Jasper Calandra, Jeanne Reynolds, Kathy Golinski, Donna Pelech, Susan Stensrud and Kathy Wingren.

HERE IS THE Saturday schedule for "Bob's Bandwagon":

10 a.m. — Streamwood's Woodland Heights Shopping Center, Route 19 at Park Boulevard.

10:30 a.m. — Hoffman Estates Shopping Center, Roselle Road and Route 72.

Cites State-Wide Vote Reform Need

Sen. John A. Graham (R-Barrington) this week called for statewide election reforms at the next session of the Illinois Legislature.

"Illinois law presently allows for gross abuse of the idea of fair elections and concentrates power in the hands of the ruling machine," Graham, chairman of the Senate Elections Committee, said.

Graham earned statewide attention for his strenuous efforts in behalf of election reform bills he said, "Every major substantive effort for election reform was sponsored by the Republicans and met defeat at the hands of the overwhelming Democratic majority in the House of Representatives.

"The manipulation of the election machinery, particularly in Cook County, has made Illinois notorious across the country.

"Eight election reform bills were passed by the Republican Senate and eight election reform bills were killed by the Democrats," said Graham, who was a sponsor of many of the proposals.

AMONG THE bills going down to defeat in the House were measures to require election judges to be selected from lists supplied by county chairmen; to correct abuses in voter assistance; to have the Cook County Board of Election Commissioners elected instead of appointed; to place employees of the election commission under civil service;

To require that a challenged voter answer the challenge in person; to allow news media representatives to act as observers at counting locations; to allow the use of triplicate registration records and to require U. S. Senate and Congressional candidates to have resided in the state or district for two years prior to election.

Some minor improvements were enacted into law. A Republican bill to require a county clerk to make monthly checks of his voting records to eliminate deceased persons is now law. Other bills included a prohibition against electioneering within 100 feet of a polling place and expanded use of electronic voting systems subject to approval by the State Electoral Board.

THE GOP was also the chief sponsor of a bill which moved the primary election from the second Tuesday in April to the second Tuesday in June, thus eliminating much of the long campaign which tired both voters and candidates.

"Much major reform is needed and needed badly," Senator Graham said. "And we need it now." (B10

The Mind-Changer.
(the car built with your safety in mind)

This man thought he'd have to wait another year to get the safety he wanted in a car. But then he examined a Mind-Changing Ambassador. First he discovered that Ambassador has Double-Safety brakes, like Cadillac. He gave its body the once-over and found it to be of solid Single-Unit construction. He examined its Ceramic-Armored exhaust system (the industry's longest lasting). He gave the other standard safety features a complete physical, too...the padded dash and visors, outside mirror, seat belts, backup lights, new higher-strength windshield, windshield washers, and variable-speed, non-glare wipers. So now he thinks Ambassador (and drives one, too). If you think you'll have to wait another year to get the safety you want in a car, see the Mind-Changer at your American Motors/Rambler Dealer. Every minute of every working day, two more families make their choice a new American Motors car.

Wheeling YRs Back Hesse

Robert L. Hesse has been endorsed for State Representative by the Wheeling Township Young Republicans. With 73 members, the group is one of the largest Young Republican chapters in the state.

As a result of this endorsement, YRs will prepare a special marked ballot which asks Republican voters in Wheeling Township to vote for Hesse. The ballot will be distributed at train stations and shopping centers next week-end.

Carol VanHeltebrake, president of the YRs, said that distribution of the sample ballot and campaign materials will be under the direction of Robert Thorpe, 624 N. Haddow, Arlington Heights.

REPUBLICANS interested in helping the Young Republicans to distribute campaign literature may call Robert Thorpe, 392-0765, a spokesman said.

In addition to the Wheeling Young Republican endorsement, Hesse has been endorsed by four of the Regular Republican organizations in the third district. He has also been recommended by the Better Government Association. (B10

NEW STYLING for Mercedes-Benz sedans. For its luxury-class sedans, Mercedes-Benz has introduced this new styling. This model will be designated the 250S, 250SE or 300 SE, depending on the type of engine. New models feature a low, sleek silhouette, flat roof line, and a rounded rear deck treatment. A lowered hood and "belt line" create much more windshield and window area. The 250SE model will have 170 H.P. and a top speed of 119 m.p.h. Four wheel disc brakes and a dual braking system are standard equipment.

Mercedes Introduces New, Lower Styling

Daimler-Benz has introduced a totally new body style for its more expensive line of sedans. Designated the 250S, 250SE and 300SE these luxury models are now on display at Mark Motors Inc., 2020 E Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights.

While completely new in styling from headlight to tail light, these cars still retain the traditional Mercedes-Benz "look" and closely resemble, in styling, the current 220SE and 300SE sports coupes.

The low, sleek silhouette of these new models is characterized by a lowered "belt line," a flat roof and a more rounded appearance for the rear trunk. The result is a car of unsurpassed elegance with basic, uncluttered lines that will remain classically stylish for many years to come.

Window area has been increased by 12 per cent because of the lowered belt line. The windshield is 17 per cent larger than in previous models. Curved side windows aid in increasing the size of the passenger compartment which is roomier than previous models.

Many technical and engineering improvements have been incorporated into this new class of Mercedes-Benz car. These include booster assisted disc brakes on all four wheels with the traditional Mercedes-Benz two-circuit brake systems. The rear wheels feature a braking power control which prevents locking of the wheels in emergency stops and at the same time, provides greater braking power to the rear wheels in normal stops. This eliminates one of the most common causes of skids and swerves.

The two-and-one-half-liter engine for the 250S is a further refinement of the basic Mercedes six-cylinder engine, with increased displacement, an improved, single overhead camshaft and larger valves and intake passages. A seven-bearing crankshaft provides remarkable smoothness of operation.

The 250S engine, equipped with twin, two-barrel carburetors, provides 146 h.p. at 5600 r.p.m.

The 250SE is the same basic car and engine with an advanced fuel injection system (the same as is used on the 230SL sports car) replacing the twin carburetors. With fuel injection the engine turns out 170 h.p. at 5600 r.p.m. and powers the 250SE to a top speed of 118 m.p.h.

The identical body style also will characterize the new 300SE which will differ from the 250 models only in that it is powered by Daimler-Benz's more powerful three-liter fuel injection, light metal engine, rated at 195 h.p.

Markedly different in appearance is the 300 SE Long which features a longer wheelbase and roomier rear seat compartment. Air suspension and automatic transmission are standard equipment on this model. It is the most expensive of the "upper medium class" Mercedes models.

Production of the sports coupe and convertible models will be continued with the existing 220-SE and 300SE engines. In addition, these two models will soon be available as the 250SE. The 230SL sports car will be continued unchanged as will the 600 Model Grand Mercedes.

All Mercedes-Benz cars, with the exception of the 300SE — Long and the 600, which have automatic transmissions, have as standard equipment a four-speed manual transmission with synchromesh in all gears.

In announcing the introduction of the new model Mercedes-Benz cars in this country, Heinz C. Hoppe, executive vice president of Mercedes-Benz of North America, pointed out that additional emphasis has been given to Daimler-Benz's traditional concern for safety.

"As in the past, our new models feature dual brake systems and disc brakes, and to this we have added a braking control system to prevent locking of the rear wheels. Added power and acceleration are designed to increase the safety factor in overtaking."

Traditional Mercedes safety features, including padded dashboards, recessed instruments, flexible door fittings, breakaway rear-view mirror and rigid passenger compartment, are continued.

"We are convinced," said Hoppe, "that the Mercedes-Benz remains the safest car in the world." (CR

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

Blue Echo Blue Birds, under the leadership of Mrs. Robert Wilson, recently had a very interesting visit in the home of Mrs. Mills of Arlington Heights where they saw her huge doll collection of around 800 dolls of all kinds, some of them carved by Mrs. Mills. She told them about many of the dolls and also recited poetry for the girls.

The group was accompanied on the tour by Mrs. Wilson, leader; Mrs. Farr, co-leader, and Mrs. Pohlmann, mother of one of the girls. The Blue Echoes are third graders at Park and Our Lady of the Wayside schools.

Snah Da Yo Ki Junior Hi Camp Fire Girls from South Junior High and Our Lady of the Wayside schools held a council fire and mother's meeting on May 23 at the home of Mrs. Milton Wendorf. The theme of the council fire was "camp." Barbara Henriksen served as mistress of ceremonies. Honor beads were received by Janis Hauptly and Sue Kost. Sue also received her individual torch bearer in cooking. During the council fire the girls presented an arrangement of artificial flowers to Mrs. Harold Purvine in appreciation of her leadership of the group for the past seven years.

At their meeting, the mothers discussed the leadership and Club group next year for the girls wishing to continue in the Camp Fire program. (B10

'Finally Agree With Me'

Opponents Adopt His Platform: Moore

"It took them four weeks to figure out how to rewrite my platform and adopt it as their own, but I'm delighted that they all finally agree with me"

With these words, William J. Moore, a Republican candidate for 3rd District state representative, commended his opponents in the race for "finally taking positions on some of the basic issues in the campaign" as raised by Moore.

He told a group of Northbrook Republicans for Moore that all of his opponents had issued newspaper statements supporting his previously published platform planks on the need for greater municipal home rule, flood and water study, election law reform, economy in government, and the need for soundly conceived legislation in the fields of education, health and mental health.

He again chided his opponents for their support of, or deliberate avoidance of comment upon the subjects of a state income tax and open occupancy legislation. Moore has consistently indicated his total opposition to both throughout the campaign.

IN RESPONSE to a question from the audience, he indicated he was opposed to any candidate attempting to perform more than one elected job at a time. "My own experience on the village board in Arlington Heights taught me that lesson very well four years ago," he stated.

He pointed out that a member (Eugene Schlickman) of that same village board who had been outspoken in his opposition to the "one man-two jobs" concept four years ago was now seeking election as Wheeling Township committeeman and as state representative. (B10

Social Worker to Talk To Single Parents

John Strong, social worker for Arlington Heights School Districts, will speak on the "Psychology of Adolescence and School Performance" at the 8:15 p.m. meeting tomorrow (Friday) of Northwest Suburban Chapter 168, Parents Without Partners, Inc., at the Bank of Rolling Meadows.

A social hour and refreshments will follow his talk.

THE FOLLOWING night, Saturday, June 10, Chapter 168 is sponsoring an evening of dancing, with a buffet dinner and door prizes, at 8:30 p.m. at the V.W.F. Clubhouse, 2067 Miner St., Des Plaines. Members and non-members are invited to call Hazel Caponi at 825-2871 for reservations.

Proceeds will be used to finance the group's combined hospitality room at the Pick-Congress Hotel during the July 1 PWP National Conference.

Approximately 75 of the organization's single parents and their children took part in an outing at North Barrington Park on Sunday, May 29. Activities included picnicking, games and dancing. (B10

Atcher Says Campaign Support Building Up

Robert O. Atcher entered the final week of his campaign for the Republican nomination for state senator buoyed by announcement that 28 precinct captains in 10,000-vote, election-deciding Wheeling Township have come out in support of his candidacy.

Atcher said his campaign will not reach its peak until election day—Tuesday, June 14. The 28 captains include six additional pledged since last week.

"Our campaign is on the climb," he said, "and by next Tuesday, I believe we will have pulled conclusively ahead of our opposition. We'll still be trying until the polls close."

PART OF the last-week "upswing" of Atcher's campaign will come Saturday, when a bunting-bedecked "Bob's Bandwagon" will barnstorm the entire district with entertainment, plus handshaking appearances by Atcher himself.

Atcher encouraged all his supporters to "Take a Person to the Polls" June 14—"so every vote for me will be doubled by the vote of a Republican friend who might otherwise forget to vote."

Atcher said he hopes the voters "keep in mind that you must elect a Republican candidate who will be strong enough to defeat our Democratic opposition in the fall." He believes he's that man.

Atcher was described as "greatly encouraged that prominent Republicans throughout the state publicly have been friendly toward him.

Ike's brother, Earl Eisenhower, for one, sported an "Atcher for Senator" button at a recent GOP rally. And a smiling Charles H. Percy, GOP candidate for the U. S. Senate, posed for pictures with Atcher.

MEANWHILE, ATCHER repeated a pledge made several weeks ago and put forth in a constant round of appearances throughout the district, comprised of the townships of Hanover, Barrington, Schaumburg, Palatine, Wheeling, Elk Grove and parts of Maine and Northfield.

He said he will use his entire salary as a state senator "to inform the voters of what I am doing on their behalf in Springfield."

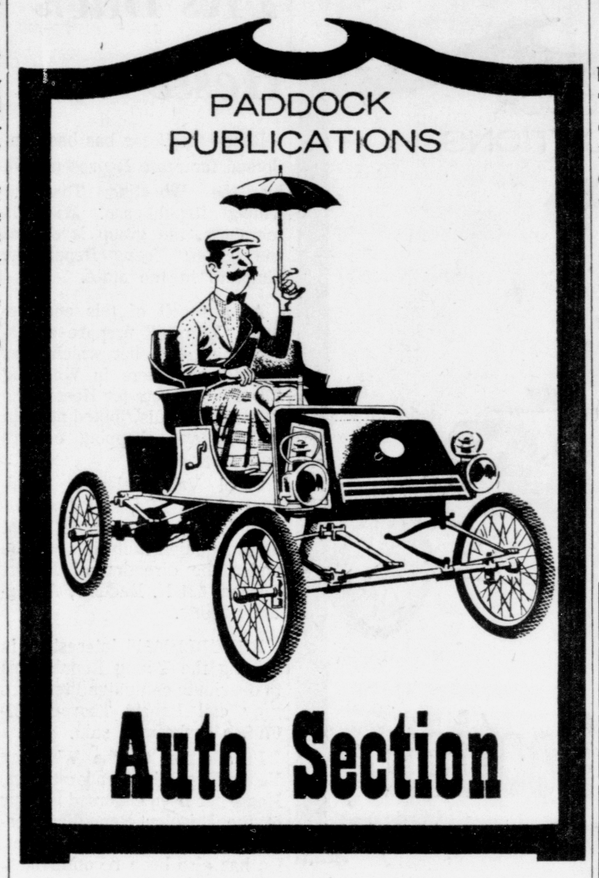
"I am not running for public office so I can drain the voters' pocketbooks for my own personal gain," he said.

Throughout the district, Atcher repeated his promise to be a "modern-day, positive Republican at Springfield, and not one who is proud of a record barren but for his 'no' votes."

He said he will introduce legislation "enabling our school districts to use a reserve 'school building fund'—tax monies now, which our school districts know is forthcoming, for the current educational needs of our children."

HE ALSO SAID he will "try to solve our growing highway and drainage problems, and will give increased attention toward attracting industry to our district, where desired."

As village president of Schaumburg, he noted he brought in such industries as Motorola and Nuclear Data—something Atcher said "I feel an aggressive, knowledgeable state senator can and should do for his district." (B10



Butcher Block: Idea for New Wall Texture

Like the look of wood on walls but want something different? Try the butcher block look. It's created with short lengths of 1x4-inch tongue-and-groove panel boards. The straight-grained western softwoods work best.

To get the butcher block effect, use two, three and four-foot lengths. Install the boards vertically, but so that end joints make a random pattern. Both vertical and horizontal joints will be indistinct, yet will provide just enough pattern to achieve the desired effect.

If you're an enthusiastic and skilled woodworker, you can intensify the butcher block effect by using boards no more than two inches wide. Rip 1x4s lengthwise to produce the narrower boards.

Journalist Is President Of Christian Scientists

Erwin D. Canham became the new President of the Christian Science Church Monday, as members from around the world convened in Boston for their Centennial-Year annual meeting.

Simultaneously, construction workers one block away were beginning land clearance for the religions dramatic new expansion of its headquarters area, known as The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

These were the climactic events in this year's observance of the 100th anniversary of the beginnings of Christian Science under the leadership of Mary Baker Eddy in 1866.

TO THE ANNUAL meeting, it brought the biggest attendance in the Church's history, flowing over into the adjacent Civic Auditorium and a nearby theater, where the proceedings were carried on closed-circuit television. An estimated 15,000 people were on hand.

Canham, who is a well-known journalist and editor in chief of The Christian Science Monitor, will serve as president for one year while continuing his Monitor duties. He came to the meeting directly from a major world speaking tour, which he will resume next September in Europe. Capacity audiences have greeted the editor in 34 cities and four countries, thus far, to hear his non-denominational public address on "The Spiritual Revolution," which was initiated this year in connection with the Centennial.

"And now we move into the Second Century," began Mr. Canham, speaking before the annual meeting in his new capacity as Church President.

"It is a thrilling moment," but also "urgently challenging," he told the assembly.

"CIVILIZATION stands at one of its great crises, perhaps the greatest and most dangerous yet encountered. The world can press forward into the light. Or it can drop back into the darkness.

"False confidence has brought society close to disaster," he said, and summed up three major challenges that must be faced: "destruction of civilization by nuclear warfare . . . unchecked population growth, leading to famine . . . moral destruction of society through sensuality and licentiousness."

These challenges "are to be met successfully nowhere except in human consciousness," he declared.

"The battles to be fought and won are in the hearts and minds of humanity, as individuals strive to understand and apply God's laws . . . the truth of being."

SEVERAL NEW steps to improve the church organization and prepare it for "the challenges which lie ahead," were noted by the Directors, as well as in reports to the meeting from different church departments.

Two of the most important innovations mentioned were a new International Department and a new Youth Division for better coordination of the Church's growing operations in these areas.

Similar changes have already added four stories to the proposed height of the new Church Administration Building announced last year as part of the expanded 15-acre "Church Center" now under construction.

The detailed plans call for a 26-story building and other facilities at a cost of more than $8,000,000, with extensive private development on surrounding church-owned land.

The Church Treasurer's report to the annual meeting today noted the establishment of a "Church Center Building Fund," but added that "no specific financial goal has been set, no personal solicitation is to be made." Contributions are to be kept on a voluntary basis out of "each member's gratitude."

HITTING CAMPAIGN TRAIL in northwest suburbs Saturday was Gerald Dolezal, Republican candidate for re-election as Cook County commissioner. Seeking GOP primary support as the only west suburban candidate, Dolezal is using a western motif for his campaign, including a wagon drawn by four ponies, cowgirls and cowboys. The candidate is shown here atop wagon (right) as he rode up Dunton Avenue in downtown Arlington Heights. He also toured Rolling Meadows and Palatine. (Staff Photo)

New Area Hospital to Open Doors on Monday

The new St. Alexius Hospital in Elk Grove Village will be open for patient care Monday, following the dedication Sunday by the Most Rev. John P. Cody, archbishop of Chicago.

The date of the dedication is 100 years to the day from the opening of the first hospital of the Alexian Brothers order in Chicago.

The dedication date is also the first day of the Elk Grove Village tencennial celebration.

The Elk Grove Village Hospital is the fifth general hospital and eighth institution of the Brothers' American Province.

CEREMONIES ARE scheduled to begin at noon Sunday with the posting of the colors by the Elk Grove Village VFW Post and the singing of the national anthem.

Weather permitting, the ceremony will take place on the patio of the 225-bed hospital.

Assisting the archbishop in the dedication will be The Rev. J. Ward Morrison, pastor of the Queen of the Rosary parish, Elk Grove Village; the Rev. John Rochford, newly appointed chaplain of the hospital; the Rev. Brother Flavian, provincial and presidest of the religious members of the hospital board of directors; and Brother Gregory, CFA, superior and administrator.

THE HOSPITAL is a seven-story building, with six of the floors to be used for regular patient care. Three patient-care floors will be open Monday.

The ground floor contains the kitchen, cafeteria, laboratories, X-ray rooms, two operating rooms, an out-patient clinic, an emergency room and administrative offices.

The hospital also has three delivery rooms, two of which will be ready for use by the opening of the hispital.

There are private and semi-private (two-bed) rooms, no wards, in the hospital.

Other areas of the hospital include pediatrics, geriatrics, surgical, medical, maternity and intensive care departments.

THE MONASTERY for the members of the Alexian Brothers order working at the hospital is a separate area on the top floor.

The hospital also provides a babysitting service for the children of employes.

The number to serve on the staff of the hospital has not been determined and will not be until the hospital is in operation. (A15

LOCAL DANCERS and out-of-town strangers joined hands at the recent square dance in Arlington High School, honoring the late Ross J. Paterson of Palatine. A 1960 Arlington High School graduate, Paterson was a charter member of the area's first square dance club for teenagers, the Cardinal Promenaders. He was killed in Viet Nam early this year. Proceeds of the dance were presented to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Paterson, and two small flags that flanked his portrait on display at the dance were placed on his grave Memorial Day, his birthday. PATERSON MEMORIAL DANCE

Reporting on the Ross J. Paterson Memorial Dance in Arlington High School, chairman Mary Sauerland said, "I have the feeling that Ross really was there with us that evening." Paterson, a Viet Nam war casualty early this year, was one of the area's earliest boosters of teenage square dancing and the May 28 dance honoring his memory reunited several former Cardinal Promenaders, charter members with him of the first local club for high schoolers. Also in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ryan of Arlington Heights who organized the Promenaders and in whose home the dances were held.

Although many area dancers were out of town for the holiday or at other events scheduled for the same evening, Chairman Sauerland feels that the memorial was a success. She and her co-chairman, Carol Angus, were able to present Paterson's parents with a check for $106, proceeds of the dance. Donating their services as callers were Wally Paulson, Don Finfrock, "Tib" Tibbetts, Danny Hagen, Bill Davis and Lee Simpson. Free use of the facilities was granted by the school district in honor of the 1960 Arlington High School graduate.

Total proceeds came from donations instead of ticket sales. A donation table held a color portrait of Paterson in uniform, the picture flanked by a red-white-and-blue floral arrangement and two small flags. The flags were placed on his grave on this birthday, Memorial Day.

Accompanying the check for Mr. and Mrs. Paterson was a guest book signed by everyone who attended the dance. Among the signatures were those of guests from Miami, Fla., and Fontana and Burlington, Wis.

ARLINGTON SQUARES

Your non-dancing square dance editor was the guest last Friday night of the Arlington Squares at the club's season finale, a members-only dinner dance in Long Grove Country Club. For this annual event, the ladies wear their finest finery and the dance floor becomes a kaleidoscope of twirling skirts, fluffy petticoats and — occasionally — ruffled pantalets. The men are pretty flashy, too, the silver or gold trim on elegant shirts providing sparkling contrast to the delicate pastels of their partners' voluminous skirts. Also contrasting sharply this year was your editor, wearing a blinding pink slim-skirted dress — and not dancing. One of these days, though, she is liable to try an allemande left. Then watch out.

After-dinner speaking and prize-awarding brought laughter as wives of retiring officers moaned their relief during their husbands' speeches, and hoots of "Fix! Fix!" greeted the drawing of an officer's name for a prize. Golf addicts among the dancers had spent the afternoon on the links, and they too, were given prizes.

A spectator attending a square dance almost always marvels at the apparently limitless energy of the dancers and it comforted this bone-lazy reporter to note that among sittin'-'em-out couples were the golfers. Although the room was crowded and dancers were asked to take turns on the floor, a golfer or two privately admitted they were more pooped than polite.

Club callers Jim Smith and Lenny Roos alternated at the mike and class instructor, "Tib" Tibbetts called one for the crowd, too. Leading the rounds were the club's favorite "rounders," Jerry and Dot Daniels.

SUMMER DANCING

Beginning tomorrow night there will be weekly Friday night dances at the intermediate level, featuring caller Frank Hurkmans and held in Bensenville's Mohawk Country Club. Dancing will be from 8:30 until 11 p.m. Reservations will not be necessary. Just be there.

Bucks and Does remind everyone that Saturday is Jamboree night and there'll be six callers ready for crowd-pleasing in two spacious gyms of Dempster Junior High School. Round dance leaders, Carl and Marie Peterson, will be there, too, sharing the evening's program with club caller, Paul "Foggy" Thompson, and his co-callers, Pat Braffet, Art Matthews, Ralph St. Pierre, Earl Thompson and Jerry Whitebread. Be there at 8, dance 'til 11.

Roundhouse Squares of Bensenville, newest club in the area, repeats an invitation to join 'em on any one or all of the following dates: July 9 and 30, Aug. 13 and 27. They'll be dancing at (not in) the pool in Bensenville's park, located at Irving Park Road and Church Street. Full information about the club and its dances is available from Helen Bates, phone 766-0796.

THANKS

Al and Carole Wendt, publishers of the square dancers' magazine "Around the Corner" have asked our help in circulating their thanks to all who had a hand in launching a square dancers' float in the Memorial Day parade in Arlington Heights. It was the first time such a float was part of the local parade and everyone "Wendt" all out to help.

Al and Carole report, "Without all these fine people a float wouldn't have been possible . . . thanks to Russ and Eleanor Workman for float decorations (really a rush job since the trailer wasn't available until Sunday evening) and their daughter, Diane, for posters. John and Ruth Freeberg of Hiawatha Braves and Maids, Twirling Teens of Mount Prospect, Firehouse Squares of Northlake and caller for all three clubs, Harry Glass and his wife, Lydia . . . to Bill and Fran Simon of Route 12 Rental and Slowpokes of Mount Prospect for use of the trailer, and to Plaids and Calicos of Hoffman Estates and the Hayshakers of Northlake for additional display pieces . . . to Glenview Squares for their help."

From many area dancers we have heard that the Wendts were busy, too, during the float preparations, and we'd like to bounce a few of those "thanks" right back to Al and Carole. According to reports, they were originators of the idea and considering the great number of square dancers in the area, the float must have pleased a whopping big portion of parade spectators.

REMINDER

We're going to our usual once-a-month summertime schedule as of right now. See you next in the July 7 issue of Paddock Publications. 'Til then — have fun, keep dancing. (A15

Where Was Your Flag Hidden on Memorial Day?

This is an open letter to all so-called loyal Americans:

What has happened to your respect for the American flag and what it stands for? I ask this because of what I witnessed on Memorial Day.

Were you keeping your flag inside so that the sun wouldn't fade it? Or maybe you haven't even purchased one because you figured its price was more than your freedom in this democracy?

To the parade watchers: Did you men keep your hats/caps on your head when Old Glory passed just so people wouldn't see your uncombed hair? Or was it that you thought the sun, here too, would fade that delicate brain covering? And for those men and boys who wore no head apparel, where was your hand and mind when Old Glory passed? And to you of the fairer sex, what were you doing each time that Old Glory passed by?

To all those at the Memorial services at Memorial Park: I think most of you must have been there for reasons other than to commemorate the war dead and those fighting now for this country and its ideals — men who fought for this country so that you and I might enjoy our present freedoms unhindered. At times, motorcycles and other vehicles' engines (excluding the trains) were running in such a fashion as to interfere with the Memorial program. Some adults and children were milling about and talking during the entire program such as might be expected at a sporting event or other gathering.

What type of respect is this when we have little regard for the passing of the American flag and at services honoring those who died fighting for this country's ideals and for those who are presently doing the same in the many nations of this world?

Must there be a world war or a president assassinated or must one be in military uniform to wake up we who call ourselves Americans?

I'd like to compliment the board of education and teachers of the elementary schools, in particular Olive School in District 25, for the fine job they've done in instilling respect for the American flag and for this country in our future leaders and citizens of tomorrow. I think the children's respect would embarrass most of us and make us look pretty small in comparison. Can you and do you say the pledge of allegiance to the flag every day of the week, 365 days a year?

Many of the downtown merchants of Arlington Heights are also to be commended for their daily display of the American flag. Why can't we as residents of this or any other community follow suit by the daily display of the American flag?

I'm going to be "different" by displaying the American flag at my home every day of the week, 365 days of the year. I'd like to see some more of you "loyal Americans" be different" by doing the same. Don't wait for Flag day—start today!

Police Provide Intangible 'Valuation' for Residents

Since the first time that I had the honor of representing my city as an alderman and since I have had the privilege of sitting on the council for the city of Rolling Meadows, I have wondered about valuation and what it means to the people of Rolling Meadows.

Really, what is valuation? A church has its valuation for our souls, a hospital, who has its valuation for preserving the life of our loved ones, a school, to teach our young offspring the good and the necessity of learning, but what good would these three be if we did not have an honest, respectable and courageous police department as we have today?

What good would it be if we had nobody to uphold laws for us and our loved ones? What good would it be if we had no one to watch our street corners when our precious little ones go off to school in the mornings and afternoons? Where would we really be if we were not allowed to go to the church of our choice and how would it really be if the hospital could choose their own patients? We as a legislative body can make laws but who is there to protect our most valuable possessions, our lives, our homes, our wife and our children? Who is it that protects us when we sleep at night and when we pull the covers up with assurance that we and our loved ones will be safe from harm.

Surely, it's not us, for we have no guns strapped to our sides when we go to the shopping center. It is a man who has taken an oath to defend my life, my wife and my children's, if necessary even give up his own. And yet we want this man to be as honest as Abe Lincoln, with the courage and strength of Samson and have the mind and wit of Albert Einstein. Let he not make a mistake or the public indignation will be set upon him. Yet we feel fit to pay this man a starting salary of only $6,000 a year.

He must know how to type, answer radio calls without a mistake, be patient, stand up to public abuse and live in a glass house. He must work holidays and nights. If one officer is caught with his hand in the till all will suffer for this action. How many of us could honestly serve in this capacity for such a small sum of $6,000 a year?

I feel at this time that we recognize certain true facts of life, no social circle, no governmental body, no church, no civic organization be worth anything without a respectable, honest and courageous police force. We expect so much from these gentlemen and we give them so little in return.

Mail Slow, She Buys Her Hoffman Herald in a Store

I recently received a call from a pleasant lady, asking if I'd care to subscribe to the Hoffman Herald. I told her I'd love to , but couldn't because it comes by mail. When she asked if there's some difficulty with our mail delivery here, I knew she didn't live in Hoffman. I depend on the Herald when I plan my week's shopping on Thursday. When mail isn't delivered until 4 or 5 o'clock, it's a little late to do any good.

I know the mail service anywhere is nothing to rave about, but I've never encountered anything as bad as a situtation in Hoffman Estates. We've lived in Des Plaines, Bensneville and Wood Dale, both in town and out on rural routes. Mail to and from other suburbs was almost always delivered the next day. Out-of-state mail took two days. Here in Hoffman, that sort of speed is a rare occurrence, not the rule. The only way I can get two-day delivery on my out-of-state letters is to mail them at the Roselle Post Office in person. Our new Hoffman Estates sub-station is worse than useless, just an additional stopping-place to slow the mail even further. A roll of wallpaper Sears sent from Chicago took 13 days to reach me.

The final blow is the condition of mail when it finally arrives, just before supper. Magazines that aren't rolled or wrapped barely hold together long enough to be read. The covers are ripped off, back shredded and pages all curled. Friends in surrounding towns and villages get their magazines by mail as fresh as when they left the presses.

Writing the postmaster or my congressman will just get me a polite form letter in return. I thought perhaps if the newspapers knew our lack of decent postal service costs them subscribers and if the local merchants knew that their sale flyers are often delivered the day after the sale, perhaps their complaints might have more effect than those of one individual.

Thank you for taking the time to wade through all this. I'm afraid just mentioning the subject of mail service to a resident of Hoffman Estates always leads to a lengthy, bitter tirade.

Your faithful reader (who has to go out to buy her paper at a store).

Mrs. Glynn Jones

Criticize Political Emphasis In Memorial Day Parade Floats

What is the purpose of a Memorial Day parade?

If you answer, as we do, that it is to honor our brothers who have given their lives in the service of our country, we question two entries in the Arlington Heights Memorial Day parade.

We cannot understand what place political or radical groups have in such a parade. The displays which we object to were the Regular Republican Organization entry, complete with Schlickman banners and balloons for the children. The second, and perhaps most objectionable, float was the "Support Your Local Police" float sponsored by the John Birch Society. A society whose leaders seek to suppress the freedom for which these men have died. A group who preach hate for all with which they disagree.

It may have been by administrative oversight that these displays were allowed to desecrate this tribute to our honored dead. However, we wish to register the strongest protests possible so that never again will the efforts of our youngsters, as Scouts, Campfire Girls, Indian Guides, musicians, young men and women as representatives of the armed services, our husbands, fathers, wives and mothers in fraternal, social or religious organizations be exploited for the promotion of political and radical beliefs.

God help a country whose people must exploit the honor of her dead.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Reiger
Wheeling

(Editor's Note: Letters objecting to Schlickman material in the parade were also received from James Arnold, Buffalo Grove, and William L. Griffin, Arlington Heights.) (FP

Wayside Group Thanks Scott

On behalf of the Catholic Woman's Club of Our Lady of the Wayside parish, I wish to express my sincere appreciation for the publicity given us during the last two years. Thank you for your cooperation.

Elk Grove Woman's Group Says 'Thanks'

On behalf of the Elk Grove Village Junior Woman's Club I would like to thank your staff for its cooperation in printing our press releases this past year. This publicity made it possible for us to raise money for our many philanthropies, as well as to inform the community of our activities. We are especially grateful for the series of articles on our fashion show last October, which benefited St. Alexius Hospital, the village library, Northwest Mental Health Clinic, and the village park and recreation board.

Our thanks go particularly to Mrs. Marianne Scott and Miss Joan Lorenson. Their efforts on our behalf are greatly appreciated. Without the help of your publication, we would be unable to contact the people necessary to make our activities a success.

Fenton Story Pleased Him

I was very pleased to read the article entitled "Intern Leaves Mark on District" on the front page of the Bensenville Register. Thank you very much for the complimentary coverage

Having had the opportunity to talk to you on numerous occasions has helped me to develop alertness and awareness in connection with the news values of events that occur at Fenton. Moreover, I have acquired a sense of timing that I believe will help me in the future in the introduction of innovations and in the planning of future policies and activities for the junior college.

The very fact that you know what is going on in the community makes you a valuable asset to any school district. I perceive the role of a newsman and a schoolman as fellow educators, and each can be of help to the other.

Once again thank you for a fine job.

Wants Chapman Sent Back to Legislature

On Tuesday, June 14, we have an opportunity to vote for Eugenia Chapman in the primary for members of the Illinois House of Representatives.

I have known Mrs. Chapman for several years and appreciate the fine work she did during the last session of the legislature. She was acclaimed as an outstanding member of the house, having depth knowledge in education, in taxation and in transportation problems. She served us well and deserves to be re-elected.

The opportunity to elect as well-qualified a legislator as Eugenia Chapman is rarely available to us. She merits our support and votes on Tuesday, June 14.

Ridge Park Men Criticize Record Of Schlickman

There has been a great deal in both of the local papers about the upcoming election for Wheeling Township Republican committeeman. Those of us who live in Ridge Park have watched with interest because, Republican and Democrat alike, we have come to know one of the candidates too well. He is Gene Schlickman who has promised all things to all people. We do not think his record bears him out.

He is the local attorney who worked against the people of Ridge Park during the Martin Kelly zoning variation and then lost. We do not see where he has done one job well and marvel at his greed in trying for both committeeman and state representative at the same time.

We note that the Better Government Association agrees with us and has indorsed his opponent Tom Novotny. We further note that veteran precinct captains have given a majority to Tom Novotny after the recent purge by Houser-Schlickman of those who were Republicans rather than personal followers of an ambitious man.

Mount Prospect Proves 'Ideal Place' to Live

Since establishing our home here some eight years ago, my wife and I have been pleased with Mount Prospect as an ideal place to raise our children because of the good schools, parks and other community features. Little did we realize the many other advantages to be found in the thoughtfulness and kindness of our fellow townsmen.

Recently, our son was struck on the forehead and dazed by a rock while playing in the vicinity of the McDonald Hamburger Restaurant on Rand Road. The McDonald manager immediately came to his aid without hesitation, even though the busy part of his day was at hand. Knowing the possible dangers of a head injury, he calmed the boy and kept him quiet, called the Mount Prospect fire department emergency ambulance, and attempted to contact us. At that moment, we were caught in a shopping hour traffic jam. Fireman George Cullons and Harold Barra answered the call for aid. I am told these men demonstrated exceptional abilities in handling our boy and assuming his care, transporting him to the hospital for medical attention and remaining with him until we arrived. May the Lord bless all three of these men for their aid and comfort to Joe in his pain.

Fortunately there is not a serious injury. However, as I now think about this incident, I realize that I myself did not appreciate the buildup of our fire and police departments accomplished several years ago by men having the foresight of future needs such as ours. Most of these men are no longer serving Mount Prospect, having left their positions during the last year. This letter is to convey my thanks to them, to the individual Mount Prospect firemen and policemen and the McDonald manager involved.

Palatine Grows; Cites Motorola, 'Light' Industry

The red, hexagonal-shaped, "Help-Wanted" bulletins recently attached to our door-knobs on behalf of the Motorola Company are a good indication of this town's progress, not apparent at first glance. Made to simulate highway "Stop" signs, they attracted immediate attention and were also easily removed.

Really, they represented a milestone in Palatine's progress. No unemployment here. Not only Motorola, but other employers spend money and effort to coax workers onto their payrolls. It is also commendable that as much is done by Motorola to attract local help, rather than hire through agency channels miles away.

The, once condemned, "light industry" sprouting up here is proving a boon to the community. First objections, of course, came from mostly those who didn't comprehend the meaning of "light," pertaining to industry, or study the issue at the time.

There is nothing objectionable about any of the fine businesses or buildings in that district. They contribute heavily toward the expanding schools system but send no pupils to these schools.

Palatine is fast becoming a self contained and self-supporting village. Now we can find good, desirable employment right next door, so to speak.

My compliments and gratitude go to Motorola for their part in making this possible.

Tips Hat to Bartnett for Committeeman

Who is Mike Barnett and why should I vote for him for Republican Committeeman of Schaumburg Township?

Mike Bartnett is a gentleman, the type of man we would be proud to have represent us anywhere, anytime. Mike is hard worker. He's a top executive for a nation-wide moving firm and not afraid to put in extra hours on the job. At the same time, Mike and his wife are fun people. You would like to have them over for an evening.

Mike takes an active role. When there's a job to be done and you roll up your sleeves to pitch right, look to your right and the guy rubbing elbows with you will be Mike Bartnett.

We need Mike Bartnett for the kind of active, positive leadership necessary in our township.

I support Mike Bartnett for Republican Committeeman. You should too. Vote June 14.

Jibe Hansen on Race for State Rep, Senator

Carl Hansen, Republican Committeeman in Mount Prospect, can take pride in the service he is rendering the Republican Party.

As committeeman, he should be helping the party work as a team, and he should be assisting Republicans in Elk Grove Township to be informed voters on June 14.

What is Mr. Hansen doing for the party?

First, he has issued a scurrilous personal attack on Senator John A. Graham and made health an issue in the campaign.

Second, Hansen has permitted no state representative candidate, except one man who is his personal choice, to appear before or meet the Elk Grove Republican organization. He wants the voters to be in the dark next Tuesday.

Third, Hansen is so intent on having his hand-picked representative candidate win that he wants Republicans to vote for no one but this one man. Republicans, however, can nominate two state representatives on Tuesday, and they should do so.

It is a disservice to the voter of Elk Grove Township to tell him that he should overlook all other Republicans because Carl Hansen has his personal choice of one man.

It is time for us to act as Republicans and to work as a party.

Says Novotny Material Gives Wrong Idea

The closing moments of any political campaign always find the lagging candidate grasping at any straw in a desperate, last ditch attempt to win. Tom Novotny now couples desperation with deception.

In his campaign literature Novotny attempts to "trade off" on our Sen. Everett M. Dirksen. Sen. Dirksen's picture is prominently displayed. But did Tom Novotny get the senator's perission to use this picture in his brochure? Absolutely not. Did Sen. Dirksen or his office in Chicago even know the senator was being used in a candidate's attempt to win office? Not on your life!

Tom Novotny would also have the voter believe Congressman Don Rumsfeld has endorsed him. Nothing could be further from the truth. In fact, a representative from Congressman Rumsfeld's campaign staff has had to caution Novotny on the unauthorized use of Rumsfeld's name in the committeeman contest.

Pictures — even the autographed variety — and nice sounding phrases in letters from office holders and party leaders can be easily obtained, often upon request. They are sent out by the thousands.

School Bus Hike Is Approved by Board

An increase in the over-all cost of transporting District 59 students to school was approved Monday by the district's board of education.

At the same meeting, another plan was approved which will result in the lowering of the cost of transportation within the district of the children in special education schools.

The board agreed to the request from Davidsmeyer Bus Service, which holds a three-year contract with District 59, for an additional $5 per day per bus which the company runs for the district schools.

The money will be used for salary increases for the bus drivers, said Len Garasha, district director of transportation and principal of Mount Prospect School.

THE BASE salary, which is now $2, will be increased to $2.50 per hour, he said. An extra 50 cents per hour bonus will also be paid.

The per day rate charged by Davidsmeyer is now $34, Garasha said. He added that the company is the last one in the area to raise the rate.

Garasha also said that he did not expect another increase request next year, because increased labor cost and employe benefits should be covered with this year's increase.

Davidsmeyer runs 13 buses for District 59; Garasha said he thought the same number would be sufficient next year.

The other bus agreement approved, involving children in special education classes, was called "really significant in many ways" by Garasha.

The plan involves dual use of the Davidsmeyer buses now used by high school District 214. Since drivers for the high school buses work only about one hour per day for the schools, and since a two-hour minimum payment is required by contract, Garasha proposed having the high school buses transport children who attend special classes within the district.

There are some 350 children in the district transported to special classes, such as classes for the blind and deaf. Of these, about 50 to 75 children attend these classes within the district.

TRANSPORTATION is now handled with small buses and "carry-alls" at a cost of $23.40 per day. If the high school buses could serve the dual purpose of special education and high school transportation, the cost to District 59 would be about $20 per day, Garasha said.

In spite of the increased size of the buses, capacity for the special education classes would be about 15 children per bus, close to the present capacity of the small buses.

The administrative members of District 214 have approved the plan, Dr. Roger Bardwell, District 59 Supt. of Schools said. District 59 approval of the plan is subject to approval of the whole District 214 board.

THE ISSUE of open occupancy has been thrust squarely into the campaign for GOP candidates for representative from the northwest suburban 3rd District. As demonstrated by this billboard at Route 83 off the Northwest Tollway, William J. Moore adamantly opposes any legislation against discrimination in housing. His stand is shared by William Means of Buffalo Grove. The other three candidates—incumbent Eugene Schlickman of Arlington Heights, Robert Hesse of Palatine and David Regner of Mount Prospect, have said they would vote for compromise legislation protecting the rights of individuals and property owners. THE ACCEPTED INFLUENCE IN THE NORTHWEST SUBURBS

THE GOLDEN YEARS

YOUR RETIREMENT INCOME IS TOO SMALL? MAYBE NOT

You who read this column are coming up to retirement, or are already retired, with a total income that figures out generally at $250 to $350 a month. Many of you are richer.

You aren't too happy with it . . . it's not enough. And you are likely to be playing games with some dark fears over what may happen to you, over what you will do if the time comes when you can't make it on your income.

To give you a little perspective on what you have, and to ease the darker fear of older wives, here is the account of a widow who had to get by on $92.80 a month . . . and did.

"My husband passed away in 1954 and left me nothing but a mortgaged home," she says. "My only source of income was Social Security. When it arrived it was $92.80 . . ."

It was a modest home, with five rooms. She made arrangements to pay $41 a month on the mortgage, this including taxes and insurance. With the $41 as a starter, this is how she set up her budget:

Gas heat	$11.00
Telephone	7.43
Electricity	5.00
Water	5.50
Health Insurance	8.70
Total	$37.63

The $41 for the house made this $78.63. There was no provision for food, clothing, and incidentals.

The widow sought out, and got, a roomer who agreed to pay $20 a month. For another $4 a month she arranged to do the roomer's laundry.

Her budget worked out like this:

Social Security	$92.80
Roomer	20.00
Laundry service	4.00
Total	$116.80
Minus costs	78.63
Net	$ 38.17

The widow set up a food budget of $22 to $25 a month, or $5 to $6 a week, and out of this she fed her small dog and her parakeet. The $13 to $15 a month she had left over went for what small clothes purchases she made and for her incidentals.

This widow is now 72, is living on this budget, and has no complaints. "I have five wonderful children," she says. "But they are all married and have their own families to support. Thanks to the way I have been able to work things out I don't have to be dependent on them. I make my own way. And I grow a little tired of reading of people with so much more who just can't manage . . ."

Virtually none of you now reading this will have to get by in retirement on $92.80 a month. The citing of the widow's budget is not to suggest that you should. Or even that it's right in a land as affluent as ours. But it won't hurt for you to know it can be done, and is being done by people who once were in your social and economic class . . . possibly by a wife or couple who once lived next door.

For the GOLDEN YEARS 36-page booklet, send 50c in coin (no stamps), to Dept. CSPS, Box 1672, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017.

District 59 Summer Session Enrolls 700

With a new program of federal aid, the summer school session of District 59 schools will jump from an enrollment of about 600 students last summer to 2,572 this summer.

Alan Lawson, director of the summer school program, last December outlined to the board of education a plan of using federal aid to lower the per student per class enrollment fee from $35 to $5.

Monday Lawson appeared before the board again, with a complete report of the 17 subjects at seven schools which will be offered this summer.

SUBJECTS available are remedial reading, enrichment reading, remedial math, enrichment math, science, biology, Spanish, creative art, creative dramatics, creative writing, physical skill development, typing, band, strings, and first grade readiness.

A special enrichment class which will include field trips and seminars will also be offered, with an enrollment of 30 students.

The schools involved and the number of students attending them are Clearmont, 693; Rupley, 583; Forest View, 375; Einstein, 354; Grove, 365; Dempster, 150. The figure for Rupley does not include the 30 enrolled in the cultural enrichment plan.

The Aud-X reading program which has been conducted at Hopkins will be continued through the summer, with 22 students participating. The program involves the use of two teaching machines to teach reading to younger children.

The high enrollment has enabled every teacher in the district who has asked to teach during the summer to do so. It will also be necessary to hire 15 teachers from outside the district, Lawson said.

Also because of high enrollments, principals at each building will work as full-time administrators, instead of as teachers as in the past.

Salt Creek School, which was formerly used for summer sessions, will not be used this year because Clearmont School is closer to most of the children in that area.

BECAUSE OF relatively low interest, the strings classes will only be offered at Einstein and Clearmont Schools this summer.

The program will be evaluated at the end of the summer session through a critique which will be filled out by each principal.

Lawson estimated that about 20 per cent of the children enrolled in the summer classes are from parochial schools within district boundaries. Another 50 students, he said, are from outside the district. Those outside the district were charged $15 tuition, he said, while the cost for children from the district was $5. (AMC

Open Summer Church School Enrollment

Children from throughout Arlington Heights may attend the Lutheran Church of the Cross' summer church school, which will take place weekdays from June 20 through July 1.

The Rev. Larry D. Cartford, pastor of the church at 2025 S. Goebbert Road, says enrollments will take place on Monday, June 20.

Hours for the weekday church school term will be 9:30 a.m. till noon.

The Rev. Mr. Cartford will teach the summer school class for students in grades 7 through 9.

OTHER CLASSES and their teachers will include nursery, Mrs. John Verdio and Mrs. N. Robert Sjostrand; kindergarten, Mrs. Thomas Wuerffel, Mrs. Leroy Rodig, and Mrs. John Schabow; Grades 1 and 2, Mrs. James Wallgren and Mrs. Phillip May; Grades 3 and 4; Mrs. George Thal and Mrs. Wilfred Olmon; Grades 5 and 6, Mrs. Lee Gruber, Mrs. Larry Larson and Mrs. Cartford.

Mrs. Lillian Sanders will head the arts and crafts department, with Mrs. Richard Hale and Mrs. Samuel Johnson serving as her assistants.

Pastor Cartford said the theme of this year's summer school will be "Jesus and His Church."

Courses will be planned to provide for growth in each child's understanding of the church and his relationship to it. Audio-visual aids and group activities will be stressed.

New Minister, Wife Feted on Arrival in Long Grove

The Long Grove community rolled out the carpet for its new pastor and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. Bert Helm on Sunday. The new occupants of the parsonage, whose furniture arrived from Portland, Ore., June 1, were feted at two receptions. One, a coffee hour, took place Sunday morning following the 10:30 service at which he had delivered his first sermon. The other, a much larger and more festive party, was held in the church social room following the annual choir concert Sunday evening.

Extending a welcome to the Helms during the Sunday concert intermission, Consistory President Jack Schaum said, "Our church has been like a ship without a captain. We've found out that when there's no minister magic won't keep a church going. We eagerly anticipate your leadership. Though we don't grow roses here like in Portland we hope you'll like our petunias. Though we don't have the scenery of Mt. Hood, wait till January when our snows come - -"

The audience was generous in its praise of the choir concert. Over 40 members of the three combined choirs took part, the program climaxing weeks of preparation on the part of members and leaders Betty Edmunds, Esther Korblik and Sara Webster. Esther served as organist and Karen Korbelik as pianist. Solos were sung by Gwen Berg, Sara Webster, Mary Jo Korbelik and Dorothy Loudon. Arthur Edmunds led the call to worship and benediction.

Offering collected that evening will be sent to Rev. Burgos, one of the church's benevolent concerns in Mexico.

BY A VOTE of 288 to 183, voters in Saturday's election approved the Stevenson High School Board of Education request for a 21 cent increase in the educational fund tax rate for High School Dist. 125.

In the Kildeer School polling place, votes numbered 106 for and 57 against.

As Mrs. Orville Held expressed it, "no cup was ever so loving," as the loving cup the Women's Guild presented to Dr. Armin Haeussler at its annual wind-up luncheon held June 1 at Long Grove Country Club. Making the presentation, Pres. Mrs. Robert Loudon Sr. thanked the church's interim pastor for his loyalty and guidance during the past months. Dr. Haeussler had been asked to attend the occasion in order to install the guild's new officers: Mrs. Robert McCann, vice president; Mrs. Robert Pruitt, secretary; Mrs. Kenneth Hartman, treasurer; Mrs. Arthur Reimers, afternoon circle chairman and Mrs. Lee Massey, evening circle chairman.

Other gifts handed out were an over-sized pencil for the new secretary, a wooden nickel to the treasurer and an empty box "to fill with new ideas" for next year's vice president, the items presented by Vice Pres. Mrs. Walter Saunders.

THIS SUNDAY Long Grove Church School will go on summer schedule. There will be one session, from 9.30 to 10:30 a.m.; classes will be held for children from the nursery age through fourth grade. A nursery will be available for tots under three years of age. During August there will be no Sunday Church School. However, it is planned to hold a daily vacation church school the first two weeks in August for children of nursery age through sixth grade. More details will be forthcoming.

Also sliding into the summer tempo, Youth Fellowship members will meet on alternate Monday evenings, beginning June 27. A trip to the ball park, an evening at Ravinia and swim parties are planned, along with group discussions. according to Leader Craig Anderson. Parents who want to provide the spot or the refreshments for such a get-together are to get in touch with Craig.

The Stevenson High School stage was one of color and ceremony June 7, as 87 seniors were presented diplomas.

Graduating from the Long Grove area are Adrienne Anderson, Hollis Anderson, Nural Aydiner, Stephen Berg, Robert Coffin, Christine Collyer, Greg Dolhun, Marie Hultquist, Laura Hurley, Carol Kieser, Ernest Koken, Sue Loeffler, Jon Saunders, Barbara Taylor, Sandy Tillman, June Tinker, Karen Visoky, Ron Wagner and Bruce Westbrook.

JOHN CLEMETSEN, a member of Kilder Countryside Consolidated School's first graduation class in 1946, was the speaker at Kildeer's graduation ceremonies held June 8. Thirty-five eighth graders received diplomas, the presentation being made by board of education member, Ray Miller, in place of Pres. Fred French who was out of town.

In his talk, Clemetsen chose to give no formulas for success, but described the history of the school, from its 90-pupil enrollment to its present over 300 pupils. In his graduating class, there had been only two other members, the former Pat Deagan, now Mrs. Norman Blank of Haines, Alaska, and the former Arlene Dahm, now Mrs. Charles Wesner of Lake Zurich.

Neighborly fellowship and the excitement of competitive activity among the events provided a spark to the annual Kildeer Field Day held June 1. A big "thank you" from Kildeer Community Club pres. Mrs. Stewart Richmond for members of her board who provided the salad bar; to Orville Held for loaning his grill, also to the behind-the-grill chefs, Bob Anderson, Warren Pankau, Ken Bluett, Don Graham, Everett Lewis, and Stewart Richmond; and to Mrs. John Hunter who supervised the awarding of ribbons.

FROM EDWIN Rodewald comes word that 15 have thus far registered for the Red Cross first aid course, the first session of which was held Tuesday at the fire station. The men would like more participants.

Chosen for its simplicity and beauty, "Siddhartha," by Herman Hesse, the story of a soul's search to find the meaning of life, is to be the next book for discussion by the church's Religious Great Books group. Planning to meet through the summer, members have merged into one group. They'll meet Saturday at the Jack Schaums', with Richard Ireland leading the discussion.

Flying to Scotland recently, the John Clemetsens rented a car and drove to London, where they joined a group of antique car enthusiasts. They drove with them to Fishguard, Wales and ferried to Corth, Ireland, where the plan was to take part in the Seventh International Veteran Car Rally, but, a ship strike in England caused the event to be called off. However, John and Timmie joined an unofficial rally of 100 cars and toured Ireland for 10 days. They traveled as guests of the Bayard Sheldons of Fox River Grove, covering the miles in the Sheldons' 1928 Austin.

HITCHING A rented camper onto a truck, the Edwin Bradshaws drove through the Smokies, stopping at such primitive spots as "The Sugarlands" and "Cades Cove," national forest areas, where one can still see mills grind corn and relax amid a rustic setting. Stops were made in Gatlinburg, on the edge of Great Smoky Mountains National Park and at Fontana. In Asheville, N. C., they visited Biltmore House, the George Vanderbilt estate, built in 1890. The wild pink roses everywhere were "breathtaking," according to Gertrude, who says they were early enough to still catch the honeysuckle in bloom throughout Kentucky and Tennessee.

This weekend Mrs. Henry Stade will drive to Michigan to Hillsdale College, to bring back her daughter, Gloria, who has completed her freshman year of study.

This weekend the Vernon Opsals will drive to the University of Illinois to attend commencement honors for their son, Ralph, whose major is in the science and mechanics of aviation.

MRS. JAY NEUBAUER has been making frequent trips to Cedar Falls, Iowa, to visit her mother, Mrs. Fay Fiscus, who is bedridden at the Americana Nursing Center, 201 W. Ridgeway, Waterloo, Iowa. We're told the patient loves to receive reminders that her Long Grove friends haven't forgotten her, so let's remember the cards.

Donald Armstrong spent the Decoration Day weekend with his brother, Tom, 85, who lives in Metropolis, on a farm, across the river from Paducah, Ky. It being the peak of the asparagus season, Eunice decided to stand by on the home front.

If the main delight of Carl Potts' birthday party May 28 was the presence of his daughter, Carla and family, we can understand, since the Pottses hadn't seen the John Stephens for over nine months. Because of his position with IBM, they have been living in the Bronx, N. Y. Adding to the Pottses' joy were their grandchildren, Muriel Ann and Barry John. The out of towners also spent a week in Villa Park at the home of John's parents, Cmdr. and Mrs. James Stephens.

While they were here, Carla's brother, Pfc. Don, serving with the military police at Ft. Gordon, Ga., was able to take a 72-hour leave and come home. Also recent guests were Mollie's cousin and family, the Edward Zanders of Chicago.

PHILADELPHIA houseguests at the Heinz Loefflers' are Jean's parents, the Charles Campbells, who came to attend their granddaughter, Sue's graduation from Stevenson.

Colored slides of winter vacations spent in Coral Gables, Fla., provided conversation material at the Sam LaBue home on a recent Saturday, when the Harold Evanses were guests.

Do you know that because 250 volunteers of the Lake County Cancer Society gave their efforts the past year and countless others sewed bandages 101 patients received service? In the past year 24,188 dressings and 4,148 bed pads were distributed and 12 patients were given transportation service in the county. These were among the facts brought out at the annual meeting and dinner of the Lake County unit May 26 at the Swedish Glee Club, Waukegan. Attending from here were our education chairman, Mrs. Emil Geest, and chairman of the local fund drive, Mrs. Arthur Reimers. Speaker was Dr. Harry W. Southwick, of St. Luke's and Billings Hospitals. His topic was "Cancer Conquest and Challenges."

Mrs. John Krueger, Mrs. Adolph Kalkbrenner and Mrs. Cora Herschberger attended the June 2 Women's Guild luncheon at St. Peter Community Church in Lake Zurich.

Making it a party May 29 to honor Peter Trzyna's confirmation were his grandparents, the Adolph Skubas, and an aunt, Mrs. Lillian Sassoon, of Norridge.

WHAT THE TOM Hoynes remember most about their trip to England was catching a close look at Prince Andrew and his "nanny" as they left Buckingham Palace after the Changing of the Guard, also a glance at Prince Philip's Rolls Royce, and during another moment a look at Prime Minister Wilson as they drove along Downing Street. On another day, while in St. James Park in London, they met a woman walking a tiger cub on a leash.

A lack of billboards made the countryside especially clean looking and lovely and friendliness shone on faces wherever they went. Renting a car, they totaled 1800 miles of motoring, also touring parts of Scotland, with its many castles. 'Twas "great fun," says Dorie, even though on only four days of their 21-day vacation the sun shone.

Sitting for two hours at an organ concert at Waukegan's Charcoal House on Wednesday of last week, Mrs. William Ernsting said she could have sat for two hours more. She and her sister, Mrs. Leonora Stoerp, were invited as guests of the John Charles Music Co. of Waukegan.

GREETING THE Dave Terrills early Sunday morning was a long distance telephone call from Hong Kong, with a singing "Happy Birthday" message from their son, Jim.

With both parents' birthdays in June and a day's liberty to give him access to a telephone, it gave him a chance to also bring the family up to date on his whereabouts.

Jim, QM.2, is now aboard the USS Coucal, a submarine rescue ship, and is headed for a month's stay in Viet Nam Harbor after a stop in Subic Bay.

Andy Sim Jr. has returned home after his first year as high school instructor of history and English at Plymouth.

Get well wishes go to Mrs. Harry Paine, whose sudden illness has put her in Lake Forest Hospital.

WEDDING anniversary wishes go to the Erling Clemetsens, June 11; Charles Hardings, 13th; and birthday greetings to Billy Byrne; 10th; Hal Wilder and Barbara Turner, 13th; Suzanne Schaum, 14th; Dave Terrill Sr., 15th.

Mrs. James Mattson's birthday June 10 was reason for a luncheon party at Tarney's near Diamond Lake. Included were her mother, Mrs. William Stoerp, and Kathy and Kevin Mattson.

If the faces of Kildeer pupils seem to wear a new kind of look lately, maybe it's their longing for the wide open spaces. Swimming pools, golf courses, berry patches, tree houses, here we come, they seem to say. You guessed it. Today's the last day of school.

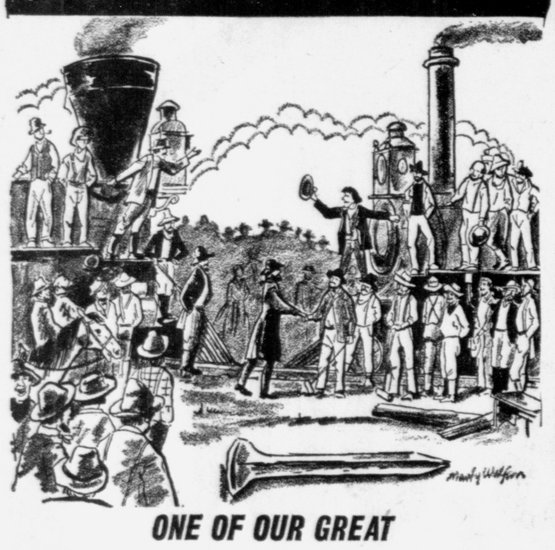
Greatest Events In American History—No. 24



ONE OF OUR GREAT TRANSPORTATION MILESTONES: U.S. IS LINKED COAST-TO-COAST BY RAIL

It was Monday, May 10, 1869, at Promontory, Utah.

A Rev. Todd delivers a prayer. The last two rails are put into place; then, a golden spike is driven into the ground.

At that moment, America is joined for the first time in history, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, by rail—as the tracks of the Union Pacific coming from the east meet those of the Central Pacific coming from the west.

Railroads originally came to the U.S. in the 1820s, then drawn by horses. First steam locomotive here was built by Peter Cooper in 1830. It was called "Tom Thumb" and could do six miles an hour.

Railroads quickly spread, but for the next 39 years Americans could only dream of being linked coast-to-coast by rail. The dream became reality that day in May, 1869.

Village May Control Retention Basins

An indication that the Village of Mount Prospect may seek control of all future retention basins constructed by area builders came at the Tuesday night village board meeting.

Trustee Robert Teichert voiced his opinion on the matter as the board approved an ordinance annexing School District 59 property immediately west of Forest View Elementary School.

The ordinance passed after the board waived its requirement that two readings are necessary prior to passage.

Teichert said the school board had asked for the fast action to get a building permit and begin construction of the new Oliver Wendell Holmes junior high school.

TEICHERT SAID the school board had made satisfactory contractural arrangements with the builder to insure installation of all necessary streets, sewers, water mains and sidewalks.

Neil Hunter, president of Colonial Heights Builders, brought out Teichert's comments on village control of retention basins. It came after Hunter had questioned the village on its three month delay in approving subdivision plats for land at the north and south ends of the District 59 school property.

The reason, Teichert said, was that the plats did not indicate who would hold title to the retention pond after the school and subdivisions were completed. Builders come and go, but retention ponds stay, Teichert said.

"The policy may be that retention pond title be transferred to the village to insure proper maintenance," Teichert said.

THERE ARE going to be more and more retention basins, and now is the time to resolve who should control them in the future, Teichert said.

"I don't feel we said we want to own the property," Trustee Robert Colfer said. He agreed that proper maintenance of the areas would be a problem in the future.

An early meeting was promised Hunter in order to approve the subdivision plats. (M

To Protest Apartment Zone Plea

Mount Prospect will lodge a protest at the June 10 and June 13 meetings of the Cook County Zoning Board.

The June 10 meeting is set for 3 p.m. in the Arlington Heights village hall. The petition seeks R-5 zoning for 48 acres on the north side of Euclid Avenue west of Wolf Road for construction of apartment buildings with 608 units plus a recreation and community center.

The June 13 hearing is set for 3 p.m. in the Elk Grove Village village hall. The petition covers a proposed apartment complex at the southwest corner of Seegers and Goebbert Roads.

Mount Prospect Village Mgr. John Mongan and Village Atty. Robert Moore were directed to appear at the meetings to ask for time to file formal complaints with the county zoning board. (M

Special Education Group Is Endorsed

Endorsement of the Northwest Suburban Special Education Organization (NSSEO) was given by the Mount Prospect elementary school board Monday.

It merely formalizes what is now being done and ties up some "loose ends," explained Supt. Eric Sahlberg.

Under NSSEO, District 57, along with districts in Wheeling, Arlington Heights, Elk Grove Village, Prospect Heights, Feehanville, and Rolling Meadows, cooperate in providing special classes for exceptional children.

At its last meeting, board members asked about the bus company's insurance coverage. They also wanted Atty. Louis Ancel's advice before approving the agreement.

ANCEL FEELS it is "perfectly proper," the superintendent told board members.

According to a new law, the state will reimburse school districts 80 per cent of the cost of transporting special education children, said Sahlberg. In April, he added, District 57 spent $1,221.79 to bus 26 children to special classes.

A discipline policy worked out by the Mount Prospect Education Assocation was also reviewed by the board. Final consideration of the policy will probably come at the June 20 board meeting.

AT MONDAY'S meeting Roger Johnston told other board members about the public hearing recently held by the Governor's Task Force on Education. He, Bill Krampert, and James Ruff represented District 57 at the meeting.

Board member John Page also reported on a meeting of the Area School Boards Association, which he and the superintendent attended. (M

FAMILY POT LUCK

BY HELEN HALE

Season wih Flair

Baked fish fillets take on special appeal when they're served with a sauce of cream of shrimp soup (frozen) thinned with a bit of cream. A sprinkling of Parmesan cheese adds still another gourmet touch.

Have you ever glazed pork with melted currant or apple jelly? Add cinnamon, nutmeg or cloves to the jelly if you'd like even more flavor in it. These may also be used on the pork ribs—spareribs, country-style or back.

A touch of mace and a bit of honey will put rice pudding into a class of special desserts.

Omelets have many varieties, so add some rice, mustard and grated Cheddar cheese to your next one. Serve with soy sauce, if you want it Chinese-style.

Serve on a bed of rice? Think how delicious that rice will be if it has some chopped spinach added to it with a dash of nutmeg for flavor. Can you imagine this with a creamed shrimp? Of course!

Make your beef hash with onion. Use either the chopped variety or onion soup if you need the moisture. Serve with a topper of chili sauce.

Helen's Favorite:

Deviled Cheese Sandwich Spread

½ pound mild cream cheese
1 small onion, peeled
3 canned pimientoes
3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
¼ cup mayonnaise

Grind the cheese, onion and pimientoes. Add chopped eggs, seasonings and mayonnaise. Mix well. Keep covered and refrigerated until used.

School District 57 Board Signs 17 Teacher Contracts

Contracts for 17 new teachers were approved by the Mount Prospect District 57 school board Monday.

It also accepted with regret 14 resignations and granted another teacher a year's leave of absence.

The teaching staff is now 88 per cent complete, Supt. Eric Sahlberg told the board. About half of the remaining vacancies are "in the process of being filled now," he added.

Six per cent of the district's teachers have not yet returned their contracts. According to state law, a teacher on tenure is automatically rehired for the following year unless he resigns before July 1.

SO FAR, SAID Sahlberg, the district's teacher turnover for next year is 22 per cent. This is higher than the Cook County average, which he has estimated at 18 per cent. However, it is lower than last year's 25 per cent turnover in District 57.

Eleven of the new teachers have had previous teaching experience. They are:

Virginia Phillips, M.A., Memphis State University, $8,400 salary; Patricia Schwartz, M.A., Northwestern University, $6,325; Edward D. Pillar, B.A., St. Thomas College, $5,900; James Duncan, M.S., Western Illinois University, $6,500; A. Lee Downey, B.S., Purdue University, $5,575.

Also, Jose M. Blanco, Havana University, $7,150; Douglas D. Williams, B.S., Concordia Teachers College, $7,450; Brian L. Jacobsen, B.S., Northern Illinois University, $6,150; William DeStefano, B.S., DePaul University, $6,250; Marilyn Teagen, B.S., $6,250; and Lorraine Willes, B.E., Northern Illinois Teachers College, $6,050.

Other new teachers are Judith Ann Nolan, B.A., Northern Illinois Teachers College, $5,450; George A. Custer, B.S., Northern Illinois University, $5,550; Andrea Liebling, bachelor's degree, Roosevelt University $5,450; Jill Grote, B.S., Eastern Illinois University, $5,450; Barbara Center, B.A., University of Michigan, $5,450; and Robert Stock, B.S., West Texas State University, $5,650.

RESIGNING teachers are: Suzanne Sivert, fourth grade teacher, Westbrook School; Janet Serafin, third grade teacher, Westbrook School; Carol Czys, second grade, Westbrook School; Sharon Skidelsky, third grade teacher, Westbrook School; Gail Merki, sixth grade teacher, Westbrook School; Carolyn Barasch, first grade teacher, Busse School; and Lucy Cerwin, French teacher, Central School.

Also, Karen Hensick, language arts teacher, Lincoln School; Karen Dailey, second grade teacher, Sunset Park School; Betty Lee Shawver, fifth grade teacher, Lions Park School; Marcia Kasabach, art teacher, Central School; Joyce Houlihan, nurse, Central School; Barbara Shellist, hard of hearing teacher, Fairview School; and Elizabeth Hines, fourth grade teacher, Gregory School.

A leave of absence for 1966-67 was granted to Mrs. Mary L. Priest, third grade teacher at Fairview School.

IN ADDITION, Mrs. Marie Olson, fourth grade teacher, Fairview School, was rehired. Last month Mrs. Olson had resigned, with plans to move out of the state.

To complete this year's library program, Mrs. Shirley Gunderson, director of library services, asked to continue work until June 30. The board approved paying her an additional half month's salary for the extra two weeks.

Board members felt it might be advisable, in offering a future contract for the post, to extend the days of service.

"This is at least the third year this has come up," commented Board President Bill Krampert.

Next year's certified staff will remain at 219, Sahlberg told the board. This includes 119 primary and intermediate classroom teachers, 36 junior high school teachers, and 64 special teachers.

"As things stand, this staff should be adequate for next year," he added. (M

Bedsworth Girl Wins Essay Contest Prize

Donna Lynn Bedsworth, 17, of Mount Prospect, has added another prize to the list that began back when she was five years old.

Donna, a senior at Prospect High School, has been named winner of a $500 scholarship in an essay contest sponsored by the Chicago Flagship Management Club of American Airlines. She has been on the Prospect High honor roll four years.

Her 500-word essay, "The Challenge of the Future," was judged best by educators on the panel. Judging was on the quality of the essay, scholastic accomplishments, moral character and school spirit. The award was presented at a dinner-dance at the Sheraton-Chicago.

DONNA'S prize-winning ways began in Fort Worth, Texas, when the Civitan Art Award was presented to her for the aptitudes she expressed through her drawings. Five years later, when she was 10, she won a trophy for her drawing of two little girls, and then earned an art scholarship at the Fort Worth Art Department.

She plans to study industrial arts, textiles and fashion design at Stout State University, Wis., working for a degree in education in the event she ever has the urge to teach.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bedsworth, who reside at 901 E. Council Trail, have another daughter, 19-year-old Barbara, an education and music major at Texas Wesleyan in Fort Worth. They also have a son, Arthur, 14, a freshman at Prospect High School.

Bedsworth is a meteorologist for American Airlines, having joined the company in 1942. He spent 19 years in Texas prior to returning to Chicago and O'Hare International Airport. (M

Diabetics Must Be Careful With Their Teeth

Any focus of infection is harmful, but especially so for a diabetic. High blood preasure sugar levels lessen resistance to infection. Still a diabetic can, like anyone else, develop deep root abcesses, or pyorrhea, both of which are infections. And, you don't have to have a toothache to have a root infection, or loose teeth before your physician can diagnose infection.

Have dental checkups at regular intervals and be sure and tell your dentist, if you are a diabetic, so he can take extra precautions if an extraction is needed. He can't tell by looking at you. We carry complete stocks of diabetic and dental medications and supplies.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Palatine Formally Objects To Rand-Baldwin High Rise

Palatine this week sent formal objections on a huge high-rise project at Rand and Baldwin Roads to county zoning and board officials.

The village recommends denial of the high density R-6 county zoning sought.

A main point for objection is that Palatine eventually will control the Rand-Baldwin area through direct annexation.

THE ZONING sought now would be contrary to Palatine's over-all master plan for such huge projects.

The project proposed would be 92 acres, have four 12-story apartment buildings and 30 two-story apartment buildings. There would be 74 three-bedroom units, 445 two-bedroom units and 445 one-bedroom units.

Also planned are 134 single family homes. That portion is not opposed.

The village stresses that the objections are not entirely emotional—not a reaction against apartments or high rises as such.

The village notes that since 1958 high rises have been possible in Palatine and at least two are planned and will have approval at Northwest Highway and Rohlwing Road. (These buildings will be part of the Winston Park Northwest Corp. planned development.)

THE LETTER of objection is probably the longest and most detailed ever sent to the county.

Normally, in zoning cases, a perfunctory "denial" by the village of a proposed project is enough to have it defeated by the county board.

However, indications from the county zoning board are that it favors this project and will not accept merely perfunctory objections.

Arlington Heights also will formally object to the project.

Recently the Northwest Municipal Conference, a confederation of northwest villages, also passed a formal resolution objecting.

Palatine's PTA groups from the Winston Park area have filed objections against the project.

As a followup to these formal motions, Palatine officials have been in contact with suburban county board commissioners to make sure the municipalities' position is understood. (P

4-H Turkey Eggs: Will They Hatch?

Three members of the Barrington Pioneers, one of the oldest agricultural 4-H Clubs in northern Cook County, have added a special "research study" to their 4-H poultry project work program.

Mary Kelly, 10, of Barrington and Laurelle Lonze, 10, and David Dziadula, 12, both of Palatine, are trying to hatch turkeys from the "un-laid" turkey eggs provided by Polo Food Products Co. of Chicago.

THESE 4-H members currently manage the family laying flock as part of their 4-H project. They have selected from their flock of laying hens a "broody-hen" to serve as foster mother to the "un-laid" turkey eggs. Various poultry specialists report the project should be moderately successful. It is expected the hatch date for these turkey poults will be the week of June 26.

Frank Murray Jr., operations vice president of Polo Food Products reports the turkey eggs were removed from breeder hen turkeys recently slaughtered at their Land O'Goshen processing plant in New Paris, Ind.

Frank Wollney of Barrington, local adult leader of the 4-H Club, reports the results of this special project, if successful, will be shown at the North Cook County 4-H Fair to be held at Sundance Ranch, Roselle and Golf Road, the first week of August. (P

Committeeman Candidates Speak

GOP Must Have Good Suburban Leadership

by EUGENE F. SCHLICKMAN

Traditionally, the Republican Party's strength in Illinois has been downstate—but in recent years this strength has shifted to suburban Cook County where Wheeling Township is fast becoming the largest and most influential area.

We can be justifiably proud of the record of the Republican organization in Wheeling Township over the past four years. While Republican fortunes were at their lowest ebb in 1964, our organization nevertheless delivered whopping majorities for every Republican candidate on the ticket. For example:

EUGENE F. SCHLICKMAN

—A larger plurality for Don Rumsfeld in 1964 than in 1962;

—The third largest plurality in the entire state for Barry Goldwater;

—The fourth largest plurality in the entire state for Chuck Percy.

We cannot rest on past laurels; nor can we look just to June 14. We must look to the November general election and to all the Novembers that will follow. We must continue to build on this solid Republican foundation.

IN THE WEEKS since I announced my candidacy for Republican Committeeman I have spelled out just a few of the ways in which we can further enhance our strength and effectiveness:

—A "Hi Neighbor" to welcome new residents, to inform them about our community, our local government, and the Republican party;

—Periodic newsletters to all residents on issues, people and behind the scenes reports on politics;

—An "open 'door'" policy based on constant availability and going out into neighborhoods to talk to and hear from interested residents;

—Coordinating Republican activities to eliminate overlapping;

—A citizens advisory committee to draw upon the advice and talents of leading Republican citizens in the township and secure broad-based support for the precinct captains' organization.

In short, let us aggressively reach out to interest more people in our party, broaden our base, and bring politics and government closer to the people.

For 10 years — since graduating from law school — I have worked in the Republican party locally. First as a block worker, then as a precinct captain and area chairman, as township chairman of the Republican Citizens League, and as one of 59 Republicans elected to the Legislature in the 1964 at-large election. I was twice elected as village trustee and was Arlington Heights' Young Man of the Year in 1960.

I know Wheeling Township, its people and its needs, its potential and its challenges. Unlike my opponent, my office is in this township, and I will not be a "commuter committeeman." I will be available to provide the constant leadership that political organization demands. Because I work in the township, I am here 60 per cent more of the time than is the average commuter. The committeeman's position is not a full-time job, but I'll spend more time at it than anyone has before, or my opponent could.

EVERY CAMPAIGN has its "surface" issues—issues that may appear plausible at first blush but can't withstand analysis, like the supposed "missile gap" of the 1960 campaign or the "trigger happy" charges of 1964. Such is the charge that one man cannot hold both a public and a party office. Experience indicates quite the contrary.

In our north suburban area alone, Floyd Fulle, GOP committeeman in neighboring Maine Township, and Bill Erickson, committeeman in Evanston Township, are elected members of the county board. Terrel Clarke from Lyons Township and Robert Hatch from Chicago's 19th Ward (a strong Republican ward) both distinguished themselves while serving in the Legislature and leading their local organizations as Republican committeemen.

Look no further than our present state and county slate: Harris Rowe, our candidate for state treasurer, is a county chairman. Ed Kucharski, candidate for county treasurer, is a ward committeeman. Does my opponent object to their candidacies? Does he oppose their election because they seek to hold both a public and party office?

Don't just take my word for it. Consider what Tim Sheehan, chairman of the Cook County central committee, had to say at a recent luncheon of the suburban Republican committeewomen:

"Being a state representative can actually allow a person to spend more time as a committeeman. In my opinion it can also mean a stronger, more effective local organization."

And consider the opinion of W. Russell Arrington, president pro tem of the Illinois Senate, with whom I served last year:

"I see nothing inconsistent in one man holding a public and a party office. In my experience in politics this is often a strength and not a weakness."

OUR OPPOSITION'S campaign further is featured by negativism and coat-tail riding. While he has directed most of his attack against the retiring committeeman and the Republican record in this township, he nevertheless has claimed to be a leading contributor to the party's past local successes. But in fact, my opponent, particularly within the past two years, has sought to divide and weaken the party's local strength for his own personal political gain.

In both my campaign for township committeeman and for state representative, I have received the endorsement of the Wheeling Township Republican organization. I value this trust and confidence highly since it comes from the many men and women who are the bulwark of Republican strength. These are the people who do the door-to-door work for our party.

Novotny: Party Must Win Elections

by THOMAS W. NOVOTNY

The Republican party locally can no longer afford to be an exclusive club, unresponsive to the voters, unwilling to tolerate differences of opinion, unable to find productive uses for all talents. The purpose of a party is to win elections. It's time Republicans did.

From the outset of this campaign, we have stressed the only issues that are germane. They are the relative qualifications of the two candidates for the office of committeeman and the inability of one man to perform two unrelated, time-consuming, political functions efficiently.

I published my platform more than three months ago. Titled "Program for Excellence," it contains four pages detailing positive steps to be taken to improve the local party organization, improve communication with the voters and improve our position in those areas of the township where the other party is making inroads.

MY QUALIFICATIONS for the office, my plans for the future, and my pledge to perform only as committeeman have combined to gain support for my candidacy from an overwhelming majority of the elected officers and directors, of the Regular Republican Club, the Women's Republican Club and the Republican Workshop. The personal endorsements of these working Republicans are significant, since they are all elected by their fellow club members — not hand-picked by a lame-duck committeeman whose purpose is to perpetuate his policies.

THOMAS W. NOVOTNY

In addition, my election as township committeeman has been recommended by the Better Government Association, a citizens' group not subject to inconsequential local pressures, who examined the credentials of both candidates and chose to recommend my election.

To summarize the relative qualifications of my opponent and myself for the office of committeeman:

As current president of the Regular Republican Club and founder and first president of the Republican Workshop, I have had township-wide leadership experience. My opponent has had none.

As western townships campaign chairman for Congressman Rumsfeld, as a statewide project chairman for Percy for Governor, as a township coordinator for Goldwater for president and as an area chairman for Houser for committeeman, I have had experience in depth in campaign management. My opponent has no similar experience.

I HAVE HAD significant experience in political public relations, dealing with the press, party groups and citizen groups. My opponent, again, has no comparable experience.

In the area of fund-raising, I was instrumental in the creation of the "dollar-a-voter" effort described by then National Committee Chairman Miller as the most ambitious he had ever seen. My opponent cannot point to any such record.

Yet these are the functions of the committeeman.

The inability of one man to perform two unrelated political functions can also be briefly summarized. The committeeman's functions, properly performed, require 20 to 30 hours per week, every week. The representative's functions now require attendance in Springfield at least 77 days each two years, plus the endless hours of preparation a good legislator spends.

An annual session is a definite possibility — that's 77 plus days per year.

OUR LOCAL party cannot afford on-the-job training and a continuation of absentee leadership.

During a hard-fought campaign such as this, extraneous issues will arise. For example, it is said that other party leaders also hold public office. True. But those leaders don't face the woefully weak Republican situation we face in our township. It is said that my opponent is in the township more than I am. Fine, but the functions of the committeeman require only that he be available when needed, and I have established that I can spend as much time here as I need to.

The next committeeman must unify the township's Republicans and weld them into a dynamic, efficient organization, using all the talent we have here. I have pledged to ask every single one of my opponent's supporters to take a job in the party. I have already brought dozens of good Republican workers back to Republican effort in my campaign. These are Republicans alienated from the local party by a leadership not responsive to their efforts or the sentiment in the township.

THE REPUBLICAN voter has a critical choice to make on June 14. He can choose a continuation of part-time leadership, or he can choose a full-time, dedicated effort on the part of the Republican committeeman.

He can choose a committeeman candidate who promises much but has delivered little in the areas of committeeman responsibility, or he can choose one experienced man, for one job of committeeman.

I ask the vote of every concerned Republican. (ACM

Last Word

In response to an invitation from the Herald, Thomas W. Novotny and Eugene F. Schlickman, the two candidates for Wheeling Township GOP committeeman, have submitted statements about their candidacies. The statements are printed here verbatim. The committeeman will be chosen in next Tuesday's primary. There is no contest for Democratic committeeman.

Our citizens committee has drawn together community leaders from all four corners of Wheeling Township and has demonstrated how we can broaden our base of support. People who have differed in the past, who represent all shades of philosophy within the party, and some of whom were merely content to vote Republican in the past, are now Republican activists.

THE REPUBLICAN party must be positive. It must be forward looking. Whatever our temporary differences may be, June 15 we must unite and go forward together. When I declared my candidacy for committeeman, I pledged to wage a positive campaign—a campaign that would not give one iota of comfort to the opposition party. I pledge that as your Republican committeeman I will go that extra step, make that extra effort, and expend that extra time to see that all Republicans are welcomed. To paraphase that familiar saying, "Divided we (temporarily) stand, united this Fall!"

I urge you to vote Republican on Tuesday, June 14, and I ask for your support. (ACM

Seek Zoning for Day Nursery on Palatine Road

The Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals will hold public hearings Friday on a request for the rezoning of a one-acre tract in an unincorporated area of Wheeling Township.

The hearings will be at 3 p.m. in the Arlington Heights Municipal Building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Road, Arlington Heights.

The property concerned is located on the north side of Palatine Road approximately 375 feet west of Arlington Heights Road. It is presently zoned single family residential.

Seeking the rezoning are Willard C. and Dorothy B. Kilmer, who propose a day nursery with an approximate enrollment of 75 students for the property.

The village limits of Arlington Heights almost entirely surround the area where the property is located.

Arlington Heights Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson said the acting village attorney, R. Martin Smith, will be present at the hearings. He said the village has not yet determined what its position regarding the proposed rezoning will be. (ACM

Arlington Against Schoenbeck Closing

The proposed closing of Schoenbeck Road at Palatine Road was opposed by the Arlington Heights Village Board Monday night.

The board of trustees adopted a resolution which instead urged the Cook County highway department to install traffic signals at the intersection with Palatine Road.

The resolution also urged that a pedestrian overpass be erected to provide additional safety for school children crossing Palatine Road to and from Prospect Heights schools located at the intersection.

The resolution was adopted at the recommendation of the village board's public safety committee which had met with representatives of School District 23 and the Prospect Heights Improvement Association (PHIA) and discussed the problem with Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson and Village Engineer Charles Tower. The committee was headed by Trustee John J. Walsh Jr.

THE PHIA HAS advocated leaving Schoenbeck Road open and having traffic signals installed at the intersection.

The recommendation of the Cook County highway department has been to close Schoenbeck Road and construct a pedestrian overpass. This plan has been endorsed by a 4 to 3 vote of School District 23. The public safety committee's report to the board of trustees noted these two positions before recommending that the road be left open.

According to the report, closing Schoenbeck Road would tend to have a psychological impact on the unity of the community. It stated in addition that "there appears to be no strong evidence that closing Schoenbeck Road would have a beneficial effect on the safety of the students . . . their welfare would seem best protected by the overpass. Central Community Kitchens Foreseen

A single central kitchen providing a major part of the menu for a city's schools, hospitals, nursing homes and even sending "meals on wheels" to disabled and senior citizens living at home may be the future answer to increasing community responsibility for food services, according to F. J. Corcoran, vice president of Groen Mfg. Co., Elk Grove Village.

Corcoran was one of a panel of experts participating in a unique 3-day seminar for top-level administrators sponsored by the American School Food Service Association in Washington, D. C. Other guest speakers included prominent educators, social scientists and government representatives with a mutual interest in future sociological and technological aspects of school food service.

He spoke of the growing number of communities that have turned to central kitchens as the most efficient and economical solution to their school lunch problems. Corcoran cited a publication of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare that suggested the use of school kitchens for the preparation of home-delivered meals for the aged and handicapped. Enterprising communities, he said, might choose to combine the school lunch and home service functions with catering to hospitals and nursing homes. Run as a non-profit, three-shift operation, the initial investment and production costs of the central kitchen would be painlessly amortized, even as the kitchen is turning out economical meals tailored to local taste.

He called attention to the fact that increasing professionalization of management in the food service industry is leading to centralization of control with uniform standards for food purchasing, processing and packaging.

Increasing labor costs for kitchen personnel are proving to be an important factor in the move to centralized kitchens, Corcoran said. The inclusion of kitchen employees under minimum wage laws will provide the inspiration for greater cost cutting and will, in many cases, cause food administrators to opt for centralization. A Ford Foundation report on an experimental lunch program in New York City's schools was cited by Corcoran as demonstrating a saving of 7 cents per meal when food was prepared elsewhere and reheated and served in a minimal kitchen at the school.

The equipment necessary to prepare tens of thousands of meals daily at a single location is already in existence, Corcoran pointed out. Steamjacketed kettles, automatic mixers and stirrers, food pumps, one-vessel cooking devices, multiple deck and revolving ovens, permit a ratio of kitchen-employees-to-meals-prepared of one to several hundred. Aluminum Panels Used In Addition

The population explosion is causing many families to consider making an addition to their homes. Here is a new way to make that addition — an extra room above a garage, constructed by using pre-fiinshed aluminum panels.

These panels are formed of aluminum sheet laminated to a honeycomb resin-impregnated core. They are designed to form room additions, patios, porches, divider walls and marquees that are compatible to the architecture that is already present.

They are available in natural wood grain and stucco finishes and require no painting. They are constructed to provide very efficient insulation without the use of additional materials.

They are very light weight and designed for fast and easy installation with a unique new system for joining the parts together. They are maintenance free.

Tests have shown these rigid aluminum panels have great strength — will take 10 to 20 times the normal load of ordinary frame construction.

They are widely available through building material supply companies and competitively priced. (RE

Models Now Open at Key West Apartment Project

KEY WEST APARTMENTS' first models are now open. The apartments, first high rise living units in the northwest suburbs, are a block west of Golf Mill shopping center. The project contains 176 apartments in two 10-story elevator buildings.

Models are now open for M. Suson Enterprises' one and two-bedroom luxury suburban high-rise apartments known as Key West.

Virtually the first high-rise living units in the northwest suburban area, Key West Apartments are creating a new "skyline" on Gold Road (9600 North), just one block west of Golf Mill shopping center. The project contains 176 apartments in two 10-story elevator structures which occupy a five-acre site.

Each building will have two automatic elevators, fully carpeted hallways, sound insulation, insulated windows, master TV antenna, washers and dryers, plus gas for heating and cooking included. Each apartment will feature ceramic tile baths with marble vanities, country-size kitchen with built-in gas oven and range, sleeve mounted air conditioner and individual thermostat control for heating.

Both the one and two-bedroom apartments in Key West will also include 16 cubic foot refrigerator-freezer combinations.

Living areas range from 1,000 square feet in one bedroom units to 1,300 square feet in two bedroom units with one-and one-half baths. Sunken living rooms, 15'2" x 26' to 13' x 28'4", highlight the two bedroom apartments. Living rooms in one bedroom apartments measure from 13' x 24' to 13' x 26'4".

According to Morris Suson, president of M. Suson Enterprises, Key West is the firm's first venture into high-rise apartment development. "We sincerely believe that this development offers the largest square foot usage per dollar on the market today and can only benefit the growing northwest suburban area," he says.

Key West's two fireproof, reinforced concrete structures will be finished in white and blue glazed brick with contrasting black-finished exposed structural mullions. Private balconies for each apartment will modify the strong vertical sweep of this "Chicago-style" design.

Facing one another across a broad open area, each high-rise will have a 20' x 30' lighted canopy extending from a two-story paneled entry. The open area will be landscaped in a modified Japanese motif, with winding rock pathways, low shrubbery and splashing fountains.

According to Cordia V. Lefkow, N.S.I.D., interior design consultant for M. Suson, authentic 16th Century antiques will form an important part of the lobby decor in both buildings. Overall motif will reflect a strong Mediterranean influence, with deep blues and greens in floor and wall coverings.

Tenant parking stalls will be located at the rear of each building. In addition, the developers of Key West will provide shuttle bus service without charge for tenants to and from Golf Mill Shopping Center, the Skokie Swift and Chicago and North Western Railway. Key West residents will also enjoy full use of a swimming pool and complete recreation center to be constructed just south of the apartments by the developers. RE

A POPULAR FEATURE of Ramlin Rose Apartments, in Rolling Meadows at Routes 53 and 62, is the extra-large living room in each unit. The sliding glass doors at the far end open out to the patio area or a large, highly-usable balcony. The new apartment community—located just north of Northwest Tollway, at Route 53—offers 1-, 2- and 3-bedroom apartments, with rentals starting at $140 per month.

Balcony Popular at Ramlin Rose North

Among the several unusual choices offered to renters of the new Ramlin Rose North Apartments — located in Rolling Meadows at Routes 53 and 62 — is that of a large balcony just off the living room of the second-story units. This feature is available for the three-bedroom, the two-bedroom or the one-bedroom unit.

In the first-floor apartments, the balcony may be replaced by a patio area just outside the sliding glass doors, which take up nearly the entire end wall of the living room.

Jack Tomlinson, sales director of Kassuba & Pancotto Developers, reports that, "Our objective here is to combine the convenience of apartment living with the opportunity for genuine comfort usually found only in individual suburban-planned homes. And that calls for a large, practical-type balcony — one that can really be used and enjoyed on a summer evening."

TOMLINSON pointed out a number of other choices open to Ramlin Rose renters — with the space-comfort approach emphasized throughout. First of these is the buyers' choice of basic size and floor plan, from among one-, two-, and three-bedroom layouts. Rentals start at $140 per month for the 1-bedroom unit. The one- and two-bedroom apartments have one bathroom; the three-bedroom, one-and-a-half baths.

Over-all, "Ramlin Rose" interior layouts are designed for individual tastes, with traffic patterns carefully worked out. Regardless of size, the traffic center of each apartment is at the juncture of the entrance, the corridor to the sleeping area, and the kitchen-dining area.

The living room, itself, is large enough to serve as the family room. According to size of apartment, the living room varies from over 17' to 19' in length, and from 12'6" to 13' in width. The heavy, floor-to-ceiling sliding glass doors open out to the patio area or to the balcony. The latter is railed in decorative wrought iron — is approximately six feet in depth, and is as wide as the family-living room.

IN EACH apartment, the dining and informal eating areas are attractively combined. Convenient arrangement is the main objective here. Throughout all Ramlin Rose apartments, there are many extra-size closets with sliding doors. And in the one- and two-bedroom units, there is a walk-in closet and dressing room.

Ramlin Rose North provides wide, open park-like spacing between buildings, will occupy seventy acres when finished. A community center, with two pools, will serve residents — and special playground areas are planned for the children. Off-street parking will be provided for every family, and all exterior maintenance is cared for the year 'round by the management.

Furnished model apartments may be seen at Ramlin Rose North each day from noon to 8 p.m. — and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on weekends. The community is located just north of the Northwest Expressway, at Illinois Routes 53 and 62.

Golf Mill to Show 'Ten Commandments'

Cecil B. DeMille's "The Ten Commandments," epic spectacle dramatizing the life of Moses, will begin an engagement at the Golf Mill Theatre tomorrow (Friday).

Stars of the film classic are Charlton Heston as Moses, Yul Brynner, Anne Baxter, Edward G. Robinson, Debra Paget and Sir Cedric Hardwicke.

This marks the first showing of "The Ten Commandments" since its original record-breaking run nearly 10 years ago. The picture was 10 years in planning, three years in writing and two years in actual production. The record cast, the biggest ever assembled for a single film, numbers more than 25,000. Shown in CinemaScope and Technicolor, the film was made on location in Egypt at places described in the Bible.

"The Ten Commandments" will be shown at Golf Mill uncut three times on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and twice Monday through Thursday.

Summer's Show Opens At Gallery

"Landscape, Seascape and Escape" is the title of a new showing of art works at the Countryside Gallery, 10 W. Miner Street, Arlington Heights.

The show opens with a reception tomorrow (Friday) night from 7:30 to 10:30 to which the public is invited.

Works by all 35 of the Gallery artists will be on view, including oil paintings, watercolors, sculpture, pottery and silver jewelry. The show will run until July 31.

Regular gallery hours are from 1 to 4 p.m. daily except Monday. All works are for sale, and most may be rented. Browsers are welcome.

For further information, interested persons may call 253-3005 during gallery hours. (Bill

Curtain Time for Village Theatre

Crews Work Hard to Ready 'Gideon'

There is a rumor circulating in the northwest suburbs that little green elves from the Black Forest—or possibly the Ned Brown Forest Preserve—conjure up Village Theatre sets in one night, then disappear at cock crow, leaving finished construction behind them.

This is not true.

The fact is that the little green elves receive much help from the members of Village Theatre, who are now busily producing sets, sound, costumes, props, make-up and lighting for VT's spring production of "Gideon."

THE LITTLE green elves are lucky; they mend things and make shoes in one night, between the hours of midnight and cockcrow, and manage to dance a bit while working. It takes Village Theatre from three to five weeks, including weekends — and without dancing, to produce a workable stage for its actors.

The set designer, Dave Dove of Arlington Heights, works a couple of weeks in advance to prepare the plans which produce the set, then rides herd on the construction crew to be sure they follow directions.

Production crews must fight too short production schedules, inadequate space in which to work — usually somebody's garage — and sources of supply which dry up at awkward moments.

"We cleaned Ace Hardware out of chicken wire," says Dave Dove, "and I still need 50 more feet."

CREW WORK for "Gideon" is more complicated than usual, due to a large cast and several special set effects. While stage manager Bob Hawley and his assistant, Alice Linda, marshal 38 people backstage, the construction crew must move tents and rocks and trees without getting them onto anyone's toes.

The property crew handles such diverse equipment as 10 spears, shields, food and drink on platters, a four-foot silver foil trumpet and one dead goat, made of an old blanket and newspaper stuffing.

By the time the production of "Gideon" reaches the stage at Wheeling High School this weekend, the costume people will have sewn a staggering array of robes and a belly dancing costume and will have constructed papier mache armor. The make-up crew will have plastered 26 beards on 26 men with much spirit gum and a few small prayers that the beards will stay on till the end of the show.

OVERSEEING all this activity is Mary Estrella, productions manager, and her assistant, Polly Johnson. Crews are:

Construction: Dave Dove, set designer; Al Estrella, Jim Smith, Rich Wilson, Jerry McGrath, Mel Freeman, Jerry Nemecek, Herb Braden, Floyd Johnson.

Costumes: Bette Grayson, chairman; Carolyn Burkett, Shirley Freeman, Penny Braden, Helen Aagaard, Charmaine Sayre, Donna Tread, Stella Pevsner.

Sound: Al Estrella.

SET DECORATION and painting: Carol O'Dea, chairman; Wilma McGrath, Sheila Baker, Betty Randolph, Gladys Pownall, Marge Collins, Shirley Scott, Betty Weber.

Make-up: Lynn Lobenhofer, chairman; Janet Hausler, Tom Grisell, Doris Silver, Harriet Schultz, Lee Sechrist.

Set props: Kay Hawley, chairman; Arlene Nemecek, Betty Brooks, Judy Owen.

Hand props: Chris Bauske, chairman; Joyce Zeller, Pat Breitsprecher, Lois Schwartz, Lucille Dukes, Binki Wilson, Barbara Theil, Dot Watkins, Mary Spellman, Charlotte Shaughnessy.

LIGHTS: Marian Malcolmson, chairman; Stella Pevsner, Anita Wilkins, Doris Paterson.

"Gideon" will be presented this Saturday and Sunday and again Friday and Saturday, June 17 and 18, at air-conditioned Wheeling High School, 500 S. Elmhurst Road, Wheeling. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturdays, 7:30 p.m. Sunday. For tickets and information on block sales readers should call CL 9-3200. (Bill

THURS., JUNE 9, 1966

LIAT AND HER MOTHER, Bloody Mary, played by Phyllis Locker of Arlington Heights, left, and Sarah Levin of Hoffman Estates, sing about the virtues of "Happy Talk" in this scene from the Best Off Broadway Players production of "South Pacific." The musical is scheduled for June 24 and 25 and July 1 and 2 at Barrington High School.

Hit Tunes Numerous In 'South Pacific'

Take a musical comedy with a serious message, a bittersweet love affair that ends tragically and a title out of a geography book and it doesn't sound like an all-time hit, but add Rodgers and Hammerstein, call it "South Pacific" and it can't be anything else.

Best Off Broadway Players' next production, to be presented June 24 and 25 and July 1 and 2, ran for 1,694 performances after it first opened on Broadway in 1949 and is probably the most beloved score in musical comedy. Almost every musical number from "South Pacific" is familiar, and most of them have become popular standards.

These tunes include "Some Enchanted Evening," "Bali Ha'i," "Younger Than Springtime" and "I'm In Love With A Wonderful Guy," along with the men's chorus numbers, "Bloody Mary" and "There Is Nothing Like A Dame," and Nellie's "Honeybun," "I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Outa My Hair" and "Cockeyed Optimist."

WITH "HAPPY Talk," "This Nearly Was Mine" and the delightful children's game "Dites Moi, Pourquoi," "South Pacific" contains enough hit songs for two or three successful musicals.

Musical director for "South Pacific" is Ray Chiorgno of Barrington, who directed the music for BOB's first two shows, "Annie Get Your Gun" and "Showboat." The production is being directed by Richard Tyler of Chicago, who was responsible for the BOB presentations of "Oklahoma," "Pajama Game," "Kiss Me, Kate" and "Flower Drum Song." Tyler is known to audiences in the Northwest suburbs as resident director for Village Theatre in Arlington Heights.

At McGregor

Spec. 4 Edward F. Kneip, son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Kneip, 747 N. Lincoln Ave., Addison, recently participated in an Army Air Defense Command "short notice annual practice" (SNAP) at McGregor Missile Range, N. M.

His unit, Battery D, 1st Missile Battalion of the 60th Artillery, Chicago, is firing missiles at radio-controlled aerial targets during the exercise.

SNAPS are designed to maintain the combat readiness of air defense units. Only 48 hours' notice is allowed before units are airlifted to firing ranges.

During the SNAP, elements of Spec. Kneip's unit remained in Chicago to maintain air defense in the area.

The soldier entered the Army in January 1965, and completed basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky.

Kneip was graduated from St. Benedict High School in 1960 and attended DePaul University, Chicago. (5WUS

At Lincoln

Time to Make Your Selection

The Way We See It

Our Selections For Legislature

Republican voters Tuesday will select the two candidates who will represent their party in the November elections for 3rd District state representative. Five candidates are seeking the Republican voters' endorsement.

We recommend the selection of Eugene F. Schlickman and David J. Regner.

Schlickman, 36, is the only incumbent legislator of the five. During his first term in the Illinois House, Schlickman has been one of the outstanding young men of the Legislature and of his party. He has compiled an excellent record.

Regner, 35, has been active in Republican politics for 10 years. His work on behalf of the Elk Grove Township organization has substantially aided the party there. In addition, his civic activities have won him several state and national Jaycee recognitions. We believe Regner, like Schlickman, would give aggressive attention to the needs of this district; would enhance the stature of the Republican Party and the Legislature; and would strengthen Republican determination to meet the problems facing the people of this state and district.

Among the other three candidates, Robert L. Hesse is expected to be elected Palatine Township's next GOP committeeman, a job for which he is unopposed. William Means has demonstrated his interest in state affairs but not a concurrent familiarity with the major problems facing the state.

We find the fifth candidate, William J. Moore, to have exceptional qualifications. Moore, however, does not have organizational backing and is unlikely to capture a large share of the vote. We hope that will not discourage him from remaining active in politics, where his thoughtful, articulate voice will be of value.

There is no formal contest on the Democratic side. Both candidates, Eugenia Chapman and Bernard M. Peskin, will be nominated.

Owing to the makeup of this district, however, only one of these two incumbent Democratic representatives is likely to be elected in November. Supporters of each candidate, therefore, are urging Democrats to cast their three votes for one of the candidates rather than splitting their ballot, with 1½ votes for each. That will provide an indication of Democratic preference among the two candidates.

Both have good legislative records. Peskin has made an excellent legislator from the state wide point of view but has not been a strong representative in terms of searching out and working on the problems of this particular district.

Mrs. Chapman has demonstrated far more interest in the 3rd District and has been more aggressive in representing it. Despite her shorter and more modest legislative exposure, we think she should be the Democrats' first choice.

For State Senator

Management of state affairs in Illinois has too often been bogged down in discord, petty partisanism, and short-sightedness. If state government is to function, let alone survive, it must start demonstrating that it can be a responsible, effective servant of the people.

Revitalization of state government is a big order, but it may be assisted through selection of qualified state candidates responsive to the hopes and fears of their constituents, capable of understanding and discussing issues, and alert to opportunities for state action.

Nowhere is this need more apparent than in the Illinois State Senate.

Republican voters in the 3rd and 39th Districts have the opportunity Tuesday to nominate two well-qualified men for State Senator. They are Robert O. Atcher in the 3rd District and Jack T. Knuepfer in the 39th.

Atcher's wide experience in municipal government and his intimate acquaintance with area problems enable him to understand the needs and concerns of this growing suburban area.

Knuepfer was elected state representative in the 1964 at-large election. Prior to entering state politics, he was active in Elmhurst city government. In both areas of government he has been highly-respected as an effective and hard-working legislator.

Both are men with the qualities of leadership which will enable them to make positive and imaginative contributions to the Republican Party as well as to state legislation.

For Committeeman

Schaumburg Township voters Tuesday will elect new leaders for both Republican and Democratic organizations.

In making a choice for these contests, we have considered several factors: how they have demonstrated party loyalty and service; how effectively they will direct the party organization; how they will seek to guide the party's development.

We recommend the election of Donald Totten as Republican committeeman and John Ewen as Democratic committeeman.

Both are active in their regular organizations and totally committed to building a strong and vigorous party. Both are men with demonstrated party loyalty and proven records of party service.

Schaumburg Township's regular organizations will be well-served by the election of Totten and Ewen.

Critic's Corner

Modern Vets Don't 'Join'

By JACK NEUKOM
Staff Writer

Trouble with people now a days is: they aren't joiners.

A joiner is the person who over the years has devoted more time to social, fraternal, civic, patriotic, and veteran groups than he has to his own family. He has membership cards to prove it.

The problem is a serious one, especially with veterans' organizations - mainly Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

First of all, membership in the two groups is restrictive—restricted to men who have served in the armed forces during a war time period as defined by Congress. It's doubly restrictive for VFW members, for all must have been overseas during their wartime service.

NEUKOM

As the years go by and no third world war pops up, a shortage of potential members grows. True, Korean veterans are eligible, as are the men serving in Viet Nam, but this is the real crux of the problem in the first place. These younger men aren't joiners.

WORLD WAR I vets started the clubs. World War II vets continued the clubs. Now the show seems to be about over.

The continuing serial isn't continuing and the curtain is about to fall on the last act; an act that may last 10, 20 or 30 years, depending on additional circumstances.

Veterans returning from the 1916 conflict were swept up in waves of patriotism and joy over the war's end. WW II vets had the same reception. This enthusiasm brought about a natural "I want to be known as a vet" feeling. Posts were organized. Dues were low. Members came and remained.

THE FIRST clubrooms were one or two-roomed affairs rented from downtown businesses. A meeting room and bar were the only usual requirements. Money wasn't a problem for they had the old stand-by - gambling.

There were the overworked one armed bandits, punch boards, dice games, and later on "the tickets" came into the forefront followed by everyone's friend—bingo.

Never a worry. The clubs had members and the members had a place to go for entertainment and to talk over war stories. Besides, the cost of refreshments was kept at a minimum by receipts from gambling.

IN FACT, the money came in so fast that the organizations soon were buying land, getting bids and putting up their own buildings. Or remodeling projects were undertaken in older buildings. As the mortgages dwindled, the organizations over night became big business.

But ten or 15 years ago the bubble began to show weak spots-and now it is ready to break. The breaking point is being reached through the lack of joiners, rising costs, and the drive against gambling.

Parades, boys baseball, flag presentations to schools and churches, carnivals, circuses, fireworks displays, hospital visits, color guards, drum and bugle corps, shiny helmets and past commander banquets may all be lost to the ever changing American scene. All of these are present-day activities of local veterans' clubs.

IT'S A SIMPLE matter of economics. The lack of new joiners has diminished the force of active workers in the clubs, and the ban on gambling brought about by zealous law enforcement politicos (especially in Illinois) has brought about a drastic reduction in revenue.

Bingo is out. No more card games. Slot machines are smashed when found. The "word" is out.

All of this is making it harder and harder to find men willing to be the commanders, adjutants, finance officers and patriotism chairmen of their posts. Who wants to work without pay, especially when you have to sit up nights thinking of ways to keep the clubroom doors open and still make a profit for all members?

The early day organizers had it easy. Not only were they joiners, they also had an easy time making a profit each year.

Times have changed. Being a vet is "out." It will soon be all the way out.

Man in the News

The Remedy Hunter

by PAT HENSEL
Staff Writer

Dr. Charles Lang, director of the DuPage County Public Health and Welfare Department, is an articulate man who uses earthy words when he talks about his job.

Roughly, his job is to diagnose DuPage County ills and prescribe remedies.

These ills run the gamut from encephalitis in horses to deterioration of families. Remedies range from mosquito abatement to mental health clinics.

Lang is just winding up his seasonal confrontations with flood victims, and is turning to the imminent problem of Medicare.

IN BETWEEN, he's pondering how to "get people to help themselves live longer," how to "best teach sex education" and how to "hold families together."

Lang is looking to the July 1 start of Medicare "with apprehension." He doesn't know "how many people will be asking for nursing service in their homes."

He's even more worried about Jan. 1, 1967, when Medicare applicants will be eligible for entry into nursing homes.

"We'd much rather know as soon as possible what the demand will be," he said. There are a lot of preparations to be made.

RIGHT NOW, he has about 35 public health nurses, and another 12 women in training at the DuPage County Civil Defense Center.

The dozen women are learning how to be nurses' aides, so they can follow up with in-the-home bedside care recommended by the visiting registered nurses.

Lang has no idea how great the demand will be for in-the-home medical assistance. He does know, however, that nursing homes are about 85 per cent filled. It will be up to him to make sure there's room for everyone wanting it Jan. 1.

"Of course, we're much better prepared than counties without a health department or a convalescent home," he noted.

THE HEALTH director uses strong words to describe the aftermath of flooding and inadequate sewer systems.

He would like to see the public works and the health departments working together to provide an over-all authority to prevent serious drainage problems.

"The people who call me think our department has the equipment to ease a flooding problem," he said. "We have no pumps, no dredging equipment. All we can do is give advice or, when justified, instigate legal action."

ACCORDING TO Lang, there has been no outbreak of disease this year that can be attributed to sewage backup. But, the possibility is always there.

"We don't have to bother with the classical epidemic diseases," he added. Lang had predicted there would be no measles epidemic in the county this year, and he was right. The feared polio season also is a thing of the past.

Typhoid, typically a sewage-borne disease, is not a great threat to the county. But, Lang disclosed there are several tyhpoid - carriers he checks periodically. Intensive records are kept on these people.

Then, he's bucking for a countywide mosquito abatement district, to prevent encephalitis, among other things. He said the disease gets to horses—and eventually to people — from mosquitoes which pick it up from small rodents or birds.

IN LANG'S opinion, the two worst diseases in DuPage County are family deterioration and obesity:

"Family deterioration is a social ill which has community - wide repercussions. Families come out from the city, mom goes to work, there's a breakdown of communication, kids don't show up in school, and the community suffers."

The county mental health clinic works with such families, and the medical clinic administers the immunizations and medicines which these families ignore.

There also is a psychologist to teach parents how to teach sex to children.

OBESITY BUGS Lang: "The typical coronary victim is the suburbanite with bad health habits. He's tense. He runs to the train in the morning and runs to get back home at night.

"He smokes, he drinks, and he's obese."

Lang attributes several diseases directly to obesity, and calls it "the chief nutrition problem in DuPage."

Psychologically, "eating is a way of rewarding yourself if people haven't been treating you nice. In this county, eating is an end in itself."

Lang is a man of many qualifications—they're framed and cover one wall of his office. But, a pencil-holder on his desk gives his secret away.

Almost the only non-official-looking item in the room, it's inscribed with the medical term for a drug. His dictionary says that drug is a tranquilizer.

A Distorted View of Moon

by DAN BAUMANN
Managing Editor

"They only have two six-minute windows to get through today."

"Huh?" looking up from my morning paper.

"I said they only have two six-minute windows to get through," my wife repeated.

BAUMANN

Still only partially awake and thoroughly preoccupied by the morning news, my mind began to react much like those mechanical change sorters at the toll road entrances; I could almost hear the clinking as each word tried to fall into an appropriate slot. Fall they wouldn't.

"Who? What window?"

"Stafford and Cernan. The astronauts. They're going up today."

THE TONE implied I'd make a lousy change sorter.

"Oh, ya."

Another space walk scheduled. Another two-man flight. Another space rendezvous. That stuff was beginning to gets old hat.

Not to my wife. She watches the launching of every manned rocket. At least she watches the countdown; at the exact moment the engines are ignited, she closes her eyes. When a successful launch is announced, her ability to watch returns.

In the next few days, I knew, I would be treated to a whole new vocabulary. ("The nose shroud didn't detach from the target vehicle." "Cernan got pretty tired out during the EVA—extra vehicular activities." "It was the first visual splashdown. They carried it on live TV, through the Early Bird satellite.")

BUT THAT was still to come. I was, and would remain, preoccupied by The Story on Page 5.

Surveyor I was to show me my first real moonscape. Momentarily, it was to settle on the moon's surface and begin transmitting photos back to earth. It would be a moment I'd long dreamed of.

True, the Russians already had published a few photos from their puny version of Surveyor I. But their quality was poor, and all they showed me was a distorted slope and a few rocks.

The moon, I knew, was not like that. Certainly that was not the moonscape familiar to American boys who, like me, grew up on a diet of science fiction comic books.

WHEN THE first real moon photos (ours) were published, I knew, the eye would be dazzled by an array of pock marks and craters beyond imagining. In the mysterious way of all real moon scenes, the curvature of the moon would be clearly visible on the horizon.

In the distance, there would be other classic moonshapes: Is that a rock out there, or could it be a cactus? Surely that strange object is a mark of long-ago habitation.

With a strange, silent beauty, the earth's globe would shine overhead; the blue seas, white polar caps and green fields would be defined clearly—not out of sync like the comic book versions.

I could hardly wait to see the first picture. When I did, I could hardly believe my eyes. A picture of the Surveyor's foot. Surely more pictures would come.

THEY DID. There was a rock. Ugly rock, about six inches high and 18 inches long, according to the scientists. Lots of little rocks, too. Even a mountain range. Or were they piles of rocks?

Could this barren spot be the same place I'd dreamed of visiting as a youngster? Where was the mystery?

Surveyor I did me a great favor. I'll no longer envy the first man to set foot on the moon, wishing it were I who had embarked on this great adventure. I prefer the moon of my old, dog-eared comic books.

Now if I can just find them again . . .

Major Problem, Says Graham

Legislation Necessary To Retain Top People

State Senator John A. Graham, (R-Barrington), said this week that one of the major problems facing state government today is how to keep top-qualified personnel in government service when private industry usually offers so much more in terms of wages and fringe benefits.

"The only way we can attract the quality people we need is to work toward legislation that will make state government employment attractive and offer at least some of the benefits individuals can receive in private industry," Graham said.

He went on to say, "Many of our Republican efforts in the senate last year were designed to help solve this problem. We Republicans believe in a strong civil service system for state employes and positive support to attract and maintain a high quality professional staff to perform the necessary functions of state government."

GRAHAM STATED that the Republican legislation in 1965 benefited every employe directly, from the governor down to the newest trainee.

He pointed to Republican-sponsored legislation creating a state contribution program for group, life, hospitalization, medical and surgical insurance.

He also said Republicans sponsored an act creating a grievance procedure for state employes. This legislation was passed by both houses, only to be vetoed by Gov. Otto Kerner.

"Although the governor vetoed this good bill that was the result of two years of careful study, we Republicans will continue to press for a just grievance procedure for state merit employes."

ANOTHER bill Graham cited was the bill to provide a 40-hour work week for most state employes. This bill would have granted equal status to state employes in relation to comparable jobs in private industry. He said the Democratic controlled House of Representatives defeated this bill in a short-sighted false economy move.

Graham went on to say, "Republican concern for the state pension systems reflects a strong desire to keep retirement rights secure for loyal state employes."

"All state pension funds are inadequately funded and should be supplemented now. The state employes' retirement system presently faces a deficit of over $255 million."

"This deficit is part of a pattern of wanton disregard for proper pension financing of all pension funds exhibited by the Democrat administration."

GRAHAM said local government officials and employes received substantial support from the Republicans. One major Republican bill which became law provides salary increases for a variety of county officers.

Another Republican piece of legislation established and adequately financed the Illinois Local Law Enforcement Officers Training Board, he said.

Graham went on to say, "Republicans believe public safety and sound government employment policies are and should remain above politics.

"Republican legislators will continue to fight for the promotion and maintenance of the highest professional standards in government service. The Republican belief in limited government is always coupled with the concern that within those limits government has the responsibility to provide the best service possible." (B10

Miss Coryell Wins Top YMCA Award

"Illinois Area Physical Education Director of the Year" is the honor recently conferred on Miss Helen Coryell, women's and girls' program director of Northwest Suburban YMCA. The award was made at the Illinois YMCA Health and Physical Education Congress held in Springfield May 20-21.

MISS HELEN CORYELL

Miss Coryell was chosen from the 300 'Y' physical education directors in the state for her consistent, high-quality program leadership since she entered the profession in 1950. She is the first woman to receive the award since it was initiated 12 years ago.

The committee which selected her for this year's honor is composed of the six men who received the same recognition in each year since 1960.

Helen became interested in 'Y' work while a member of Central YMCA and by serving as lay chairman for the city swim, track and volleyball committee of the Metropolitan YMCA of Chicago. In 1950 she joined the professional ranks at Lincoln-Belmont 'Y' as women's and girls' secretary and after 10 years transferred to Northwest Suburban in the same capacity.

In 1955 she was one of two women from the Illinois Area YMCA to atend the World Alliance Centennial in Paris, chaperoning 100 boys and girls from this state at the international meeting. The trip included a month's tour of Europe.

She has served as president of the 'Y' Women's and Girls' Secretary Society of Chicago and for the past three years has been secretary of the Illinois Area Physical Education Society.

At Northwest Suburban 'Y' she heads all of the women's and girls' programs and is the staff person responsible for the 'Y' Women's Auxiliary.

Helen and her mother, Mrs. Vendla Coryell, reside in Arlington Heights. (B10

Regner Re-emphasizes Need for Leadership

David J. Regner, Republican candidate for nomination to the Illinois House of Representatives has re-emphasized the need for strong, competent Republican leadership in the legislature from this district.

"We have one of the most heavily Republican districts in the entire state, and for us to be represented by one Republican and two Democrats is intolerable to me, and the rest of the Republican voters in the area, I'm sure."

Representatives from any given area accept a mandate, when elected, to gear their legislative work to the needs and desires of the majority of the voters in the district, and this cannot be effectively accomplished unless their philosophy and that of the majority of those they represent is in agreement. Republicans must represent Republicans."

OUTLINING the basic tenets of his beliefs, he continued, "I believe that government can be both effective and economy-minded. Conservative budgeting of governmental expenditures is the best way to reduce taxes and excessive regulations.

"I am in complete agreement that those who are less fortunate than we are must be helped, but not through programs which destroy initiative and create a welfare state.

"Freedom can be preserved only through a belief in individual liberty and our free enterprise system. To do less is to deny man his basic pride as a human being."

Regner, who has consistently emphasized that his business arrangements are such that he will be able to devote the necessary time to being a full-time, working legislator, will resign his post as Elk Grove Township auditor if elected.

Regner, operator of his own private accounting and tax service, has laid particular stress on the need for clarification and the weeding out of inequities in our state's tax structure..."and this can best be accomplished by passage of the Revenue Amendment."

He continued, "I also feel very strongly that the governor must be required to present his budget to the General Assembly not later than Feb. 15 of the biennial session so that all representatives will have ample time to study and evaluate the requests."

IN SUMMARY, Regner outlined several other points that he feels are of immediate importance, including the need for an extension of voting hours until 8 p.m. so suburban voters will have a real opportunity to cast their vote; the need for codification of the township statutes to remove archaic provisions and simplify them for proper usage in our modern society; a consolidation of data processing facilities in the state to eliminate duplication and costly waste; the need for promotion of a greater degree of cooperation between the Chicago Sanitary District and the State Sanitary Water Board for alleviation of flood conditions.

Regner emphasized the great need for unity within the party, and pledged again that "I take sincere pride in being a real Republican, and whether I am privileged to be on the ballot in November or not, I will work just as hard as possible for the election of the entire Republican Party slate from top to bottom."

He has been formally endorsed by the Regular Republican Organizations of Elk Grove, Maine and Northfield Townships, the Cook County Young Republicans, The Elk Grove Township Young Republicans and the mayors of Mount Prospect, Elk Grove Village and Des Plaines. (B10

Need Bathroom Storage Space?

Do you have space going to waste under your bathroom lavatory? If so, you might consider installing a vanity lavatory. It consists of a bowl set into a countertop, with a storage cabinet beneath. It's the type of lavatory that's going into more and more of the new homes being built, according to the Plumbing-Heating-Cool i n g Information Bureau. Many of them are being installed in bedrooms too, the bureau says, since they come in a variety of furniture-like styles that fit into most bedroom decors. (O

For 'Crooked' Style

Recommends Three Varieties Of Unusual Garden Plantings

There was a crooked man who went a crooked mile; he found a crooked six pence against a crooked stile.

The nursery rhyme could go a bit further and describe three crooked trees and shrubs that might have grown in the crooked man's garden.

The three plants for the novel crooked garden are the fantail willow, the corkscrew willow tree and the contorted hazelnut. All three plants are horticultural varieties but fortunately they are available in local nurseries.

The corkscrew willow is a thin spindly tree that occasionally reaches thirty feet. The twisted corkscrew or permanent wave effect is exhibited in trunk, twigs and even leaves.

The tree is true to its willow name. It propagates easily, grows fast and unfortunately is somewhat brittle. It can be used as a single stem specimen or as a center of interest in the e x o t i c garden. Multi-stem clumps make fast growing screens that will quickly form a picturesque setting against a red wood fence.

A smaller interesting shrub is the recently discovered Japanese fantail willow. As the name implies this plant makes an interesting conversation piece in small city gardens. It hasn't been on the market long enough to determine its ulitmate heights. However, it gives every indication that it is a dwarf plant suited to large planters and featured spots near large boulders or a pool.

The branches instead of showing a regular spiral pattern grow very irregularly. They seem to change their growing direction at will. The result is a very gnarled crooked appearance on even the youngest branches.

Flower arrangers clip and save the distorted branches for use in Japanese style flower arrangements. Sometimes the branches are flat and an inch or so wide. Sometimes they are round. yet continually growing in unexpected directions without the aid of the gardener. Like all willows this one is easy to grow and based on last winter's experience, complete l y hardy.

Harry Lauders walking stick is a whimsical name for the contorted hazelnut. Unlike the willows this plant tolerates shade and is very slow growing. Because of its slow growth it is also a suitable subject for large tubs or planters which can be placed on the edge of shady patios.

Because of its interesting loops and circles this shrub is interesting all year long. The silver to black twigs make an interesting pattern against the winter snow. During spring the catkins add dangling ornaments. Sparse summer leaves tend to only make the plant ridiculous. If ever a natural growing plant produced a laugh this is it. In fact even should this plant die, and this is not likely, the dead branches present a most striking feature in the garden. In fact you might say this shrub is "wanted dead or alive." (O

Here's a solution to one of the most oft-heard complaint of flower growers—the finished product of their labors is not always perfect artistically speaking. Plant bulbs and certain annuals in 6 inch clay pots rather than directly in the open ground. If you don't like the effect, pull them out and put them elsewhere for mass effect. Instant flower garden!

Campaign Issues Are Reviewed by Davies

As the GOP senatorial campaign in the Third District comes to a close, candidate William T. Davies summed up his campaign for a Wheeling audience Wednesday night.

Davies claimed he is still the only candidate in the race to publish a platform during this campaign and that both Sen. John Graham incumbent o f Barrington, and Robert O. Atcher have completely ignored any of the issues.

Graham has refused to offer any program for the next session of the legislature, and Atcher talks in broad generalities trying to satisfy all his listeners, while not saying anything specific, Davies said.

Atcher avoids taking a stand on any issue and shows a weakness that the Republican party does not need in Springfield, Davies claimed and added that much legislation is needed in the field of credit abuses, home rule, insurance companies, utility corporation c o n t r o l s, and called for a strong legislative code of ethics.

DAVIES TOLD his audience that if elected he would at all times keep in touch with the voters and ask for their opinions on District problems. He repeated his pledge of one third of his annual salary or $3,000 a year, that would be donated by him for scholarships to District students.

Davies cited his legal background as village attorney in Streamwood and park district attorney in Hanover Park and Streamwood, plus his extensive political work in the Republican party as area chairman for Con. Donald Rumsfeld (R-13); area chairman for Charles Percy, past president of the Hanover Township Y o u n g Republican Organization and past executive board member of the Hanover Township Regular Republican Organization, as an excellent background for the job ahead.

Davies said youth and ability are the needed ingredients to continue the rebuilding job of the Republican party in Springfield and Illinois, and used as examples the great jobs Rumsfeld, Percy, Bill Scott and Ray Page are doing for the Republican party in Illinois, combining this youth and ability. "I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMER

From Mrs. D.W. Groseclose, Childress, Texas: I remember my school days when we gathered in the chapel every Monday morning to sing patriotic songs, usually "America", then offered a prayer. We were then dismissed to go to our rooms to start classes for the week.

At the end of the school term, mothers, pupils, teachers and children went to a nearby woods. The boys gathered firewood and a big pot was filled with stew. Lemonade was made. Swings were placed on the limbs of trees. There was free stew, lemonade and fun for everyone.

This Hopkins County stew soon became famous. It is still made and sold at cafes near the highways. The wooded area was later donated to the city and is now a very beautiful park.

From Allen Fritz, Salford, Pa.: I remember when young men gave up chewing tobacco and turned to cigarettes (horse killers). They began to make more frequent trips to the barbers, who learned how to cut hair. The girls went hay-wire. They chopped off their long dresses, up to the knees, threw away their petticoats and corsets, got their hair cut short, with permanents. Some looked like tumbleweeds, others went for shingle bobs.

In recent years, both boys and girls have gone haywire. Shaggy-dog hair, tight pants and sweaters.

HENRY CHIDLEY, a Prairie View man who makes geese and duck decoys as a hobby examines one of the "lifelike" examples. A native of the northwest suburban area, Chidley is the winner of three national awards for his talent in making geese decoys. (A15

Live Decoys Out, So He Stepped In

A federal law banning the use of live decoys 14 years ago put a Prairie View man in the artificial decoy business.

Seventy-two-year-old Henry Chidley said, "I started making them as a hobby." Chidley, an avid hunter of wild game since he was 14, has a collection of duck and geese decoys in his garage and yard.

Although he started making the geese decoys for himself, friends urged him to enter examples of them in a national decoy exhibit in New York City. His lifelike ducks and geese won him first, second and third places in the exhibit.

AFTER WINNING the prizes, Chidley said a Loop sporting goods store, Abercrombie & Fitch, asked him to make decoys for sale in their store.

He started making geese decoys for the store and sold them for $212 a dozen, but "I couldn't continue to make them and work," he said. Chidley has always worked at a full-time job.

He recently retired from Ekco Containers in Wheeling. He had been a carpenter there 10 years in the model shop constructing prototype wood dies and handling a variety of other duties.

THE DUCK decoys are made from cork and are hollow. The geese decoys are constructed from wire stretched on wood ribs with heads and necks of cork.

Chidley said it was difficult to tell how long it takes to make the decoys because until his retirement in early May he only worked on them "a little while in the evenings."

Born in Arlington Heights, Chidley moved to Des Plaines when he was 9. He moved to the Prairie View acreage with his wife Florence in 1951.

Now that he's retired Chidley says he might start making the geese decoys commercially again. But he added, "I've got so much work to do around here (his home) first."

In relating how he used to hunt in the area that is now the northwest suburbs, Chidley told of wading in water almost shoulder high and shooting geese and ducks in a swamp area that is now Dunhurst in Wheeling. "All that area west of the cemetery in Wheeling used to be under water," he added.

CHIDLEY SAID the area had changed so much that there was little to hunt around northern Illinois.

With the building of huge subdivisions and the movement to the suburban area from Chicago the people crowded out the wild game, said Chidley.

He usually goes to Crab Orchard Lake near Marion and Carbondale once a year, but admitted that he might get down there more often now that he is retired.

He used to go fishing a lot too, but working full time curtailed that, he said.

"I probably will start fishing more now," he added. (A15

Public Lays Blame On Driver: Gallup

"The American people are far more ready to blame the driver than the car itself for the high accident rate in this country," states George Gallup in a recent article reprinted in the National Automobile Dealers Association Washington Report. He adds, "They most frequently name 'carelessness,' 'speeding,' and 'drinking.'"

According to the latest Gallup survey, when asked, "What is the chief reason for auto accidents in your opinion?" 60 per cent of those queried blamed careless drivers; 31 per cent, speeding; and 21 per cent, drinking. Young drivers were blamed by 5 per cent; faulty cars, 3 per cent; and too high-powered cars, 2 per cent.

To the question, "What, in your opinion, should be done to reduce the number and severity of auto accidents?" 16 per cent law enforcement, and 11 per cent indicated they favor stricter penalties for offenders. Better driver education, increasing safety features and cutting down the power of cars each found favor in the eyes of 9 per cent of those interrogated; while two groups of 8 per cent advocated raising the minimum driving age and making license exams stricter.

Other solutions offered were re-testing of drivers (7 per cent), more careful driving (7 per cent), reducing speed limits (7 per cent), and stopping drinking and driving (6 per cent).

When asked who should set higher safety standards for cars, the federal government or the automobile industry, 12 per cent felt it the responsibility of the government; 29 per cent the job of the auto industry; and 55 per cent thought it the problem of both. Four per cent of those polled expressed no opinion. (O

Shade Roof Cuts Patio Heat, Glare

In most parts of the country, a sunshade is essential if the patio is to be enjoyed during the warm, sun-filled hours of the day. It's a sad fact that paving absorbs, retains and reflects heat so that the unprotected patio becomes a veritable griddle early in the day and an oven by mid-afternoon.

With an overhead sunshade, however, much of the heat problem is licked and the patio takes on a more attractive appearance. To do the best job, a sunshade must allow free movement of air, permitting release of rising warmed air and its replacement by cooler air drawn from the surrounding garden. Thus a shade roof built of spaced slats or an open trellis supporting leafy vines will do a far better job than a structure roofed solidly.

THINK OF IT in terms of basic air conditioning principles as opposed to the greenhouse effect created by solid roofing, particularly of translucent materials.

It's not difficult to build a shade roof. They're basically just an assembly of posts and beams.

One easy system uses pairs of 2x4s for the posts, with the beam nailed tetween so that the post members clasp it. The beam may be 2x4 if its span (the width of the patio) doesn't exceed eight feet.

For an eight to 12 foot span, use a 2x6. At the bottom of the post, set in a 4-inch spacer block cut from a 2x4 to make a solid butt. These, and the joining of post and beam, should be triple nailed to prevent twisting.

THE POST and beam units can then be erected at eight-foot intervals along the patio's length, each unit spanning the width of the paving. One- by four-inch boards, 1x2s, or 2x2s are run lengthwise across the top, nailed into each beam. A half inch to one inch spacing is left between the roofing boards.

Post butts are attached to the paving with a post anchor, a stirrup-like affair that holds the post slightly above the patio to allow rain water to drain away. If posts are to be placed beyond the patio's edge, they can be mounted on a concrete pier.

Recommended woods for the project are fir, western red cedar and incense cedar. All weather attractively and quickly, and all will take a stain or paint finish handsomely, if preferred. (O

Order from Chaos: Closet Reclaimed

Considering the unimaginative design of many home closets, it is no wonder they literally spawn clutter and disorganization.

A hanger bar and a shelf extending from one wall to the other more often than not represent the full extent of their "built-in" conveniences. Sometimes they're even lighted.

To restore order out of closet chaos doesn't take a great deal of time, talent and money. A little imagination perhaps and a weekend of do-it-yourself carpentry by the home handyman can achieve the desired results.

The custom cedar closet featured in the accompanying photo illustrates what can be done. Through the installation of a series of shelves and uprights, full use of all available space is realized. Moth-repellency is added by lining the closet with aromatic red cedar.

Note the double hanger bar arrangement on the right and the clever use of shelving to provide storage for bedding and blankets. The full-length shelf at the top provides storage space for luggage and other large and infrequently used articles.

The shelf network was built with 1x6 cedar lumber. Using three boards in union provides shelves with a depth of 18 inches.

The row of 12 by 18 storage compartments in the center can be used for off-the-floor storage of shoes or, because the closet is cedar-lined, for storing household woolens.

The closet reclamation project requires the removal first of all old moldings, brackets and hooks. In other words, strip the closet to the bare walls.

Cedar lining is installed next. This material comes in prepackaged bundles, in boards up to eight feet long, and usually four inches wide. The cedar lining is tongue-and-grooved, a feature which greatly simplifies installation. The pieces are nailed directly to the wall, with no other backing required.

The cedar lining is applied to the wall horizontally, working from the floor up. It's a good idea to fit the pieces together on the floor first, a couple rows at a time, then raise them into position for nailing.

In constructing the shelf network, the 1 by 6 cedar lumber can be used as wall cleats and cross-members for the tall uprights. It also supports the three hanger bars.

This closet has more space to work with than most closets. However, many of the same ideas can be adapted to a small closet.

The point is, a closet needn't be just a "space" with four walls and a door. It can be tailored to suit the storage needs of your family. (O

CUSTOM CLOSET boasts a number of storage features—all of them achieved through the addition of a network of shelving and the application of moth-repellent red cedar closet lining. There's room for storage of household woolens and a hanger bar arrangement that accommodates garments of varying lengths. Floor is uncluttered thanks to the row of five storage compartments which divide the closet into "his" and "her" sections.

16 Precincts in Area To Have Paper Ballot

Voters in 16 northwest area precincts will be marking paper ballots instead of pulling voting machine switches in next Tuesday's primary election.

Wheeling Township will have six precincts where paper ballots will be supplied.

Elk Grove Township will have four paper ballot precincts. In both Schaumburg Township and Palatine Townships, paper ballots will be supplied to three precincts.

THE PAPER ballots must be used because growth in the suburbs has not been matched by increase in the number of voting machines.

Since the last general election, 120 new precincts have been created in the suburban Cook County area.

The Cook County Board of Commissioners has not authorized the $500,000 needed to purchase machines to serve those voting districts.

Thomas King of the Cook County Election Department said the assignment of paper ballots to a precinct hinged on two factors: the size of the precinct and whether or not the district had had paper ballots before.

He said in general the election department assigned paper ballots to the smallest districts —except where there were old districts whose judges were used to the voting machines instead. In that case, the election department was more likely to assign voting machines again rather than upset the polling place routine.

THE PAPER ballots, expected to slow down both balloting and tallying of votes in the precincts where they'll be used will be assigned in Wheeling Township to Precincts 58, 60, 62, 64, 65 and 66. They range in size from 249 to 418 voters.

In Elk Grove Township, precincts with paper ballots instead of voting machines will be Precincts, 4, 9, 35, and 39. Precinct 4 has 279 voters while Precinct 39—one of the newest—has 445.

In Schaumburg Township, paper ballots will be used in Precincts 5, 8 and 17. In Palatine Township the polling places that will have paper ballots are for Precincts 15, 32 and 33. (B10

LaGrange Cops Cup Again . . .

The President's Cup, an award symbolic of athletic supremacy in the West Suburban Conference, has gone to Lyons Township High School for the 20th time since 1940.

The Cup has been awarded since 1924 to the school which has the best all-around record in eight varsity and frosh-soph sports in the West Suburban.

Points are determined on the basis of league finishes. A first gives you one point, a second two, etc. The best you can do — championships at each level in eight sports — would be 16 points.

La Grange won the 1965-66 Cup with 45½ markers, six better than runnerup Glenbard West. York was third with 54½ and Hinsdale fourth with 69½.

Rounding out the eight schools were Riverside-Brookfield with 74, Arlington (which never won the Cup in its 16 years in the WSC) with 83 points, Maine East with 98½ and Downers Grove North with 99½.

Arlington's best efforts were in tennis with seconds at both levels and in varsity basketball with another second.

The idea of the Cup is a good one and we would encourage the Mid-Suburban Conference to initiate such an award — for varsity efforts only. They should not place accomplishments at a frosh-soph or junior-varsity level on a par with the varsity.

In sixteen years of West Suburban Conference baseball Arlington High School varsity teams won 109 games, lost 113, and tied two. The best league mark was 11-3 in 1960 when the Cards finished second behind Maine. Fritz Peterson, now with the New York Yankees, was a pitcher on that 1960 powerhouse.

Player Of Year Has Problems . . .

A lefty labeled the finest pitcher "without a doubt" to face Arlington's American Legion baseball team in its climb to national prominence last summer has been shelved by a sore arm in professional ball.

Ken Fila of Oaha, Neb., the 1965 American Legion Player of the Year and author of a 1-0 masterpiece against Arlington in the Legion World Series in Aberdeen, S. D., is trying to shake his arm problems and start pitching again for Decatur (Ill.) of the Midwest league.

Two kinds of arm trouble have hampered Fila, according to sportswriter Forrest Kyle of Decatur.

Two years ago, he was hit on the elbow while batting in a Legion game.

"Ever since then there has been a pulling in my elbow," Fila told Kyle in an interview for The Sporting News. "But it's not my elbow that's been giving me trouble. I pulled a muscle near my shoulder blade in the first two weeks of spring training."

Fila, who inked a contract for $40,000 with $8,000 in other benefits, was 3-4 for the San Francisco Giants in the Arizona Instructional League.

The southpaw feels his elbow problems stemmed from Legion ball. "I played in a lot of tournaments in cold weather and it contributed to the soreness," he pointed out.

Arlington fans and players who made the trip to Aberdeen for the Legion World Series remember cold weather in which the finals were played. Temperatures were in the 40-degree category with gusts of wind reaching 40-45 miles per hour.

Omaha's Fila and Arlington lefty Tom Lundgren hooked up in a mound masterpiece with many observers calling it the finest game of the World Series. Omaha scored the only run in the sixth on an error, walk, and single.

John Loughman and Paul Splittorff had the only hits off Fila, who struck out 11 and walked two. Arlington's Lundgren fanned 13 and walked four.

Arlington coach Lloyd Meyer remembers Fila as possessing "an excellent curve and good fast ball." "He was a real smart pitcher, too," Meyer recalls, "and without a doubt the best we saw all year."

Omaha went on to gain second place behind Charlotte, N. C. in the Legion World Series.

Arlington Heights was blanked only one other time over the 48-game grind last summer. Downers Grove nailed the locals, 2-0, in a non-league tilt.

Former Prospect Pitcher At Helm

Mt. Prospect to Launch Loop Activity Against Des Plaines

by LARRY EVERHART

Hungry for their first title ever and loaded with experience, Mount Prospect's American Legion baseball nine will embark on its 1966 league schedule Monday at Des Plaines.

Mount Prospect will again be playing in the revised District Nine, which will include four new entries—Morton Grove, Evanston, Glenview, and Northbrook. The Prospect club should have as good a chance as any in an extremely well-balanced and strong loop.

Prospect is managed by Mark Thorne, older brother of Prospect High School basketball and baseball standout J. D. Thorne and himself an outstanding pitcher for the Mount Prospect Legion nine in 1960.

Mark was one of the finest lefties in the Chicago Suburban area in '60 at Prospect High. He worked 65 innings en route to a 6-3 record, striking out 98. In addition, he compiled a snappy 0.53 earned run average.

THORNE. A newcomer to coaching, thinks this could be "the year" for his squad. He has good reason for optimism, with seven returnees from last year's Legion team plus a number of experienced performers from the Prospect High School nine. "The key this year will be our hitting," says Thorne.

A high point (and low as well) for that 1965 entry came in the final league game of the season when the Prospectors had a powerful Arlington unit down 6-1 in the fourth inning after bombing ace Tom Lundgren. Arlington came back to triumph, 8-6, and eventually gain national prominence, but Prospect had shown its hitting strength.

Among the seven veterans from last year's third-place 7-7 squad are two Wheeling preps who should add to the strength at the plate. They are Ken Traversone, who is slated for regular duty in right field, and Tom Manderscheid, a second baseman and outstanding hitter for Wheeling High School this past spring. Manderscheid will handle the center field chores for Mount Prospect.

OTHER PERFORMERS returning from last year's squad, which had an over-all 16-14 record, are pitchers Mike Salata and J. D. Thorne. They are cited by Manager Thorne as two of four key chuckers on this year's mound crew. The others are Tom Lundstedt and Dave league mark.

Lundstedt, another repeat from last year's club and a standout basketball center in the winter, is a valuable all-around performer. In addition to mound duty, Lundstedt will do most of the catching. Tom had a 1-0 pitching standard this spring and was second on the Prospect team in hitting with a .258 league makr.

Rounding out the veterans are three infielders. J. D. Thorne, when he is not on the mound, will handle the job of regular first baseman. This spring, J. D. had a 6-4 record on the hill and led the Knights in hitting, slashing out a .471 league standard.

WHEN THORNE IS hurling, first base duties will be shared by Jim Gumz and returnee Kingman. The third returning infielder is Paul Peterson, who is currently vying for the regular second base job with John Phillips.

Kingman, a big senior who had a 3-3 pitching record this spring, will also be an important hurler. Dave hit .231 in 1966 league action and is capable of helping out with the bat. He has a good fast ball on the hill.

Left field is currently up for grabs with three candidates still being considered. They are Bob

JERRY DONAHUE is a newcomer to the Arlington Heights American Legion entry, and the fire-balling right-hander will play a key role in Arlington's bid to repeat as league champion. Donahue enjoyed an impressive spring as a junior at St. Viator, chalking up a 6-3 record with 82 strikeouts and only 28 walks in 60 innings. He had an 0.35 earned run average. (Staff photo)

As Legion Player

Club Has Possibilities

Experience Shows on Palatine Legion Unit

by LARRY EVERHART

They say pitching is 75 per cent of baseball. Terry Gellinger, Palatine's American Legion manager, hopes that axiom holds true for his team.

Blessed with two strong, experienced arms on the mound corps but somewhat of a question mark at the plate, Palatine's Legion diamonders will swing into an 18-game league schedule Monday when they journey to Morton Grove.

Palatine has experience, boasting eight veterans from last summer's Legion entry which posted a 6-8 league mark. Many of the returnees have two years of high school varsity ball under their belts in addition to a Legion season.

HOWEVER, AMONG members of this year's Legion nine who saw action on the Palatine High School team this spring, which had an 11-7 slate, only one —Ken Johnson — hit over .300. Johnson was eighth in hitting in the Mid-Suburban League with a .323 mark. He also earned all-conference honors and has accepted a college scholarship.

Lack of menacing stickmen may not keep Gellinger's nine from being a contender in this year's 10-team District—at least, not with the credentials the hurlers can claim.

Two pitchers from this year's Pirate varsity, both of whom will toil on the Legion outfit, were among the top seven hurlers in the M-SL in 1966. Their names—Irv Hahnfeldt and Barry Yurtis — are familiar to Palatine baseball followers.

One Game Set; Others Monday

Ten Units in Division; Season Ends July 15th

by Bob Frisk

The success that Arlington Heights enjoyed last summer in American Legion baseball has generated increasing optimism in all the camps as another league title scramble approaches.

The feeling seems to be, "If Arlington could do it, why can't we?"

When you examine the ten-team alignment in the American Legion First Division, that question takes on new meaning.

Several clubs "could do it" but only one will survive after five weeks of pressure-packed competition.

First Division action gets under way Sunday with Northbrook taking on one of the two Park Ridge entries. The eight remaining clubs will kick off their league schedules Monday evening at six o'clock.

OPENING games involving Paddock area legion entries will send Palatine to Morton Grove and Mount Prospect to Des Plaines with Arlington entertaining Glenview.

On Wednesday, June 15, the league schedule sends Arlington to Northbrook and Mount Prospect to Morton Grove with Palatine coming home to host Evanston.

Each club will play eighteen games in what certainly must rank as the strongest American Legion division in the state of Illinois.

IN ADDITION to Arlington Heights, a national finalist in 1965, the First Division includes Northbrook, a team made up of the boys who paced Glenbrook North to the state baseball title, and Park Ridge Red, the youngsters who played on Maine South's state runnerup.

There are Des Plaines (Maine West), the Mid-Suburban Conference champ, and Glenview (Glenbrook South), a flashy member of the powerful Central Suburban.

Toss in dangerous Mount Prospect (Prospect) and Palatine, Suburban League powerhouse Evanston, Morton Grove, and Park Ridge Blue (Maine East) to round out the rugged alignment.

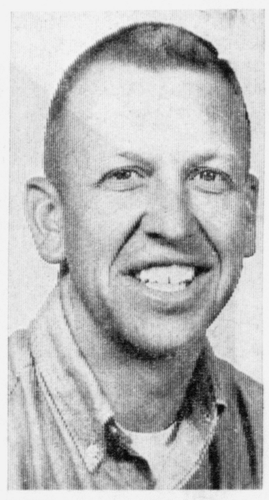
The outfit that survives with the league flag should have a lot to say in the Legion eliminations that conclude a busy summer of activity.

ARLINGTON Heights, which needed a playoff victory over Maine South to annex the Ninth District title in 1965, should learn early how it will stack up in the expanded First Division.

Coach Lloyd Meyer's squad will run into three of the loop's strongest clubs over the first five days of competition.

Glenview, the opponent on opening day, features mound standout Greg Croft, a right-hander who has the scouts extremely interested.

Northbrook, Arlington's opponent next Wednesday, has depth in pitching keyed around touted right hander Ken Kozil and exceptional teenage hitters. Kozil finished 10-1 for the prep campaign as Glenbrook North coasted to the Illinois championship.



LLOYD MEYER
The Drive Begins

ON FRIDAY, June 17, Arlington catches Park Ridge Red, the Maine South entry and the outfit that took the locals into a best-of-three playoff last summer. Maine is coming off a fine 19-4 high school season.

By approximately 8:30 the evening of the 17th Arlington Heights fans will have a good idea if their club is equipped with the personnel to make another strong run for national recognition.

First Division games will be played every Monday, Wednesday, Friday, and Sunday with the finale set for Friday, July 15. Contests begin at six o'clock on wekday evenings and at 1:30 or 2:00 on Sundays.

The preliminaries are almost over . . .

The "Great Race" begins next week!

Also Tie And Defeat . . .

Opening Week Gives Lions Two Victories

A strong pitching effort by right-hander Barry Yurtis and the explosive bat of shortstop Ken Johnson carried Palatine's American Legion baseball team past the Lions of Arlington Heights Sunday afternoon, 14-0.

The loss was the first for the Arlington entry after two victories and a tie. The win was Palatine's first in two non-league outings.

Yurtis struck out 12 and didn't walk a man over seven innings as Coach Terry Gellinger's Palatine crew exploded for 12 hits in coasting to the win..

PALATINE had two three-run innings, a seven-run outburst in the fifth, and pushed across a singleton in the sixth.

Johnson supplied the long blows as he drove towering home runs batting right and left-handed. Ken also had a drag bunt single to conclude a busy afternoon.

Norm Lohse cracked out four hits for the winners.

Yurtis allowed only two safeties in his strong stint, a first inning single by Pat Loughman and seventh inning single by Tom Collins.

IN OTHER action last week Coach Larry Nomellini's Lions shaded the Trojans, 4-3, in the season opener; tied Dundee in eight innings, 1-1; and rocked Glenbrook North, 16-9.

Mike Miller started on the hill for the locals against the Trojans and struck out nine over four frames although he experienced control problems. Danny Klingberg followed Miller and Tom Collins came on with a strong relief stint over the final one and one-third innings.

With the Lions nursing a one-run lead Collins came on with the bases loaded and two outs in the sixth. He struck out the next hitter and also got the side in the seventh.

Klingberg had two hits and drove in two runs for the winners.

BRIAN ROONEY went the distance against Dundee, allowing seven hits and striking out eight, but he couldn't emerge with a victory.

The Lions scored a run in the third on a single, error, and single by Frank Patzke, but Dundee tied the count in the fourth on a single and triple. That was the end of the scoring for the afternoon.

The Arlington entry was operating without several key performers who had missed connections in transportation.

KLINGBERG was on the hill as the Lions exploded for 11 hits in a 16-9 thumping of Glenbrook North.

The left-hander went the distance on a yield of 10 hits. He struck out six.

Miller drove in three runs for St. Viator in a nine-run fifth with a bases-loaded triple. John Brawley, Pat Loughman, and Dan Miksta drove in two runs each.

Nomellini's Lions will journey to Hillside tonight (Thursday) and Des Plaines Friday. A doubleheader is scheduled for the Maine East High School field Saturday with a 1:30 starting time.

The Lions will return home Sunday afternoon for a doubleheader with LaGrange. First game will be 12:30 at the St. Viator High School diamond.

TOM COLLINS will see extensive duty this summer for the Lions baseball team of Arlington Heights. Collins, who was the squad's leading hitter last summer with a .296 mark for 142 at bats, will be used in the outfield, infield, and on the mound for Coach Larry Nomellini's club. He turned in a strong relief stint in the Lions' win over the Trojans last week. (Staff photo)

Mt. Prospect

Robinson and Maury Gallagher, both of whom saw action with the Knight varsity this year, and Buzinski.

REGULAR THIRD base chores should go to "rookie" Gary Andrews, who will be only a junior this fall. Andrews has no varsity or Legion experience but shows promise.

Clyde Whitcomb, another toiler on the 1966 Knight varsity, will probably handle the regular shortstop job where he has seen extensive duty this spring.

Many of Thorne's performers can play more than one position, making flexibility an asset in addition to Prospect's strong hitting and pitching.

Manager Thorne thus far has a 25-game schedule lined up for his boys, with a possibility of two or three more being added to the slate. Mount Prospect, idle to date, will swing into non-league action Sunday when they host Hillside. They will then begin an enlarged 18-game league schedule Monday at Des Plaines.

Prospect will play five games in the first eight days of the season, so it won't take long to find out whether Thorne's optimism is justified. Don't be surprised, however, if this crew takes all the marbles in the 1966 District Nine.

Help Our Ski Teams

The United States Ski Team Fund Committee asks Paddock readers' help in raising money to maintain our ski teams.

For this fiscal year, the national teams set a goal of $450,000 to cover training, equipment, and competition costs. Most of that has been raised, but a good deal has also been spent.

An easy way to contribute would be to buy a ski team pin for only one dollar. These handsome blue and gold metal pins are on sale now at the following stores: the Concourse Sports Chalet, Randhurst; Johnson's Sports, Lee St., Des Plaines; Pro Sport Shop, Northwest Highway, Mt. Prospect.

This challenge is made to teams with boys in the age group of 10 to 11 years of age and for boys in the age group of 12-13-14 years of age. These boys could at present be on one team or could be selected from any of the teams in their division.

Place of game could be at either team home grounds or a mutually agreed-upon field. Date of game would be a convenient date to both officials of the Boys Baseball League, preferably late in July or August.

Any officers of organized Boys Baseball League that would be interested in such a game should contact Paul Augustine at 824-5978 by June 25th, 1966.

Waycinden Area Boys Baseball League is located in the Northwest section of Des Plaines.

Donahue Goes Distance

Arlington Enjoys 8-4 Conquest of Berwyn

by BOB FRISK

Now that's the way to make Lloyd Meyer a happy man.

Those bats were working again Tuesday evening as Arlington Heights rebounded from its first setback of the season to rock visiting Berwyn 8-4 at the high school diamond.

Silenced with one hit the previous night at Dundee, Meyer's outfit slashed out nine safeties in support of right hander Jerry Donahue in cruising to its second victory in three official American Legion outings.

Arlington can also claim two victories over a Fox Lake nine that didn't show up Sunday for a scheduled doubleheader.

THERE HAVE been more artistic victories, but Meyer was satisfied with the revival at the plate as Arlington slapped down one of the six clubs to score wins over the local Post in that spectacular 1965 season.

Donahue had some trouble at the outset but seemed to get stronger over the late innings in notching his second win. Jerry struck out seven, walked two, and allowed seven hits. Arlington opened the scoring in the first stanza on a double to left by Thad Woodard, stolen base, and wild pitch but fell behind as Berwyn hit Donahue for a pair in the second.

THE HOSTS drove three across in their half of the second to move into a lead they never relinquished.

Jim Jorgensen, who had two hits before sitting down, launched the uprising with a single to center. Jim went to second on a walk to Tom LeStarge, to third on an infield single by Brad Somers, and home on Donahue's high-hop double to right.

Donahue's hit also chased LaStarge across, and Somers tallied when Woodard drove a sacrifice fly to left.

ARLINGTON ADDED a single run in the fourth on Jorgensen's booming three-base shot to left and single by LeStarge. Three more dashed home in the fifth.

With one out Woodard and Doug Fink walked. Woodard then proceeded to steal three bases in an exciting excursion home, and Fink counted on John Loughman's solid single to center. Loughman came in on Paul Parish's soft single to short left.

While Arlington was unleashing some offensive excitement, Berwyn also had a measure of success against Donahue.

THE VISITING Morton West crew counted only one run in the third despite loading the bases with no outs and put over the fourth marker in the seventh with two outs.

Jorgensen and Somers had two hits each for the winners although they had to yield game honors to Berwyn's left fielder Ed Kowalski. Kowalski dropped down a bunt single in the third and slashed out a single and triple in two other appearances.

Tom Gribben, Morton West's second baseman who was one of the finest schoolboy basketball players in Illinois during the past winter, had a second-inning triple off Donahue.

Palatine

BOTH BOYS have two years' hurling experience behind them. Like Johnson, Yurtis was an all-conference selection this spring and has received a baseball scholarship from the University of Illinois.

One or the other of these strong-armed chuckers was the pitcher of record in every Pirate contest this year. Between them, they worked all but three innings of the 125 played by Palatine.

Both emerged with winning records. Yurtis was 7-4 and Hahnfeldt's strikeout-walk ratio was even better. Irv whiffed 32 while issuing only six free passes in 44 1/3 innings.

BESIDES THESE two talented mounders and the hitting of Johnson, experience will be a strong suit for Palatine. In addition to Johnson, Yurtis and Hahnfeld, five others will be back from the 1965 group.

Mike Ferguson, who toiled for two years at St. Viator, will be back at second base. Johnson will operate at shortstop and Wes Dixon will return at third base. Catcher Bob Hoffman and rightfielder Fred Bahn are also holdovers from last season.

Rounding out the list is Tom Shaw, who attends the Bradley University. Shaw is a fixture in center field. He could ease the hitting problem considerably, as he claimed a .300 batting average last summer. Tom, however, will not be in action for another 7-10 days as he has been ili and must make up final exams.

PROMINENT among the newcomers to Legion ball are Don Wickersham and Norm Lohse. Wickersham is expected to see extensive duty in the left pasture and Lohse should be a regular at first base. Norm went four-for-four in a non-conference game Sunday, showing that he too is capable of helping out at the plate.

Other "rookies" this year include catcher Leon Molway, centerfielders Dick Smith and Brian Scholl, and rightfielder Dick Strauss. Strauss, Lohse, and Johnson can also take turns on the hill if needed.

Gellinger has scheduled seven non-conference affairs for this gang besides the 18 conference contests. Two have already been played. Palatine lost to Dundee 14-8 on Memorial Day but came back to trounce St. Viator, 14-0.

These scores would indicate that Gellinger's crew has profited from its experience this spring and that possibly hitting won't be such a problem after all. Only time will tell, however, and the league is very well-balanced.

THE PALATINE entry was busy this week with games against Downers Grove Monday and Dundee last night. They meet LaGrange Saturday and Downers Grove again Tuesday, June 14. Palatine opens league play Monday at Morton Grove before coming home to meet Evanston Wednesday.

If Gellinger's bunch continues to produce runs as it has in its first two games, and if Yurtis and Hahnfeldt pitch as they are capable of pitching, this could be a banner year for the Palatine Legion.

Amateur Champ

Chick Evans is the only amateur golfer ever to win the coveted Western Open golf crown. Chick captured the 1910 event. The Western Open this year will be played June 23-26 at Medinah Country Club's No. 3 course.

eleventh time, has two well-known professional football names on its "alumni" list. Bill Brown of the Minnesota Vikings, one of the National Football League's finest fullbacks, was an All-Stater in the shot put for Mendota, Ill. High School in 1956. Mike Pyle, offensive center for the Chicago Bears, earned All-State track honors for New Trier in the discus in 1956 and shot put and discus in 1957.

California Trip For Bahnfleth?...

Palatine High School's Bill Bahnfleth, state record-holder in the 440 yard dash, may be making a trip to California about this time next year.

Only the fact that he's a junior is keeping the Pirate speedster from competing in the Golden West Relays at Sacramento, Calif., June 18.

Invitations to what amounts to a national high school track and field meet are issued only to the six leading prep seniors of the nation in each event.

Bahnfleth won the state-quarter in a sizzling 47.3 which has been equalled by a California prep but not bettered. However, Illinois High School Association rules forbid participation in national programs by undergraduates.

Charlie Bareither of Urbana, the boy who finished second to Bahnfleth with a fine 47.8 clocking, has accepted an invitation to the Golden West Relays.

The Golden West sponsors provide food and lodging but not travel expenses. Bareither's expenses have been taken care of by donations from Urbana fans.

Bareither also earned All-State honors in football and is headed for the University of Illinois with a grid scholarship.

Just when we were getting excited over the marks in the Illinois prep track and field finals we came across the district bests in California. Among the most impressive were a 1:25.9 in the 880 yard relay, 21 flat (on the curve!) in the 220 yard dash, 14 flat in the high hurdles, 9.5 in the 100 yard dash, 14-10½ in the pole vault, 6-9 3/4 in the high jump, 4:08.2 in the mile, and 47.3 in the 440. In addition, a long jumper in San Diego set a national prep mark with an effort of 25 feet five and three-fourths inches.

Ten Years Ago This Week . . .

Oak Park shut out Arlington's American Legion baseball team, 2-0 and 6-0 although Bob Miller, Al Smeby and Denny Thill turned in creditable pitching efforts for the local entry . . .

Prospect Coaches

Second In A Series

Dick Tschudi will be the new assistant football and assistant wrestling coach at Prospect High School during the 1966-67 year.

A June graduate of the University of Dubuque, Tschudi received his letter in both football and wrestling three straight years while in college.

While attending the Dubuque Senior High School Tschudi compiled an 88-5 record in wrestling. His college mark was 81-4. On the gridiron Tschudi played defensive guard and offensive tackle.

Pattern Forms in YMCA Golf League

With the season now into its 6th night of play in the N. W. Suburban YMCA Twilite Golf League, a pattern is beginning to set up.

Coloramic Tile has jumped off to an 18-point, first place position. Following them closely with 16½ points are Louie's Barber Shoppers. Next, Allen's Store for Men with a total of 15 points.

Highlights of the last two week's play has been the low gross scoring of Ed Then, a 3-handicapper and Harold Schlichting, a 6-handicapper. Both scored neat 38s, so the seasonal low gross is now in a three-way tie between the aforementioned golfers and Wally Busch.

The play so far this season is still not up to previous year's play, and indicative of this fact, is that there were not even one birdie scored last week.

Low gross winners for the week went to Harold Schlichting, 38; Dick Dixon, 39 and Wally Busch and Bob Frink both with 40's.

Low net honors went to Frink with a 29 (new low for the season). Wally McCoy, John Amato and Harold Schlicting all tied for second with 32's.

Standings for the season as of Wednesday, June 1, were as follows:

Rodewald Narrows Gap in Rob Roy's Tuesday Golf Loop

Rodewald Dairy narrowed the gap in Rob Roy Tuesday play to just 3½ points behind league leading Tastee Meats as they trounced Webber Paint 5½ to 1½.

The Dairy gang all shot steady golf to clinch low gross and low net in a fine team effort, but low net individual honors went to opposing No. 3 man, Bob Panknin, with a 41-6-35.

Tastee Meats met unexpected trouble in their clash with 8th place Prospect Heights Pharmacy as they came out second best 4½ to 2½. Bob Cook's 43-2-41, Bob Peterson's 43-7-36 and Irv Sinard's 46-7-39 scored the points that embarrassed the league leaders.

In another big upset third place Girder Process was stopped in their tracks by a fired up 11th place Howard Metals outfit 6 to 1. Chuck Van Boxtaele 41-3-38, John Smith 43-6-37, Hap Procunier 44-7-37 and Frank Jassen 50-10-40 all had a hand in the scoring to trip up the Girder Squad.

Adam Serbins, playing in the No. 2 slot for Joy-Di, shot his best round of the past few years as he carded a one over par 36-4-32 to tie John Westerberg of Kirchhoff Insurance for low gross honors and Nick Zanini of Stone Perforating for low net honors. Nick fired a 37-5-32 to lead his team to a 5 to 2 win over Gunnell's Restaurant. To top off a big night Nick also was closest to the hole on No. 4 to win a prize for this effort also. Virg Rolfs of L'Nor Cleaners duplicated this feat on the 12th hole in the No. 3 and 4 man groups.

In Tuesday Play

Thunderbird's Entry Is Hot

The combination of a decisive victory won by first-place Thunderbird Bowl and a narrow defeat dealt to second-place Mount Prospect Electric Construction Co. enabled Thunderbird to widen its lead in the Tuesday division of the Mount Prospect Twilight Golf League to 6½ points.

The league leaders had no apparent trouble in disposing of a sadly disorganized Kersting Garden Center team, 8½-1½. Dick Elliott, Thunderbird's "A" player, led the onslaught with a two-point victory over Kersting Rollie Becker. Elliott was also winner of the bonus point for low individual net score of the eight contestants.

Capt. Pat Danna of Thunderbird was recipient of a two-point donation as Kersting's Walt Peterson, thinking it was Monday because of the Memorial Day holiday, failed to show and forfeited the match. Thunderbird's Karl Pohl, meanwhile, took a legitimate two points from Joe Danna, and Harold Wolff added half-a-point to the team total.

CAPT HAL Jebens' 1½ points, won from Wolff, were the only points scored for the Kersting team.

In addition to their own point-getting proclivity Thunderbird was aided and abetted by Carter Music Shop who held second-place Mount Prospect Electric Construction Co. to four points as they defeated them, 6-4.

Crowding the Construction Co. for second place honors was Licht's Paint Store who posted a 6-4 victory over Illinois Range, and not far behind was Kruse's Tavern and Restaurant who captured a modest victory from Keefer's Pharmacy, 6-1/6 to 3-5/6.

IN OTHER matches Moler's Barber Shop recorded their first victory of the 1966 season, a very satisfactory 8-2 conquest of Kirchhoff Insurance, while Wille Lumber and Fuel and Busse-Biermann Hardware battled to a 5-5 draw.

Low shooter for the night was Ed Lauing who, despite a 35 net over the first nine, lost his match to Jim Driscoll who fired a 36 gross 30 net to take match and medal. Other low shooters were Ron Scherer, 38, and Ken Shipley, 39.

Birdies were posted by E. Lauing No. 1, 5 and 9, J. Driscoll 1 and 5, E. Spletzer 9, Len Hauskey 13, Ted Banka 14, R. Sherer 15, and J. Danna 18.

Jim's Service in Drive Toward Top

Jim's Service once again outclassed their opponents by taking four points from Mitchell De Burring in the St. Colette Golf League.

Jim's drive for 1st place was sustained by Ed Cremerius beating Syl Seick and ties by Tom Schramm and Bill Ahrens. For the second week in a row, Jim Niesen came through with the low individual net. This week's round of 41-10-31 was brilliantly played.

Harris Steel made a concerted effort to move out of the bottom position by taking five points from Clark Brass. The Austin trio of Bill, Ted and Al, all won their matches along with Russ Niesen. Beaten were Chet Mrozek, John Bryant, John DiFatta and Bob Duffy. Bill Hickey surprised even himself with a round of 42-13-29.

Bevtrly Lanes ccntinued to nang onto its 1½ point lead by downing F. J. Die Mold 3½ to 2½. Ray Harles was the only Beverly man to win a match but Jim Houldsworth squeezed a tie out of Bob Wirth. Alternate Herb Nauman came in with a sterling round of 43-13-30, showing that once the pressure is off he is able to play golf. Phil Jarczyk and Elmer Schwartz collected the points for F. J.

Quadriga Mfg. Co. and Imprinting Service battled to a three-all tie. John Hernandez and John O'Connor tied their matches along with Bill Kohnke and Ray Ganczak. Don Larson whipped John Gens for Quadriga but Gene Folkes made up for this by stepping on Oscar Dolleslager.

City Welding Sales split with New Emerald Cleaners 6-6 as did Lauterburg & Oehler with Crest Heating & Air Conditioning.

Gordon Otto scored the low gross for the night with a one over par 37. Low net 32's were shared by Bob Burke and Bob Hudec. Haire Links Team In Scratch Lead

Hard-charging Haire Funeral Home moved into the league lead last Friday with a 7-1 win over Skokie Valley Drywall in Old Orchard Scratch play.

Responsible for this giant step was Bob Stabin's 37 and wins by Haire, Dr. Drazba, and Allan Peters. Peters & Co. was close behind after picking up six points from last week's league-leaders, Graft Builders. Four wins moved Peters & Co. up to second place as undefeated Mike Spinello gained the only win for Graft.

Dave Borgardt recorded the first sub-par round with a one-under 35 on the back nine, as he led Pitzen Movers over fourth-place Arlington Realty. Combining for the 6½ points was Borgardt's 35, a 38 for Bernie Magneson, a win by Harold Klapp, and a half-point tie for Till Foy.

Bill Schwerin shot a 37 but it was only good enough for a tie against Don Hager as Burrow Chevrolet, aided by Moore, Harding, and Hamburg, rolled up 6½ points against Nelson Realty. Gene Bergmark gained a point for the Realtors.

Three out of five matches were tied as L-Nor Cleaners met Miles & Miles Ins. Litt had the only win as L-Nor picked up 5½ points.

An even par 36 by Ben Kronn was the key to a gain of 5½ points by Busse Flowers despite wins by John Neubauer and Bob Walters for Baird & Warner. Other good rounds were turned in by alternates Tamburrino with a 38 and Benrud, who shot 39.

Pro Sport in 7-3 Links Win

Miscevich, Kovacs, and Buyers paced the Pro Sport Shop to a 7-3 victory over the F-B-K Realtors to take sole possession of first place in the Mount Prospect Friday night golf league.

The only match winner for F-B-K was Bob Glader as he shot a gross 39 to win the captain's match over Don Campbell.

Meeske's Super Market relinquished a share of the top spot with their narrow 6-4 win over George S. May Co. Captain Rick Lindstrom of Meeske's shot a gross 38 and net 28 to edge May's captain Al Gilso who toured the front nine in 39. Curt Kotel and Jordan Italia won their matches over Doc Luzwick and Yngue Bloomquist of Meeske's, but Frank Mahers' 3-2 win over "champ" Pinkos saved the day for the Meeskemen.

CAPTAIN ED Berset shot a gross 39 to set the pace for Mount Prospect State Bank as he defeated Ray Felitto of Clayton Court. Elmer Blasco and Ken Arnold also garnered points for the bankers which placed them in a third place tie with Keefers Pharmacy. The Keefers were led by captain Gordon Stephen as they edged out Harold Lins and his Wille Fuel and Lumber Linksmen. Wins by T. Cara and Bob Rinehart of Willie failed to stop Keefer's when John Leonetti closed out Ed Krause two up.

Qualifying Trials Set for June 20th

The pre-tournament qualifying trials for the 1966 Western Open championship will be held Monday, June 20, on the No. 1 course at Medinah Country Club.

Excused from this chore will be approximately 100 of the entrants, including all of the top touring professionals. These 100 gain their exemption through various categories, and will go directly into the Western Open field later the same week (June 23-26) on Medinah's No. 3 course.

Approximately 30 places in the Open will be at stake in the 18-hole qualifying round on the testing No. 1 course, whose strong caliber often is overlooked because it lies in the shadow of the fabled No. 3 layout.

For instance, when the Western Open qualifying in 1962 was held on the No. 1 course, only one player broke par. Bob Erickson was medalist with 35-34 — 69 against par of 36-34 — 70. There were 110 players in the qualifying field that time, and any score under 75 was good enough to win one of the 30 spots at stake.

JUST DOGS

By Dave Terrill

Accidental Poisoning—

In the last column we wrote about poisoning by others, now it's time to write about poisoning by a dog's owner. This is, of course, not planned, but each year accidental poisoning takes the lives of a great number of family pets. This can be attributed to the fact that most puppies will eat anything and most people are not aware of the possible dangers in many household articles.

All medicines, detergents, paints and insecticides should be clearly labeled and carefully stored. Since many drugs prescribed for adult humans are harmful to both children and dogs, they should be kept in either locked cabinets or storage areas inaccessible to both. This is very important in households with small children. Foremost, of course, because of the danger to the child, and second, because small children often feed things to pets. Have you ever watched youngsters holding a tea party?

Canine poisoning reaches its highest level during the summer months, according to the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York, because of the house and garden sprays which are used for the control of insects and weeds. Thorough reading of the label should be done before any container is opened. If you have any doubts, don't use it. Remember, too, that many fertilizers, plant sprays and insecticides can cause chemical burns resulting in blindness if they get into the eyes. Reliable manufacturer's have done costly research and laboratory work to assure the optimum of handling safety; the user must take care, too.

After all, the manufacturer has done his best to provide the right information, the user must also read and understand the directions as well as provide a proper storage space for such products.

Obedience Weekend—

The weekend of June 18 and 19 will be a real obedience weekend in the area. On Saturday, June 18, the Weimaraner Club of America, Region II, will host the First Weimaraner Club of American National Obedience Trial at the CIO Civic Center, Countryside, just south of La Grange. Judges are Stewart FitzGibbon, Barrington, for utility, Open A and Novice B. Judging Novice A and Open B classes will be Bud Burge of West Chicago.

Members of the trial committee include Mr. and Mrs. Dee Muster of Bensenville. The judging will start at 9 a.m. and the public is invited.

On Sunday, June 19, the West Side Dog Training Club will hold its 16th annual all-breed obedience trial at the Hawthorne Race Course, located at 35th and Laramie, Cicero. There is an entry expected of some 300 dogs coming from six states. Judging will start at 8:30 a.m., and the event is, of course, open to the public.

With so many dogs expected, this is one of the major obedience trials in the area and it will last well into late afternoon.

Your editor has been asked to judge the utility class; from the latest report it looks like he will have a busy day.

Winner at North Shore—

Speaking about obedience trials, Roger Bratt of Hoffman Estates did quite well at the North Shore Dog Training Club's obedience trial held May 22 at Highland Park. His German Shepherd scored 199 out of a possible 200 points to win the Novice A class and was the fourth highest dog in the trial.

Barks & Bays—

In Colorado, dog stealing is punishable by 10 years imprisonment; dog killing by 6 months and a $500 fine.

Wins Playoff With Rule

Arlington Grad Earns Berth in U. S. Open

Ed Moehling Jr., assistant professional at Glen View Golf Club and former Arlington High School links standout, has qualified for the 66th United States Open tournament.

Moehling, 25, a two-time Illinois State Amateur champion, earned his U. S. Open bid Monday afternoon over a windswept Onwentsia club course when he won a sudden death duel with Jack Rule Jr., in the sectional trials.

The qualifying limit for Chicago's allotment of nine places in the Open was 146, and Moehling and Rule both hit that figure in regulation play.

Moehling won the tourney berth with a par on the second extra hole.

THE GLEN VIEW assistant pro had rounds of 71-75 in reaching 146. Rule came in at 70-76.

Bobby Brue, 31, paced the sectional qualifiers with a 139 on eighteens of 71-68. He finished one stroke ahead of Hinsdale's Dick Hart and three on top of Lincolnshire's Bob Erickson.

Other U. S. Open qualifiers were George Keyes of Riverwoods, Don Byrd of Wauwasee, Ind., Jack Fleck of Green Acres, Tommy Veech of Milwaukee, and Sam Carmichael of Bob O' Link.

MOEHLING, A PREP standout at Arlington High School, captured the Illinois State Amateur golf championships for two straight summers.

He survived a field of 180 golfers to win the state amateur in 1960. gaining the coveted title with a 2 and 1 victory over Joel Hirsch of Highland Park. Ed was only a 19-year-old freshman at Northern Illinois University at the time. proved that his first State Amateur victory was no fluke by landing the top prize again in 1961.

Moehling will be making his second U. S. Open appearance when he tees off in San Francisco Thursday. June 16. He made his debut at Congressional in 1964.

Arlington Coasts to Win in Legion Debut

By BOB FRISK

Everyone got into the act, and the first act for 1966 was a success.

Coach Lloyd Meyer cleared his bench, worked four pitchers into the game, and spent a relaxing evening last Friday as Arlington Heights launched its American Legion baseball schedule.

Jerry Donahue, Bob Young, Steve Allen, and John Friedl shared the hill duties as Arlington, fifth in the nation last summer, waltzed past visiting Downers Grove South, 8-0, in a non-league feature.

A fine crowd was on hand at Arlington's Recreation Park to watch the debut of the club that grabbed so many headlines in its meteoric climb to national recognition in 1965.

JERRY DONAHUE
Strong Three

MEYER'S OUTFIT didn't make any noise in the opening inning but actually settled the issue with a two-fun second.

With one out Tom LeStarge walked and rode around to third on Brad Somers' hit through the box, Arlington's first hit of the campaign. Somers took second on a throw to third base.

Mark Frase was hit by a pitch to load the bases, but Donahue struck out for the second out. John Loughman bounced a grounder through the box that was gloved and turned into a force at second, but the second sacker dropped the ball for an error and two runs scored.

ARLINGTON DIDN'T score again until the fifth although the locals loaded the bases in the third on a high-hop single by Mark Newman and walks to Thad Woodard and Somers. A fielder's choice checked the uprising.

In the fourth Young and Doug Fink walked but once again Arlington couldn't score. They didn't waste any opportunities in the fifth.

Woodard reached on his second walk as the Arlington leadoff man in the fifth and dashed to third on an infield hit by Tom LeStarge. Somers drove one to right field for the first out, and Woodard was cut down at the plate trying to score.

FRASE KEPT the rally alive by slapping an infield single and Young walked again to load the bases Loughman drew a walk to force in LeStarge, and Doug Fink sent three more across with a line double to center that the center fielder had in his glove but couldn't hold.

Newman walked and Paul Parish lined a single over second to bring home Fink for the fifth run of the inning. Woodard lined a shot to third base for the final out.

Arlington added its eighth run in the sixth inning on LeStarge's second hit, a sacrifice by Somers, error, and sharp single to right by pitcher Allen, who was batting left-handed in a switch initiated in the early workouts.

DONAHUE SET down Downers Grove over the first three innings without a hit, striking out five straight at one stretch with a live fast ball and effective change-up. He got credit for the win.

Young followed Donahue on the hill, and the Arlington High grad worked two frames, striking out three and allowing Downers' first safety, a high-hop single.

Allen, a senior at Arlington, went one winning on a yield of one hit, a grounder off the bag at third base, and Friedl, who just completed his frosh year at Northern Illinois University, toiled in the seventh and got the side on an infield pop and grounder and strikeout.

Dundee Tops Legion Nine

Randy Blanken was a master at his trade Monday evening.

Blanken, highly touted pitcher for the Haeger's American Legion baseball team of Dundee, fired a crisp one-hitter, striking out 11 in a 3-2 conquest of visiting Arlington Heights.

The loss was Arlington's first of the young 1966 campaign.

Blanken, author of a 10-3 record and 1.69 earned run average at Dundee during the high school campaign, yielded his only hit in the opening inning when Arlington punched across two runs.

Jerry Donahue walked and Mark Newman reached on an error and both boys came across. Another error and base hit by Jim Jorgensen also figured in the two-run salvo.

THAT WAS the extent of Arlington's offensive contributions. Blanken didn't allow a hit the rest of the way although he did find himself in some scrapes.

John Loughman walked and stole second as the leadoff man in the fourth, but three strikeouts checked this threat. Doug Fink ripped a shot to center that was hauled down just before a walk in the fifth, but once again Blanken settled down.

Arlington had its best chance in the sixth when Newman walked and Loughman reached on an error, but three straight strikeouts stifled this promising push.

DUNDEE SCORED its first run in the fourth on a single by Roger McKenzie, wild pitch, and double by Wall, and the host Haeger Post settled the issue in the seventh against lefty John Friedl.

Friedl, who had relieved starter Steve Allen in the fifth, saw the first man reach on an error in the seventh. With one out a single and triple gave Dundee the decision.

Allen pitched four innings for Arlington, yielding four hits and one run. He left after giving up a leadoff triple in the fifth.

Friedl got out of this fifth inning jam without allowing a run.

Do you feel that your experience, time and energy are worth paying well for? Our company—a 198-year-old international cornern—has the BEST product in today's FASTEST growing field. Prospects are contacted through voluntary inquiries, appointments, continuous national advertising (Look, Life, Playboy and TV specials, etc.) And there is no canvassing. Commissions, bonuses and insurance benefits are recognized as the most liberal in our industry. Most importantly, we have a product our salesmen are proud to represent. Since it is bought rather than sold, we are not looking specifically for those who can sell refrigerators to Eskimos. We also need honest, personable individuals who are willing to take a proven company sales presentation, work 40 hours a week, and provide themselves with a weekly income ranging from $200 to $500 week after week . . . If this sounds too good to be true, call BR 9-4331 for an interview appointment at our Elmhurst office. This could be the job you've been looking for.

Baccalaureate Is Becoming School Custom of the Past

The traditional Midwestern baccalaureate service, a school-sponsored event with religious overtones, is fast becoming a custom of the past.

Only one northwest suburban school system — High School District 211 in Palatine and Schaumburg Townships — will have official baccalaureate services this year for graduating seniors.

Lake Park High School in Medinah discontinued baccalaureate rites five years ago. In Bensenville, Fenton High School dropped baccalaureate several years back with the tacit approval of area clergy.

In High School District 214, also, time has run out for the school-sponsored baccalaureate service.

INSTEAD, this year Catholic and Protestant clergy Sunday jointly sponsored four interdenominational baccalaureate services, one in each high school. The interdenominational committee put together a program with prayers and music acceptable to all participating Christian sects. All costs of the baccalaureate services, including printing expense and school rental fees, was covered by participating churches.

Missouri Synod Lutheran congregations in High School District 214 will serve their graduating seniors with a separate baccalaureate service this evening at St.Paul Lutheran Church, Mount Prospect. Speaker at the 8 p.m. service will be Rev. David Stuckmeyer, assistant pastor at Faith Lutheran in Arlington Heights.

Supt. Gerald A. McElroy says it's probably a misnomer to consider the two evening programs in District 211 as baccalaureate services. He says the emphasis will be secular, rather than religious, with no ministers taking part at all.

Instead, tonight at Conant High School seniors and their families and friends will attend a baccalaureate service at which the speaker will be Dean Berkley, director of the Indiana University extension division. Friday evening at Palatine High School, a similar service will have as its speaker Prof. George Walter of the Lawrence College education department. Students, not clergymen, will give the invocation and benediction both evenings.

IT WAS because baccalaureate services in the past have had religious — and usually Protestant — formats that there has been a movement to have them discontinued.

Some pressure came from Catholic and Jewish religious leaders. Student indifference — and lack of student attendance, even when required — played a part.

For High School District 214 the key factor was advice, from both American Association of School Administrators and National Council of Churches, that school-sponsored baccalaureate services probably violate the principle of separation of church and state.

The District 214 board voted to discontinue school-sponsored baccalaureate services last year after Dr. R. L. Hunt of the National Council of Churches told them that anything that resembled a worship service in public schools stood only one chance in 10 of passing a U. S. Supreme Court test.

The board postponed its cancellation of school-sponsored baccalaureate for a year at the request of area clergy, who said they would need time to work out an acceptable church-sponsored substitute program.

Rabbi Hillel Gamoran, whose Jewish students will not be served by a baccalaureate service this year, told Paddock Publications he believes the District 214 board made the right decision in dropping school sponsorship of the traditional Graduation Week event.

THE RABBI considers such school services to be both a violation of constitutional guarantees for separation of church and state and "an infringement on the rights of a child", who should be free to observe his religion as he wishes.

Synagogue Beth Tikvah plans no service this year for its few high school seniors. Rabbi Gamoran says in coming years his congregation will probably add such a service.

He said he would probably also be interested in some type of alternate interfaith service — an approach not considered by the Christian clergymen who planned the District 214 baccalaureate services most District 214 seniors would attend. (SS

Happiness is

College for Your Kids

Few things in life are more gratifying than seeing your kids carve out college careers—perhaps earning a Phi Beta Kappa key that you missed . . . or getting the college education that you yearned for.

But college means money—lots of it. More youngsters are denied college for lack of dollars than for lack of brains.

Now is the time to set up a College Fund Account and keep it apart from other family finances. This is a joint project the youngsters will gladly join—by part-time and summer jobs and by more careful management of the money they now handle.

You'll be happier when the College Fund Account matches the growth of your youngsters.

Industry Seeks Non-College-Bound Youths

PADDOCK PUBLICATIONS THURS., JUNE 9, 1966

'Career Nights' Help to Employers

Industry is seeking qualified high school graduates who want to enter the nation's work force.

And high schools in the northwest suburbs are beginning to organize career nights and other activities so that industrial representatives may talk informally with these students who do not choose to enter college.

Val Erickson, vocational counselor at Wheeeling High School, organized District 214's first career night in April for vocational students or ones who will not attend college.

Erickson commented that schools should be doing more for the students who plan to work or who are non-college bound.

AREA INDUSTRIES expressed great interest in the career night and at least one, Ekco Containers of Wheeling, plans to hire several of the graduates full time after graduation.

Robert Fox, personnel director at Ekco, says junior stenographers, primary typists and those who can take shorthand are needed. He plans to hire at least five or six.

"If we can find good personnel, we'll recruit from June to June," said Fox. He said in future years Ekco planned to hire not only from Wheeling, but from Arlington Heights schools and Prospect High.

Fox said the firm was very much interested in young men graduates. The draft has an effect on the status of men graduates, he said.

For those graduates with mechanical aptitude the starting wage would be $2.50 an hour to do factory work at Ekco.

THE FIRM HAS been "very satisfied" with the female applicants, and would like to talk to more young men, according to Fox.

He also noted that those who wanted to go into the tool and die makers eventually earn $10,000 to $11,000 a year. A high school graduate could start training for this trade.

Other area industry representatives also showed interest in the non-college bound student.

Phil Cushing, personnel director at Bruning Co., Mt. Prospect, said the firm was interested in hiring clerks, typists and other office personnel.

Male high school graduates with some background in chemistry could qualify for laboratory assistants. Others could work in the production area of Bruning, a firm that makes office machines.

"WE WILL POSSIBLY recruit more high school graduates in upcoming years," said Cushing. It will depend on the openings available, he said.

He said he was interviewing some women graduates and may hire some.

Erickson said next year they will expand the career day for graduates who do not plan college. It will be two days, rather than one.

He indicated that industry and business representatives say great need exists for this type of a program. They were really "enthused" about the career night because it gave them a chance to visit with the students informally and explain what industry wants, said Erickson.

SOME 30-35 firms were invited to the career night, as well as vocational technical schools.

Among other firms which indicated they were interested in hiring high school graduates were Western Electric, Illinois Bell, Illinois Range, Ampex, and United and Continental Airlines.

According to Erickson, United and Continental Airlines are seeking male high school graduates for ramp work and as clerks. Girls would qualify for clerks, and key punch operators," he said.

"United was really interested," he said.

ERICKSON SAID the career night was a new experience for industry. About 300 students from the four high schools in District 214 turned out to talk to industry officials.

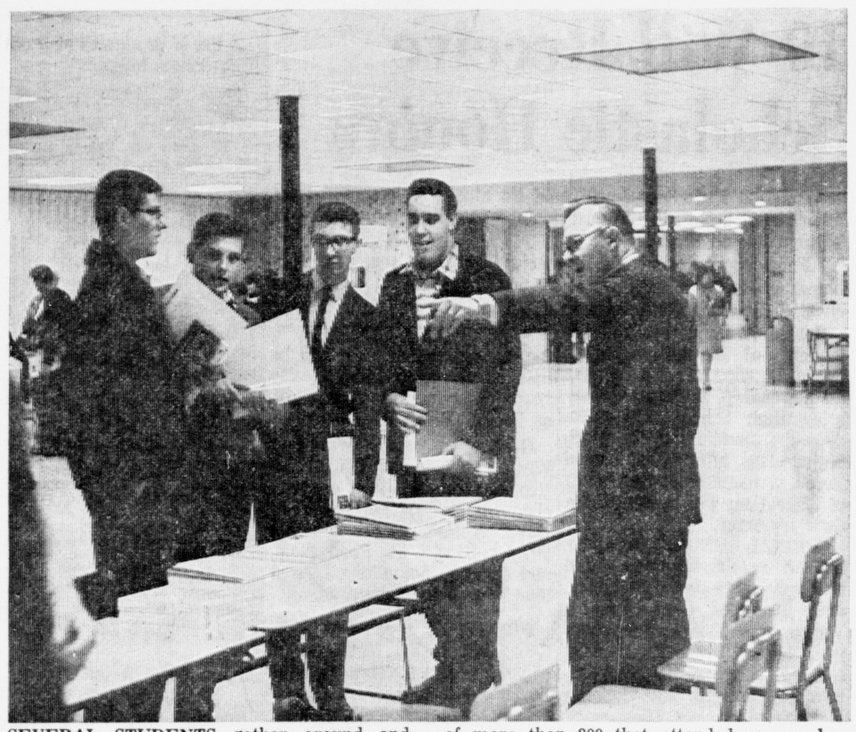
Illinois Bell plans a high school recruiting program, according to Erickson. Another area firm which had representatives at the career night was Pure Oil Co.

Other schools plan a more active program directed toward the student or graduate who does not plan to enter college. At Conant High School in District 211, Hoffman Estates, Miss Lucille Berglund, director of guidance, said she is planning a career night for non-college bound students.

SEVERAL SCHOOLS and industry representatives are working to place high school graduates in jobs through the Northwest Suburban Vocational Committee.

At Lake Park High School, which serves five communities in North DuPage County, Guidance Director Ron Rosenthal, says industry has also shown interest in students who don't plan college.

Several of the students have been hired since Easter. (SS



SEVERAL STUDENTS gather around and listen to a spokesman from industry explain exactly what is wanted of graduating seniors who plan to go to work shortly after they get out of school. These seniors were only four of more than 300 that attended career day at Wheeling High School to talk to industrial representatives and vocational school personnel. (Staff Photo)

Three Seniors to Address Commencement at Arlington

Three Arlington Heights seniors have been selected to speak at commencement exercises to be held tomorrow (Friday) night in the boys' gymnasium of the school. They are Gail Martin, Suzanne Galloway, and Lyn Snodgrass.

Gail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Martin, 641 S. Her activities at Arlington High have included individual speech events, National Forensics League, class board, yearbook staff, and Coronet girls' drill team. She is a member of the National Honor Society, and will attend Purdue University as an English major.

Here's Wheeling's First Graduating Class

Ceremony to Be Short, Dignified

Wheeling High School's first commencement exercises tomorrow night (Friday) will be short, but dignified, according to Valmer Erickson, in charge of arranging details of the ceremony.

Following the processional of graduates in gold-tasselled blue caps and gowns—with valedictorian Jeanne La Bandt, and salutatorian Tom Neuckranz by extra gold braid around the necks of their gowns—the Wheeling choir will sing the senior class song, "More." A second selection, "Go Make Your Mark in the World," was especially composed for this first commencement by Charles Jenks, choral director.

BRIEF SPEECHES will be made by three members of the 1966 senior class.

Melinda Crabbe has chosen as her title, "Go Make Your Mark in the World"; Pauletta Viverito will talk on "Individual Responsibility"; and Sue Summer's discourse is entitled, "The High School Diploma Today."

Principal Thomas W. Shirley will then present the class to two members of the District 214 School Board, and diplomas will be awarded.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

NOT MY JOB

How often have you heard someone say, "I'm sorry it wasn't done, but it's not my job. I took care of getting my work done"?

It happens all the time. Many employees feel no responsibility to the over-all operation of the company for which they work. They feel they are paid, so to speak, for piece-work.

Many of us approach life in the same fashion. We concern outselves only with the things which directly affect us in some way.

We wouldn't stop on an Interstate Highway to help someone in trouble. Yet, if a car stalled on a one-lane bridge, blocking our progress, we might, at least, help push the car across the bridge so we might be on our way.

Maybe we would discover a little more of happiness and satisfaction if, once in a while, we did something, not because we had to do it, but just because we wanted to do it. If we did this, we might discover in a moment of need that someone was willing to help us.

Student Activity Honors Are Given

A number of Palatine High School students have received awards in recognition of ability, effort and achievement in various fields.

Keith Brauer, Lesa Heinemann and Midge Gerhardt were named outstanding musicians at the music department's banquet. Keith won his award for his work with the concert band, and Lesa and Midge received theirs for singing in the a cappella choir.

Most outstanding senior in Orchesis was Dianne Moss. She was presented a sterling silver charm bracelet at the Orchesis dinner held at the Maitre D' Restaurant May 24.

MARY KUNSTMANN, a senior participant in the DE (Distributive Education) program, received the student of the year award. Mary, president of the DE's Palatine chapter, was given the honor at the DE banquet held at the Embers Steak House. Requirements for the award include a "B" average or better in DE and an over-all "C" average in other courses. In addition, the student must exhibit outstanding personal character in all areas as well as in her training station.

Kathleen Simonik received the $300 scholarship given by the Palatine Nurses Club. She plans to use it at the University of Illinois. Junior Kathy White also won a scholarship. Hers is the Inverness Women's club art scholarship, which pays for all fees and supplies for a week at Camp Allerton.

Mike Mocella received the non-monetary Bausch-Lomb award, given for outstanding work in science. Jim Miller and Terry Lucier have been named James scholars at the University of Illinois.

KEN JOHNSON received the Lions Club award, which is given to the athlete with the best scholarship record. Rich Marquardt also received an athletic award. He was named the outstanding boy in Physical Education at Palatine.

Outstanding citizen awards were given to two Palatine seniors — Brad Olsen and Beverly Wolff — by the American Legion. Bev also won the DAR award earlier in the year.

Junior Debby Hodgson will be Palatine's representative at Girl's State, while Mark Powell will be representative at Boys' State this summer.

The shorthand award was given to Judy Bollinger, and her twin Janet received honor when her name was put on the new GAA trophy as the first outstanding GAA member. (SS

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMER

From Margaret Phillips, Lansing, Michigan: I remember how early five o'clock came on the farm, and how the cows were waiting.

It was so dark in the winter. Ole Jersey was the cow I milked before going to school. I would take warm water to wash off her sac, find my stool in the dark and, being very careful where I stepped, begin the slow process of milking by hand.

Herman, our cat, always went with me and I would reward him by shooting a stream of milk his way. We were pretty good at this.

In the afternoon, it was the same process over again. Only this time of the afternoon, the cow believed they should go to the back field instead of coming to the milking barn. Some people had dogs to round them up. Our dog wasn't that smart, so off I went to chase cows and get them to the barn.

I hoped Ole Jersey wouldn't swish her tail and get it caught in my bobbie pins. I held her tail with one hand and milked with the other.

Today most folks have milking machines and clean barns in which to work. In those days, our milking machine was our own hands.

WHY SHOULD YOUR CHILD TAKE GROUP MUSIC LESSONS?

MODERN TEACHING TECHNIQUES

"Group instruction is considered by most music teachers to be the single most important recent development in this field in the United States."

HERE ARE THE DISTINCT ADVANTAGES TO GROUP INSTRUCTION:

- "Children generally overcome shyness in a relatively short period of time."
- "Students profit by the accomplishments and mistakes of classmates and, in doing so, often attain a feeling of comradeship that adds to their interest."
- "Children are used o group-instruction methods through regular school classes and are able to transfer their experiences to music learning."
- "The incentive for practice appears to be considerably greater."
- "Interest is sustained longer."

College Is Top Topic for Graduates

How Schools Help Choice

College is an already-determined next step for better than half of the northwest suburban students who'll don graduating seniors' caps and gowns this year.

For them, where to go—and whether that college will accept them—is an ever-repeated topic. Probably only talk about the opposite sex out-distances it.

High school guidance counselors are often called in for help along the way. Their assistance is a two-way approach, geared to help both the student and the college.

HOW DOES A student decide where to go and what courses he should study? Miss Leotta Hampton, dean of college counselors at Arlington High School, says frankly that it's often "anyone's guess" why a student chooses the college that he does.

Her role, as a counselor, she sees as that of providing the expert's look at finances, college courses and the student's capabilities—as shown in high school—records and a battery of tests.

A frequent problem, she says, is the student who will be "devastated" if he's not admitted to one of some 50 "prestige schools" throughout the nation.

So is the student who's in the lower quarter of his class and won't be realistic about his choice.

For every student who'd like to go to college, says Miss Hampton, there's a school. But the choice differs with money—and the student's capabilities.

"We make it a point not to tell a student that he cannot apply or that he will not be admitted," says Miss Lucille Berglund, director of guidance at Conant High School. But, she adds, particularly if a student's first choice is "unrealistic" . . . if he's in the lower third of his class and wants to go to Sanford or Harvard — she'll urge him to back the application up with a couple more.
urge him to back the application up with a couple more.

THIS IS A good practice for all college-bound high school students, area counselors say. Often the fall-back-upon third choice is a better choice anyway, they add.

Miss Hampton likes to cite the student who wanted to study engineering but had bad grades in math. Urged to enroll at Michigan Technical Institute, which is geared to give such students extra help, he chose the University of Illinois instead —and flunked.

She balances that with the story of the boy who she thought "hadn't a prayer" of doing well — and graduated with honors from a Big Ten law school.

Lake Park High School's guidance counselor Richard Gorham cites the College Admissions Center at Evanston as an excellent help for the student who "seems to have difficulty being placed" or who makes a late decision. A clearing house, the admissions center is the academic equivalent of a date bureau—it pairs interested students with colleges that would like to have them.

COLLEGE COUNSELING, for the high school staff, involves service to the institutions of higher learning as well as to the student. Admissions office officials consult high school records and ask counselors' advice on applications.

"If we didn't tell them the truth, we wouldn't be of any help to either them or to the student," Miss Hampton points out.

Such service prompted an eastern school's athletic coach this year to pass on a hefty compliment to the Arlington High teacher. He said that Miss Hampton "didn't waste his time" because she gave him firm guides on which students could "make the grade" at his school and which ones couldn't.

MANY GUIDES WHICH THESE Arlington High School seniors consulted before they made their final "where to go" decision regarding college are stacked on the table here. Consulting one of the many college catalogs they pored over before deciding to enroll at the University of Illinois are Nancy and Francy Palmatier, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Palmatier, 408 S. Patton. Overseeing the two girls' check of the catalog are Harvard-bound (left) Thomas Hemnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hemnes, 511 N. Derbyshire, and Scott Schneberger, son of Mrs. Shirley Schneberger, 319 S. Burton Place. Scott next year will attend Principia College at Elsah, Ill. (Staff Photo)

There's a Military Star on Grad's Horizon

Area Youths Face Stepped-Up Draft

There's one star the male June grads can steer by, if others dim.

That's their military obligation: they can plan on being called to serve in the armed forces between their 19th and 26th birthday.

Until the Viet Nam involvement brought a step-up in draft calls, the pool of available manpower was large enough that area high school graduates had several years breathing space after their 19th birthday before being called.

But a check with Local Board No. 101 in Des Plaines (covering Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Elk Grove Village, Palatine and Wheeling areas) and Local Board No. 121 (Northeast DuPage County) revealed that the pool of young men available in the northwest suburbs has so shrunk that they are presently calling youth around 19½ years old.

MILITARY SERVICE is thus imminent for a high school graduate unless he is granted a student deferment.

"If they don't go to college, they will be processed when they reach 18½," said Mrs. Gertrude Kiley, chief clerk at the Local Board No. 101 office. Then, under present regulations, they can be inducted after their 19th birthday.

"If they are going to college, they will be considered for a student deferment providing a student certificate is sent in by their school," Mrs. Kiley said.

Mrs. Irene Cruickshank, chief clerk at Local Board No. 121 in office in Wheaton, cautions that a student deferment is not automatic. The Selective Service Board members base their decision of whether or not to grant a deferment on an individual's file.

"It's up to the individual to keep his file up to date and see to it that the school sends in verification of his student status," Mrs. Cruickshank said. She added that they must take the responsibility of keeping the board notified of their status and not depend on the school to do it automatically.

At both boards, the present calling order is: single men first, then those men who were married before Aug. 26, 1965. No fathers are now being called, providing they are living with their families.

Men who were married after last Aug. 26 are treated as single men, unless they have children, in which case they are reclassified.

BOTH MRS. Kiley and Mrs. Cruickshank are careful to qualify their comments with "according to current regulations" and "under present conditions." Mrs. Cruickshank points out that their regulations may change with day to day conditions and draft calls are liable to be affected by changes in the international situation.

While calls for non-deferred youths are now reaching down to the 19½-year-old level, this may change this summer because there will be a lot of college students graduating in June who will be reclassified 1-A. This will tend to swell the pool of available manpower. Also, there will be an increase in enlistments during the summer which may reduce draft calls.

"The picture will be a lot clearer by the end of July or August," said Mrs. Cruickshank.

In the meantime, the increased draft calls accompanying the Viet Nam conflict have brought a swell in voluntary enlistments and area recruiters report doing a land office business.

"The fact that the draft is inevitable is a stimulant to enlistments," said Navy recruiter BT1 Kenneth Outten in Wheaton. He reports four times as many enlistees as last year.

ENLISTMENTS ARE so high, he explained, that Navy recruiters are on a reverse quota system limiting them to a certain number each month because there aren't enough training facilities to handle all volunteers at one time. The quota system makes him spread enlistments out, and he reports his quotas full for several months ahead.

Army recruiter SFC Harold Dir in Des Plaines said he's getting more enlistments now than at any time in his previous six years at his Des Plaines office.

He reports that this May he has three to four times as many enlistments as last year or the year before during the same month.

He and other recruiters say they have been processing and swearing in some youths even before their June graduation.

This is unusual because the biggest influx of enlistees comes not right after graduation but in the middle of summer and after summer vacation.

"They like to kick around for a while," said SFC Robert King, Army recruiter in Wheaton. "In July or August they start shopping seriously."

MOTIVES FOR enlisting are complex but the general comments of area recruiters was summarized by S. Sgt. Paul Stout, Air Force recruiter in Arlington Heights, who said, "They all know that they're facing a military obligation. They know that the services can offer educational programs and they feel they can meet their military obligation and get some education too."

"Some are glory happy, and some want to take advantage of the service programs so they can get some training in case they don't go to college," noted SFC. King.

All recruiters report a great number of enlistees are college graduates who are not waiting to be drafted.

Several of them said at least half of the volunteers are college grads. Many of them choose to enlist because they are eligible for programs in which they can earn a commission. (SS

Long and Short of It:

One with 'Shortie' Will Be the G-I-R-L

The increasingly frequent problem of today — distinguishing between a boy and his girl friend — is likely to vanish if the male hair-length trend continues. The one with the shorter hair will be the girl.

Even if this view is too pessimistic, the question of whether the hair is to float on the ears or flop over the eyes — in close-cut military crop or Madison Avenue off-to-the-side style — is a matter of grave importance to today's younger set.

Over the years, hair styles have shifted drastically. During the days of Revolutionary America, our ancestors adopted the European fashion of wearing powdered wigs — a distinct boon to the hairless. Those who couldn't afford wigs and had hair, wore it long and tied in a pigtail at the nape of the neck. In the 1800's, a well-groomed man might not have hair on his head, but he had to have some on his face. Whiskers, beards and moustaches were virtually universal.

BY THE 1920's the fashion cycle had shifted again. Facial hair was out; the "Old Smoothie" look was in. It was typified by Latin lover Rudolph Valentino, whose sleek, straight, long hair set the example for many red-blooded American males. Pomades, waxes and hair-slickers did a rousing business as men's hair competed with their patent leather shoes for brilliance.

The next important trend was the wavy locks of the late 1930's. But, with the start of World War II, off they came — for over fourteen million newly sworn in servicemen. For the next 20 years the crewcut was the sure identification of an American any place in the world. Today it's the deadest of styles. Said one college oarsman, "Not even members of crews wear crewcuts any more!"

There's no question that the Beatles and other singing groups have had a potent effect on male styles as well as on phonograph record purchasers. Of course, few U. S. men have gone anywhere near as far as the Beatles, but they are wearing their hair longer than they used to. All this has meant a boom in men's shampoo and hair dressing sales.

But, according to a recent survey by a leading maker of men' grooming products, men nowadays don't want this investment to show. They apparently prefer a hair grooming that combs right in so you can't tell it's there. Longer hair particularly needs the all-day control only a hair dressing can give.

RESULT OF the current hair boom: his medicine chest is apt to be as crammed full of grooming necessities as hers. Who knows where it will all end? Perhaps men will start wearing Revolutionary-style pigtails again. But one thing we can be sure of : as teenagers' hair gets longer, parental tempers will get shorter.

Meanwhile, the neglected barbers philosophically wait for the style pendulum to swing back again. (SS

'Confused People' Comment Not Warranted, He Replies

For the past several months you have informed your readers and residents of the community as to the various proposals by developers for apartment projects which have come before the Palatine Village Board of Trustees and its appointed advisory bodies.

This letter is not intended as a criticism toward the procedures by the local governing body, planning commission or zoning board, relative to acceptance or rejection of proposals by developers. It is, however, concern over statements presented in the Enterprise concerning the reporter's implication that affected property owners "are a confused people regarding these projects."

The fact that property owners banded together to voice their objections to specific projects being contemplated in their immediate area does not reflect "confused people." The heavy response of residents in the North View, Willow Wood and Reseda areas to voicing their personal views on proposed apartment projects, was a well-planned coordinated approach by the property owners to present their case before the zoning board, planning commission and village officials.

The March 24 article noted "they are looking to the village to protect them from this 'menace' of high rises and apartments."

The affected residents are concerned with intrusion of multiple dwellings in a predominantly single family residential area where planned green belt buffer strips and park and recreation areas were part of their subdivisions.

In North View, many property owners purchased lots backing to the Palatine Golf Course and Ashwood Park at a much higher land cost than other lots in North View.

Other property owners purchased homes in North View because of the natural buffer strips provided by the golf course and the green belt along Salt Creek to the north. The new and beautifully landscaped home for the elderly abutting North View to the west has added a third buffer to the residential area.

Reseda and Willow Wood are also concerned with maintaining their proposed park lands as a means of encrochment from multifamily uses or commercial development.

The property owners are not objecting to "planned developments" as being proposed — but are objecting to certain proposed uses within their immediate residential areas. High-rise and apartment projects should be weighed heavily by village officials as to their impact on adequate sewer and water facilities and their impact on an overtaxed elementary school district.

Too often variations in zoning pre-empted by "hardship" cases have all but destroyed sound comprehensive planning and zoning. Lack of approved preannexation agreements has also resulted in misunderstanding and detriment to the community. Strip development producing the entangled concept of "urban sprawl" will take years to correct in providing a compatible community of the best utilization of land use.

The property owners of North View, Reseda and Willow Wood are not "confused people" but people who wish to maintain their property values and a desirable place in which to live.

If there is confusion — the confusion could well be in not informing the public of the facts in the case prior to the proposals being aired at the village hall.

Mothers Take Traffic Check; Find It Heavy

In response to our petition — "The Concern for Our Children's Safety on Schoenbeck Road," I would like to keep the parties, who are concerned, up to date on what has been done.

A survey was taken on May 19 at Palm Drive and Schoenbeck Road, by the following mothers — Mrs. M. Breuer, Mrs. B. Melvin, Mrs. D. Dahm and myself. The survey showed the following:

1. The number of children crossing the above streets—518;
2. The number of children crossing on bicycles—232;
3. Total children crossing—750;
4. How much traffic (cars, buses and trucks)—606;
5. Violators of the speed limit (35 m.p.h.)—98

These are the bare facts. A total of 750 children cross these streets, within 3½ hours, unguarded. Out of the 606 cars, etc., you might not think the number of violators listed so terrible, but look at the situation this way; this section calls for a 20 m.p.h. limit during school hours, and if this section had been checked by radar, almost all the 606 cars would have received speeding tickets. The surveyors were in all fairness with their count. They only counted the cars who passed up another car at these corners.

I personally took the survey to Chief Horcher of the Wheeling police dept., to see if anything will be done after seeing the facts listed above. Chief Horcher stated,"That there was a definite need for either a crossing guard and crossing lines, or that the missing sidewalk from Lee Street to Palm Drive (400 feet of walk) be put in so that the children may cross with the guard we now have at Anthony Drive."

The results of this survey will be sent to the director of Cook County Safety Traffic Commission.

Howlett Pleased By Support of Audit Procedure

This is to thank you for the editorial, "A Good Investment," which appeared in the Paddock Publications.

Editorial comment from leading papers throughout Illinois has been unanimously favorable to my remarks in Waukegan.

Newspaper support is essential to the success of any movement for progressive legislation. With the help of the Paddock Publications, and the press generally, I am confident we can protect a tight auditing system for Illinois state government.

Eventually, I hope we also can tighten up auditing procedures of local government, which is four times the size of state government. In many speeches of recent years I have urged a public moneys accounting code for Illinois.

For the time being, however, I think we should concentrate against any weakening of the auditor general's office. I am grateful for the attention given my address by the Paddock Publications, and I know it will be effective.

Police Chase Speeders, Earn His 'Thank You'

A while back I wrote a letter to the Fence Post bitterly complaining about speeders on W. Campbell Street in Arlington Heights. More recently, I opposed the action of the board of local improvements in widening Campbell Street for the very reason that speeding would be encouraged by making of this residential street a four-lane highway. Now the worst has happened. The motor cyclists and the hot-rodders have discovered Campbell Street.

But I have also discovered something. I have found that a well-placed telephone call to the Arlington Heights police gets very instant action. Last night the motorized koiks were out in force. I phoned the police, and within minutes a squad car was on the scene, arrests were made, and peace was restored. I am impressed—and most grateful. Hence this public word of thanks to the police for a job well done.

Family Helped After Injury To Daughter

On May 14 our five-year old daughter had the misfortune of being hit by an automobile on Busse and Green Brier. I was out of town at the time, and since the location of the accident was approximately three blocks from our house there was a great deal of confusion.

Not only was the fire department ambulance johnny-on-the-spot, as well as the Cook County sheriff's police, but also Officer Warren Fischer of the Mount Prospect police department, who immediately located my wife and had her at the hospital within seconds after the ambulance arrived with our daughter.

This is an open expression of our deepest appreciation to the above, as well as to a Mrs. Duncan who stopped her car and got into the ambulance with our daughter because in her own words "She needs a woman with her at this time." Also, words cannot express our appreciation for all of our neighbors in the Golfview Estates area who carried my wife through this ordeal. The telephone has been going full blast for the last 10 days. Is it any wonder again why we not only consider Mount Prospect our home, but also our way of life?

Palatine Senior Says School Does Not Encourage Maturity

I wish to take this opportunity to express my thanks to all my fellow seniors at Palatine High School for voting me in as first choice for graduation speaker. This was a vote of confidence and friendship that I will long remember and cherish.

Unfortunately, the faculty did not have the same confidence in me as did the senior class. It was their prerogative to make the final selection of individuals for speakers, and they did make excellent choices. However, I was not one of them. This, I will also long remember.

The thing that bothers me just as much as my own personal disappointment is the fact that the students, the seniors, those individuals on the verge of or already in adulthood could not have their own choice stand as it was without faculty and/or administration "help."

This is really sad when one stops to think about it. We are expected to act like adults, and yet decisions that we do make in an adult manner are overridden.

The comment that I wish to make is that there is little personal "sour grapes" on my part. That is just the way things go, but the seniors, the class of '66 at Palatine, will graduate basically unschooled in maturity or adult responsibility (except that which was attained at home or by one's own initiative). This commencement speaker situation is the final example of four years of having life (and life is for the most part spent in school) spoon-fed to us.

Another example of the lack of trust of the maturity of the students by the staff of Palatine H.S. is the senior class gift fiasco. The senior class gift is supposed to be, as the name implies, a gift from the seniors to the school. It is in reality a gift from the school to the school because the seniors did not earn the money for the gift, and the gift itself came from a list of possibilities drawn up by the administration of which the senior student council members, and not the class as a whole, made the decision, and that decision had to be approved by the administration.

A last illustration of the small amount of faith the school has in its students is the student council at Palatine, which is by definition supposed to be the governing body. In the school constitution it states that the student council will "provide for the orderly direction of school activities . . . and assist in the management of the school." The student council is a farce. Instead of teaching a respect for an orderly government of duly elected representment of duly elected representatives, it teaches a disrespect for any government because of the administration's policy of supervising and/or overruling all items passed by the student council. And as far as providing direction and assisting in management, the student council is a puppet or a yes man to the administration and performs only those duties that the administration thinks are "safe" or good for appearances or look good on school propaganda.

As things now stand, a great majority of graduating seniors will face the world unready to cope with adult decisions and responsibilities. The only real hope that the seniors have is that life won't come as too much of a shock to them.

As for the undergraduates, their hope lies in an awakening of District 211 to the fact that responsibility is learned and not assumed.

Class of '66 (FP

St. Alexius Hospital Auxiliary

They're Ready to Serve

by PAT ADAM
Suburban Living Editor

When St. Alexius Hospital in Elk Grove Village opens its doors to welcome its first patients next Monday, on duty right alongside the staff will be the blue and white-uniformed members of its women's auxiliary.

For the nearly 400 members of the hospital auxiliary, this will be the day they have waited and worked for since the group's organization a little more than three years ago.

Only an idea in the minds of a few area women in the summer of 1962, the auxiliary officially was formed at a Sunday brunch attended by about 175 women on Jan. 27, 1963.

OUT OF that meeting came a volunteer service organization of 75 paid-up members, presided over by Mrs. Richard McGrenera of Elk Grove Village, still a very active member.

"We were green but full of enthusiasm and willing to try anything," Mrs. McGrenera chuckled as she recalled the early undertakings of the fledgling auxiliary.

"We knew we had to have projects going to keep the interest of our members while there still was no hospital," she continued, "so we were ready with rummage sale plans at that first meeting."

THE SALE, held within one month after the organizational meeting, earned the group $263 to apply toward their pledge of $55,000. Of the total, $5,000 was for the gift shop which the service organization will operate in the hospital, and the remaining $50,000 was for the pediatrics department, the day nursery and the fourth floor foyer.

Through a variety of fund-raising activities in the past three years, the St. Alexius Auxiliary has already come up with $35,000 of that $55,000 pledge.

As its first major money-maker, the auxiliary held a card party with more than 500 persons turning out for the event held at Flick-Reedy Auditorium in Bensenville.

THAT FALL auxiliary members had their first annual ball, a fancy affair at Pheasant Run, and to end the first year the women sewed 30 high fashion doll outfits.

Most demanding project probably has been the kitchen operated for construction workers at the hospital. Starting in a renovated chicken coop in April, 1964, the women have served coffee and rolls, soup, sandwiches, chili and pies to the men from a makeshift counter of a board laid between two sawhorses.

For a time they even had to carry the food to the workers, setting up shop right out-of-doors. Later they carried on inside the unheated powerhouse of the hospital, finally moving to a trailer.

THIS operation, run by Mrs. Robert Eitzenhoefer and Mrs. Richard Harwood, both Elk Grove residents, required many hands to make "light work." More than 50 women helped each month, some serving and others preparing the food or delivering it. For their efforts they'll be recognized at the group's first meeting in the hospital Thursday, June 16, receiving a special badge, a circular emblem with a coffee cup on it.

From the beginning a meeting place has posed a problem for the auxiliary. Originally members met at the Maitre 'D Restaurant in Elk Grove Village, but as the auxiliary grew in size, it needed a bigger place so moved first to Hyatt House, then the Elk Grove Village Hall and the past two years, the Itasca Village Hall.

So when the women gather for their first meeting at the hospital next Thursday, for them it will be "home at last."

IN CHARGE of the volunteers who will assist in the hospital is Mrs. Darryl Skarda of Elk Grove Village, a former auxiliary president and now volunteer service chairman.

To start there are 185 women who have undergone the orientation required of all volunteers, said Mrs. Skarda. She expects this number to increase quickly once the hospital has been operating a while. Already she is receiving an average of two telephone calls daily concerning the volunteer service, she reported.

To be a volunteer a woman must belong to the auxiliary and she must have her family's consent to serve. Then she has to be interviewed and judged acceptable.

"WE ARE governed by the same code of ethics and conduct as the professional staff of the hospital," explained Mrs. Skarda. "Volunteers must be willing to abide by that code."

There is also an orientation for volunteers followed by an on-the-job training period.

At first the auxiliary will be limited in the services it provides. There will be a snack bar, in charge of the same women who ran the farm kitchen, Mrs. Eitzenhofer and Mrs. Harwood. The gift shop will be under the direction of Mrs. E. Charles Siewert, Elk Grove.

THE AUXILIARY will staff its own office at the hospital and will run the reception desk. Volunteers also will assist with the baby photo service, deliver mail and flowers and sometimes help patients to their rooms. Later they will assume other floor duties, said Mrs. Skarda.

"In all our services, we are backing up the hospital staff, helping provide the friendly atmosphere so essential to the patients."

Members of St. Alexius Auxiliary represent 22 communities in a six-township area, the majority coming from Elk Grove but some from as far as Evanston, Skokie, Dundee and Elmhurst. Youngest member is 19. Several women are in their 70's. However, most of the auxiliary members are young women, many with preschool and grade school children.

MRS. RICHARD Bowes, Berkeley, the current auxilary president, stressed that while the hospital is operated by the Alexian Brothers, a Catholic religious order devoted to caring for the sick, the auxiliary is non-sectarian and welcomes members of all faiths.

Its emblem. designed by one of the members, shows a hand holding a flame, symbolizing the women's constant service and their love for their fellowmen.

THE AUXILIARY'S GIFT SHOP will be in operation when St. Alexius Hospital opens next Monday. Mrs. E. Charles Siewert of Elk Grove, left, the chairman, and Mrs. Edward Neville of Elk Grove, a member of the gift shop committee, show samples of sale items to auxiliary members Mrs. Carl Paradiso of Roselle, Mrs. Robert Chadderon of Mount Prospect and Mrs. Donald Rohrer of Elk Grove.

THE ENTHUSIASM and dedication of St. Alexius Hospital Auxiliary members is exemplified by three of its leaders who have been active since formative days, Mrs. Richard McGrenera, left, first president of the volunteer service group; Mrs. Richard Bowes, the auxiliary's current president, and Mrs. Darryl Skarda, a past president and now volunteer service chairman. From a fledgling organization of 75 members the auxiliary has grown to approximately 400 members in little more than three years. The membership represents 22 communities, six townships. (Staff Photo)

Treasure Hunt After Dark

Junkers in Suburbia

by MARY B. GOOD

I pulled the easy chair closer to the window and set up a tray of refreshments. Then I settled down to an evening of entertainment as the parade of semi-annual "moonlighters" made the rounds on the night before the special garbage pick-up.

The little boy from across the street was hauling an empty dryer shell into his backyard.

"What on earth are you bringing that thing home for, son? You know we wind up with three times as much as we throw out, especially after your father gets home from junking!"

"I KNOW, MA, but I need this real bad. It's somebody's old dryer with the bottom off and the works out. I'm going to ask Dad to take off the door for me. Then I'm going to push it on its side, crawl in the other side and pretend I'm on television. Look, Ma, M-I-C-K-E-Y M-O-U-S-E."

The would-be performer was forgotten with the arrival of a rusted out pick-up truck. The driver stopped in front of my house to examine a discarded bedstead and eyed a lumpy mattress on the rubbish heap next door. Then he stepped back into the truck, gave it the gas and rattled on down the street. Fifteen minutes later he was back. The loud voice of an additional passesnger could be heard clearly.

"Joe, I told you I don't feel like shopping for bedroom sets tonight. My back hurts."

"IT'LL JUST TAKE a minute, Agnes. And you'll feel better after you take a look. There they are —the second and third houses on the left. Did you bring the flashlight and tape measure, Agnes?"

"Yes, Joe, But you know I want Early American. The bed's modern, Joe, and the mattress looks wider than the headboard. Here, you better check the measurements."

"Yeh, well, I don't know about the mattress. The ticking is a little frayed. Let's think about it."

With that Joe dropped the mattress and the stuffing came ripping out, thus scaring several fleet-footed insects from the confines of the bedding.

"Listen, I was here first."

"No you weren't."

"LOOK, JUST because my car stalled 10 feet from the driveway doesn't give you the right to muzzle in on me."

"Too bad, I've got my foot on this lumber."

"But you were looking at that suit of clothes, before I got interested in the 2-by-4's."

"Tough, buddy, possession is nine-tenths of the law."

"Oh, yeh?"

The melee was interrupted by the sound of a young married woman whining to her husband in the driveway of their property.

"I just don't know how I'm going to hold my head up in this community. We don't have a thing that's worth taking. Just look, not a piece moved from the heap all day. The cars keep going up and down the street, but reject all our trash. Don't you know it's a status symbol to have desirable junk? What will the neighbors say? Surely we must have something that's worthwhile."

"BUT HONEY, we're newlyweds. No one expects us to have accumulated much."

"Accumulated, phoohey! Don't we have some shower presents we can spare?"

"No, dear."

"Oh, I don't know what I'm going to do! Wait — there's a lady in a Cadillac driving very slowly. I think she's going to stop. Oh darn, she went next door. I've got it; we'll borrow something from the neighbors. Look at the pile of junk they've got."

"Say, are you throwing out that chest of drawers?" the Cadillac lady screamed to Mrs. Great Piles of Junk.

"Yes."

"Well where's the drawers?"

"My son burned them."

"WHAT DO YOU mean burning them? I would have taken it, but without the drawers I don't know. Were they dovetailed do you remember?"

"I really couldn't say for sure."

"Oh well, I may be back if I can't find something else. Keep your eye on the chest just in case."

So goes the caravan of bargain-hunters, but they'll be back next time because they know the price is right.

Auto Traveler Should Pack with Care

The motorist definitely has the upperhand when it comes to packing for a vacation trip, according to the Chicago Motor Club. He can dress as he pleases, pack neatly or just throw things in the car and hang clothing on portable hangers or in car sacks.

However, the Motor Club cautioned, care in packing for an auto trip is just as important as care in packing for a trip by air or sea.

FIRST, MAKE a list of what you will need, then check off the items as you pack. Don't forget such "vacation accessories" as traveler's checks, first aid kit, travel iron, camera, flashlight, vacuum jug, sun glasses and whatever sports equipment you plan to use.

While you have the advantage of being able to take more items conveniently, the motor club points out, the growth in use of compacts and small foreign cars has made packing lightly increasingly important. The fewer non-essentials you have along, the less you'll have to cope with in packing and unpacking during overnight stops.

Those rear seat hooks for coat hangers are handy, but be sure the suits and dresses are hung in such a way that they don't obscure the driver's vision. Never string a row of hangers across the entire rear seat.

IT IS PREFERABLE to pack two suitcases—a large one for the basic wardrobe and a small one for toilet articles and other overnight needs. There will be times when you won't need to disturb the larger suitcase on an overnight stop.

Give attention to that bonus for the auto traveler — the glove compartment. Throw out the bent hairpins and crumpled drinking cups. You'll find room for the first aid kit, sun glasses, notebook and pencil, aspirin, facial tissues, whiskbroom and foil-wrapped wet washcloth for freshening up.

We're Starting a Party Column This Week

Would you like to entertain more—but work and spend far less?

Then you will welcome today's new column, "Hello, Hostess," which will appear weekly in Suburban Living.

"Hello, Hostess" is written by three women. They have, collectively, three husbands (all on a university faculty), 11 children (crib to college), five college degrees and a wide variety of job experience.

However, they feel that their main qualification for writing the column is years of entertaining — and being entertained — in 10 of these United States and South America.

THEY SHARE, too, the philosophy that entertaining should be fun —and practically instant: just add people. And they show you how to make this work for everything from a small coffee or first birthday party to a major happen-party to a major happening.

They hope to make "Hello, Hostess" a real party line of shortcuts, ideas and inspiration for your social life. They will welcome your ideas to share with other readers, as well as your comments and suggestions on how to make the column more helpful to you. Just write "Hello, Hostess," c/o Paddock Publications, 217 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights. And if you'll enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, you may receive a prompt personal reply on your entertaining problem. We sincerely hope you will enjoy our new feature: "Hello, Hostess" —the column that comes to the aid of your party.

Hello Hostess

Don't you love parties? There's magic in the words, "You're invited!" But there's an obligation, too, to return the hospitality. And that's where this new column can help—with easy, inexpensive and novel ways to entertain. Games, favors, table decorations, party ideas for all ages and occasions. And all designed to help you entertain more—but work and spend far less. As for instance, in this spice shower—a delightfully different way to entertain the bride-to-be.

"Sugar 'n spice 'n everything nice—that's what (name) is made of." And that's the opening of your invitations to this novel spice shower—a spicy idea for a much-gifted bride. With your instructions, suggest the brand of spice you wish each guest to bring.

SERVE SPICY refreshments such as spice cake with sherbet. Or, in cooler weather, nutmeg cookies and hot spiced punch with cinnamon stick muddlers. A taste of crystallized ginger makes an unusual finale.

And spice up your presentation perhaps with a handsome spice rack to hold the individual gifts. Or add a book on spice cookery or colorful spice chart for her kitchen.

Try—piquant games: Spice Sniffing-Cover labels of familiar spices with paper. Number each. The object? Sniff to guess the spice. The one with the most correct answers wins a jar of spices, naturally. Or try Block Building—not always child's play. Bring out your spice cans and see who can build the highest tower before it tumbles. And you might see how far your guests, each taking a letter in turn, can get into a Spice Alphabet—from allspice through vanilla!

IF YOURS aren't the game-y gals, set out trimmings, decals, glitter, et cetera, and set them to work decorating apothecary jars for the bride's herb storage. Or let them make scented pomander balls for her closets. They can chatter while they stud oranges with whole cloves. Later you roll these in equal amounts of powdered orris root and cinnamon (allow about two tablespoons of mix for each orange). Wrap in tissue paper and place in a 250-degree oven for five hours. Cool and dry three days. Then wrap in nylon net with a ribbon bow and loop for hanging.

PARTY LINE: A thoughtful mother suggests, "It hardly seems fair that Dad often pays for his own presents. Last year, for Father's Day, our five children made him a wallet from construction paper. Inside they tucked 'promissory notes' good for specific jobs. Thus, the older boys promised such chores as 'One Cheerful Car Wash' or 'One Happy Hedge Trimming.' The youngsters offered shoeshines, wastebasket empty-ings and other simple tasks. All the kids enjoyed making the billfold—and Dad appreciated their thoughtfulness."

We vote this idea Tops for Pops—and well worth suggesting at your house for June 19. After all, giving of yourself is the greatest gift of all.

R.S.V.P And how about you? Won't you write us your ideas—or send us your problems? We'd like to make this column a real "Party Line" for entertaining ideas. Just write "Hello, Hostess," c/o this newspaper.

Game of the Week: Clock Calmer. If young guests start to grow wild, a quick switch to this quiet game tames those tigers fast. Bring out a wind-up alarm clock or kitchen timer, and let them take turns hiding it. You'll be amazed how subdued your "Indians" become as they try to locate the ticker!

A Tour of Horse Shows Is Honeymoon for Area Couple

Miniature white horses, drawing a white carriage with tiny bride and groom, topped the wedding cake of Leslie Patricia Monro and Thomas C. Townsend, who were married May 7 in St. Simon's Episcopal Church, Arlington Heights.

The ornament was particularly apropo as the bride is an accomplished horsewoman, and the groom is a trainer of Arabian show horses. The newlyweds met at a horse show in Columbus, Ohio and their honeymoon was a month-long tour of shows in the Carolinas.

The bride is the daughter of the Richard C. Monros, 118 S. Warwick Court, Weathersfield, Roselle, and the groom is the son of the James Townsends of Pasadena, Calif.

THE DOUBLE ring wedding took place at 6:30 p.m. with Fr. Samuel Keyes officiating. Bouquets of white carnations decorated the altar and white bows and greens marked the pews.

For her marriage the bride chose a floor-length ivory peau de soie gown fashioned with chapel train. Lace trimmed the neckline and also the skirt of the gown, and a rose headpiece with pearls held her elbow-length veil. A bouquet of lily of the valley and white roses completed her ensemble.

Mr. Monro gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Melodye Monro served as her sister's maid of honor and bridesmaids were the bride's aunt, Carol Whittinghill of Arlington Heights, and Jeri Schroeder of Burlington, Wis. Their floor-length jacket gowns of light blue crepe and embroidery were trimmed with olive green velvet, and they carried white carnations with pale blue accents.

THE RECEPTION for 135 guests was held in the Gigi Room of the Ramada Inn where Mrs. Monro received in a floor-length ice blue gown with sleeveless beaded jacket. Mrs. Townsend chose a floor-length pink gown with lace bodice, and both mothers had orchid corsages.

The groom's brother, Tim Townsend of Van Nuys, Calif. served as best man and ushers were Sonny DeBruin of Kenosha, Wis. and Jerry Lucas of Wheaton.

The newlyweds are now residing in Wheaton at Greengate Farm which is owned by Jay Stream, the groom's employer. This summer the pair will show Arabian horses all over the country and in October will pack up their hundreds of show ribbons and trophies and move to a new home in San Louis Obispo, Calif. where Greengate will relocate.

The bride, a graduate of Schurz High School in Chicago, also studied at Illinois State Normal University. Until her marriage she was employed by Pure Oil in Palatine. The groom is a graduate of Pasadena High School and studied at California Polytechnical. (S

This Cheese Cake Is Easy Summer Dessert

PERFECT FOR SUMMER PARTIES, Mrs. William D. Bull of Rolling Meadows slices a delicious cheese cake made from one of her favorite recipes. The kitchen and the cook can remain cool with this cake as there is no baking involved, and it is a light and refreshing dessert for the warm summer months.

Excellent to Serve After Heavy Meal

by LOIS SEILER

Of the many cheese cake recipes she has tried over the years, Mrs. William D. Bull of Rolling Meadows found one that has become her undisputed favorite. It not only makes a big hit with her family, but with the Girl Scouts, too, at their pot-luck suppers. And Mrs. Bull has made these cakes in quantity to serve 100 Scouts!

"This cheese cake is quite easy to prepare as there is no baking involved," said Mrs. Bull.

She uses a graham cracker crust which she sweetens with powdered sugar. The filling consists of lemon Jello and whipped Milnot as well as cream cheese, sugar and vanilla.

"This cake must be refrigerated for several hours or overnight," June Bull explained. "It is very light and creamy with a mild lemon flavor."

ONE RECIPE makes a large enough cake to serve 20. June substitutes lime jello for the lemon when preparing this for the Scouts to get an appropriate green color.

Because it is so light and refreshing, the cheese cake is an excellent dessert to serve following a rich or heavy meal. Mrs. Bull often serves it following one of her favorite dinners which features Beef Stroganoff.

She uses cubed round steak in her stroganoff, and after it is browned she simmers it with onions, garlic and mushrooms in a rich sauce consisting of cream of tomato soup and sour cream seasoned with Tabasco sauce.

This makes a rich gravy with an appealing brownish-red color. The savory stroganoff is delicious served over boiled rice, spaghetti or mashed potatoes.

As accompaniments Mrs. Bull suggests a green salad tossed with a vinegar and oil dressing and hot rolls or cocktail rye.

In addition to her culinary endeavors Mrs. Bull enjoys Scouting and has been active as a Girl Scout leader for 10 years.

The Bulls moved from Chicago to their home at 3601 Bobwhite in Rolling Meadows 10 years ago. They have three children: Barbara, 18; Pamela, 16, and Robert, 10.

Week's Best Food Buys

Pork promotions are scrubbed as costs soar with general retails advancing 10 cents a pound. Beef again is the better market buy on a mostly steady market. Lamb is limited in volume and quality as costs advance again.

Fryers are steady with promotion prices of 29 cents a pound and generally prices of 43 to 45 cents a pound for Grade A birds. Small turkeys occasionally are cut-rate at 39 cents a pound but mostly 49 to 59. Egg costs advance fractionally; retails are unchanged.

FRESH FRUIT and vegetable costs continue high .Local asparagus eases prices down. Carrots and cucumbers move sharply lower, peppers and tomatoes jump.

Generally Chicago area food values are:

Meats: beef chuck, rib and rump roasts, round, sirloin and porterhouse steaks, ground beef.

Poultry: whole fryers, larger eggs.

Produce: peaches, red plums, bananas, watermelon; sweet-corn, asparagus, broccoli, radishes, onions and new potatoes.

CHEESE CAKE

Crust:

36 graham crackers, crushed
2 tablespoons powdered sugar
¼ pound butter, melted

Combine ingredients and press into the bottom and sides of a 9 by 13-inch pan. Prepare the following filling:

1 package lemon Jello
1 cup boiling water
1 can Milnot
1 8-ounce package cream cheese
1 cup granulated sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla

Dissolve Jello in boiling water. Let cool but do not let Jello thicken. Whip the Milnot until it is stiff.

In a large bowl, cream together the cream cheese, sugar and vanilla. Add the cooled Jello. Fold in stiffly-whipped Milnot and blend ingredients together until very smooth. Pour into the crust and refrigerate for several hours or overnight. Serves 20.

BEEF STROGANOFF

1 round steak, cut in cubes
¼ cup flour
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons shortening
½ cup chopped onions
1 6-ounce can mushrooms
1 clove garlic, minced
1 cup thick commercial sour cream
1 can cream of tomato soup
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon Tabasco sauce
½ cup green pepper, diced

Cut meat in cubes and dredge with flour. Season with salt and pepper and brown meat in hot shortening. Add onion, garlic, mushrooms and saute for a few minutes.

Combine soup, sour cream, sauces and green pepper. Pour over meat. Cover and cook on high heat until steaming. Reduce heat to simmer and cook for 45 minutes.

Serve over boiled rice, spaghetti or mashed potatoes. Serves 6.

Food Poisoning: Summertime Hazard

A backyard barbecue, eaten leisurely on a hot day, can send a whole family to the hospital!

Many foods prepared in advance and left outside for a time before they are eaten are subject to poisoning. Deadly organisms multiply with amazing speed on unprotected foods with no effect on taste, smell or appearance.

There is often a tendency to forget sanitation and commonsense rules for food preservation when dining on the backyard patio. Most cases of food poisoning result when food is handled too much, improperly cooked and left exposed for several hours.

HANDS AND utensils should be clean, and no one should prepare food who has an open sore or is coughing and sneezing. These are prime conditions for the spread of staphylococcus bacteria, principal cause of food poisoning. Another major source of contamination is the common fly which can spread salmonella infection.

Foods most vulnerable to poisoning are potato salad, egg products, fish, poultry, pork products, sauces, dairy products and pastries.

The best insurance is portable refrigeration and an outdoor stove.

MILK, EGGS, pastries, and salads made from meats, sea food, poultry, beans or potatoes should be kept in an ice chest. Manufactured ice is readily available in packages at supermarkets, gasoline service stations and liquor stores to refrigerate the chest and to cool liquids. Ice plant ice is hard-frozen and lasts much longer than cubes removed from kitchen trays.

Hot, creamed or scalloped dishes should be cooked just before meal time and kept hot until served. If harmful bacteria are present, heat will destroy them and cold will prevent them from growing and producing toxins.

Food poisoning is a hot weather hazard, but the proper precautions can avoid a family disaster.

We reserve the right to limit quantities. Prices effective thru Sat. June 11th.

Cook County Auxiliary Reflects On Success at First Anniversary

The Volunteer Auxiliary for Cook County Children's Hospital celebrated its first anniversary May 19 at the home of its president, Mrs. Robert Gutmann, 315 N. Russell, Mount Prospect.

The group was started with the help of an article in the Arlington Heights Herald. Its purpose is to provide for babies at Cook County who have no clothes or toys.

The Auxiliary's first effort, a clothing and toy drive, turned into a massive affair with contributions coming from all over the northwest suburbs. Baby clothes, enough to fill a truck, were distributed at the hospital. Playpens, high chairs, plastic tubs, infant seats and strollers were put to immediate use at the hospital. Toys went to babies confined to cribs, and larger toys and games were placed in play areas.

THE AUXILIARY receives up-to-date reports from the volunteer office at Children's Hosunteer office atChildren's Hospital, said Mrs. Gutmann. The women in the hospital, all nonpaid, check with the head nurses on the eight floors to find out what is most needed for the more than 900 children bed patients.

They send lists of items as well as kits, not only to the Auxiliary, but to any interested group. Women's groups and Scout and Camp Fire groups all over the city contact the volunteer office at Cook County Children's Hospital for projects.

At the anniversary meeting Mrs. Gutmann read the latest report of most necessary items which included "busy boxes" and mobiles for the very young, rocking chairs so that volunteers might rock upset infants, and children's furniture of all types. Mrs. Bert Hanou, 47 N. Kitson, Palatine, 358-0316, will handle the collection of these items as well as other contributions.

MRS. CHARLES Wesororick, 1109 E. Kensington, Arlington Heights, will be chairman for the year. Vice chairman is Mrs. Robert Pearson of Des Plaines. In charge of projects for the Auxiliary and also for other groups is Mrs. Peter Smith, also of Des Plaines, and Mrs. Gutmann will handle secretarial duties.

The Auxiliary reports that it has received much encouragement and help from local groups. Cadette Group 2, Rolling Meadows, has helped the hospital all spring by making 36 large dolls and four scrap book kits. Jaycee Wives of Arlington Heights filled several hundred jars of baby powder for distribution to needy mothers.

"In all, a dozen trips have been made during the year, and now by working directly through the volunteer office, the Auxiliary hopes to go even further in filling direct needs," commented Mrs. Gutmann.

The Auxiliary meets the third Thursday of each month and welcomes new members.

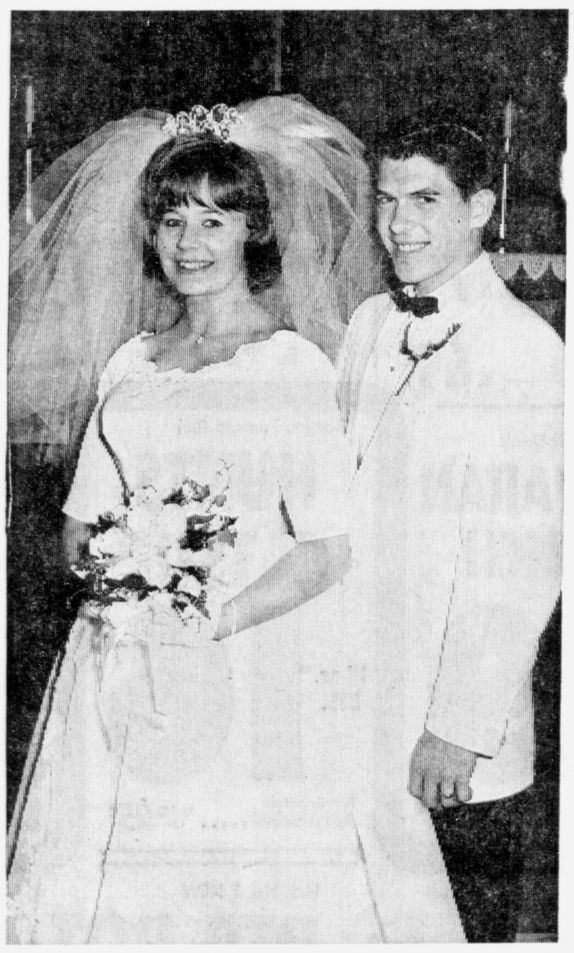
Palatine Bride Shortens Name from Klein to Hein



A bridal party attired in shades of the rainbow formed an appropriate motif for the spring wedding of Sharon Ann Klein of Palatine and Alvin R. Hein of Baraboo, Wis. Delicate hues of blue, aqua, green, yellow and pink surrounded the couple as they exchanged vows in St. Theresa Church, Palatine, at 3:30 the afternoon of April 30.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Klein, 1165 S. Smith St. The groom's parents are the Alvin Heins of Baraboo.

Nancy Klein, the bride's sister, came down the aisle wearing a light blue organza dress, floor-length, and carrying a colonial bouquet of daisies. Also in the blue was flower girl Barbara Hoedebeck, 6, of Maywood, a cousin of the bride. Her colonial arrangement of daisies was a miniature of the adult attendants' bouquets.

THERE WERE four bridesmaids in the procession, Alice Hawkins of Carpentersville in aqua, Diane Huizenga of Arlington Heights in green, Patricia Witek of Winnebago, Ill., in yellow and Diane Klein of Chicago in pink. All carried daisies in a colonial arrangement.

Miss Hawkins and Miss Klein are cousins of the bride.

AS SHE ENTERED the sanctuary on the arm of her father, the bride wore a white silk organza dress with a chapel train. A bridal wreath design was appliqued on the train and front of the skirt, and the scalloped neckline was enhanced with pearl trim.

For "something old" she carried her grandmother's handkerchief which was a part of that bride's attire 55 years ago.

She completed her attire with a 3-tiered butterfly veil attached to a pearl and crystal crown and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses.

At the altar with the bridal attendants were David Dombroski of Baraboo, who served as best man, and four young men who seated the guests. They included the bride's brother, Tom Klein; the groom's brother, Bill Hein, and Tom Jones and Gene Hietke, both of Baraboo.

AT THE WEDDING and the sit-down dinner, held in Arlington Heights VFW Hall, the bride's mother greeted the 250 guests in an aqua 3-piece ensemble with a white rose corsage. Mrs. Hein chose an orange 2-piece dress and also had a corsage of white roses.

The newlyweds went to Phoenix, Ariz., for a 2-week honeymoon and are now back in Palatine living in an apartment at 355 E. Glencoe St.

The bride is a Palatine High School graduate, and the groom attended Baraboo schools before going into military service. After his 3-year stint, he is now working for Underwriters Laboratory in Northbrook. (Jenart (s

Last Fall, the Auxiliary presented the department with a check for $400, which was used to buy lights for the firemen's cars.

Hostess for the May meeting was Mrs. Carl Haufe, and also on the agenda was the discussion of Frontier Days to be held July 16 and 17. It was announced that the WGN Barn Dance will put on two shows July 17.

Sharon Koeneman and Groom Exchange Matching Rings

Matching wedding rings were exchanged April 30 by Sharon Lee Koeneman, daughter of the Herman Koenemans, 908 N. Fernandez, Arlington Heights, and Robert William Ebel, son of the August Ebels of Barrington. The couple's marriage took place at 2 p.m. in St. James Roman Catholic Church, Arlington Heights with Fr. M. Enroe officiating.

White stocks, red glads and greens decorated the church altar for the double ring service during which Mr. Koeneman gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride chose a floor-length white silk organza gown with bodice of Alencon lace and scalloped oval mid-shoulder neckline. The long see-through sleeves ended in points at the wrists, and the bell-shaped skirt was encircled with lace motif appliques that formed a point in front.

Her chapel train was of double silk organza with lace appliques encircling the entire train forming a point in the back. An Alencon pilbox headpiece held her fingertip veil and she carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis surrounding two white orchids.

KAREN KOENEMAN of Los Angeles served as her sister's maid of honor and bridesmaids were Lynn Staples of Lake Zurich and Jean Klamer of Des Plaines.

Their floor-length gowns were of pink chiffon fashioned with above-the-elbow sleeves, scoop necklines and A-line skirts with soft pleats. The empire waistlines were bordered by deeper pink ivy-shaped leaves that dipped to a normal waistline in back to emphasize the sweep of the chiffon trains. Their flowers were cascades of white carnations tipped in turquoise and accented by pink ribbons entwined among the flowers.

Also in the wedding party were a flower girl and ring bearer. Six-year-old Helen Stavros of Mount Prospect was the flower girl and her gown was identical to the bridesmaids' gowns. Helen carried a white basket with pink rose petals and white carnations, also tipped with the turquoise.

THE GROOM'S nephew, David Wilkings of McHenry was the ring bearer. David is also 6 years old.

Best man to the groom was Kenneth Staples of Lake Zurich and groomsmen were Edward Conway, a brother-in-law from Elmhurst, and John Nelson, a brother-in-law from Medinah. Ushers were Kenneth and Kevin Koeneman of Arlington Heights brothers of the bride.

The reception was held in the Villa Venice where a 7-course dinner was served to 225 guests. Mrs. Koeneman received in a lime silk shantung sheath with matching accessories and a turquoise silk shantung coat. Mrs. Ebel chose a sheath of powder blue silk with lace trim and matching coat with see-through lace sleeves. Both mothers had white orchid corsages with deep red centers.

THE NEWLYWEDS honeymooned in Puerto Rico for two weeks and are now residing in a Des Plaines apartment.

The bride is a graduate of Arlington High School and the University of Louisville is now employed by an Arlington Heights dentist. The groom, a graduate of Ela Vernon High School and Washburn Trade School, is with United Sheet Metal. (S

Suburbanites Turn Out for Charity Fund-Raisers

MAGNOLIA AND CAPTAIN ANDY (Mr. and Mrs. Olin Hoskins) welcomed guests at the end of the gangplank Saturday evening when 230 supporters of Infant Welfare boarded a "showboat" for the Cotton Blossom Ball. Held at Inverness Country Club, the dinner-dance-benefit began with cocktails on the afterdeck (patio).

by MARIANNE SCOTT
Women's Editor

Big time charity fund-raising has hit its stride in the suburbs. Not too many years ago there were only a few charitable organizations in the area, each seeking a portion of the suburban home owner's paycheck. Today, we have at least a dozen such organizations, whose only purpose is to serve those less fortunate.

And the suburbanites have really come through by attending these fund-raisers and spending thousands of dollars. At each event one can see many of the same crowd, proof that the parties are fun, in addition to being tax deductible.

Last weekend was another of the high spots on the charity calendar when not one, but two events were staged on successive evenings. Both were sponsored by Infant Welfare Centers, Arlington Heights and Palatine.

FRIDAY evening's fund-raiser was the Post and Paddock Party given by the Arlington Heights Center and Saturday evening's affair was the Cotton Blossom Ball at Inverness Country Club at which the members of Palatine Center were hostesses.

The annual Post and Paddock Party, which was first staged in 1961, was oversold this year to a crowd of 570 guests. A special attraction of this party, held in one of the most exclusive clubs in the Chicago area, is an afternoon at the races viewed from the elegant private club at Arlington Park Race Track.

Cocktails and hors d' oeuvres followed the races, with a gourmet dinner and dancing concluding the evening. As usual the buffet tables were laden with hundreds of elaborately prepared foods. A large, raw, sliced salmon, complete with head, completely filled platters on each of the three buffet tables.

OTHER PLATTERS, with sliced tongue, each featured a real tongue as a garnish. Whole hams, glazed to look like porcelain, and turkeys sliced and then put back together, were still other foods served at the tables.

Chefs carved large roasts of beef, giving guests their choice of end cuts or rare portions, and red-clad helpers kept the serving dishes filled.

A giant bowl of giant shrimp served as a center-piece for the hors d' oeuvres table. Around the bowl were lobsters, both in and out of the shell, as well as platters of herring and other fish. Two more tables were filled exclusively with desserts of berries, fancy pastries, mints and candy to top off the dinners of those who still had room for more calories.

DRAWING OH'S and ah's from the guests was a large ice statue of a baby with his bottle, carved especially for the Infant Welfare party by Max Egloff, Post and Paddock chef.

George Fanelli's Orchestra provided music for the dancing couples.

Saturday's Cotton Blossom Ball took place on one of the loveliest nights of the year. With temperatures in the 80's, the guests sipped cocktails and nibbled hors d' oeuvres on the patio of the Inverness Club, where the Red Garter Banjo Band from Old Town entertained with old-time favorites.

THE PALATINE group reported a sell-out with 230 guests crossing a clever gang plank to be greeted by the original southern belle, "Magnolia," and the river boat captain, "Uncle Andy." "Magnolia" was Mrs. Olin Hoskins, who donned a tiered, ruffled white lace gown with a traditionally hooped skirt. Mr. Hoskins was attired in the costume of a show boat captain.

Large pink programs at each place setting announced that the Best Off Broadway Players would present "Showboat" selections following the roast beef dinner. The entertainment began as baked Alaska and coffee espresso were served to the dinner guests. The BOB Players, a talented area amateur troup, received a big hand from the crowd.

Selling tickets during the evening were four pretty belles, daughters of Center members. Music for dancing was provided by Johnny Allen's Orchestra.

THE SUCCESS OF the two consecutive evenings, which followed by only a few weeks another big fund-raiser, the Northwest Community Hospital Ball, has proven again that the community can and does support charities in a big way.

Although the Arlington group has not yet tallied final figures, proceeds are expected to top last year's affair which netted more than $2,300. Proceeds from the Cotton Blossom Ball added up to $2,500, the Palatine Center's largest money-maker to date. (S

ON THE TERRACE of the private Post and Paddock Club Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Monro of Schaumburg study the scratch sheets for Friday's races at Arlington Park. They were among the 570 guests who spent the afternoon as well as the evening at the club when Arlington Infant Welfare Center staged its annual Post and Paddock Party.

BEST DRESSED BIRDS at the party were the turkeys served at Friday evening's buffet at the Post and Paddock Party. Early guests at the buffet tables were Mr. and Mrs. George Hay, right, who with Rollie Franzen admire the elaborate garnishings on one of the turkey platters. The party was sponsored by Arlington Heights Center of Infant Welfare. (S

RED GARTER BANJO BAND from Old Town included Dixieland favorites when they entertained during cocktails Saturday evening at Palatine Infant Welfare's Cotton Blossom Ball. Guests admired the unusual banjos strummed by two of the costumed combo and the battered bass horn of the third member. In keeping with the theme, styrofoam banjos and a musical score were used as centerpieces for the dinner tables.

LOYAL SUPPORTERS of Infant Welfare are Mr. and Mrs. George Sexton of Arlington Heights, who each year invite a number of friends to join them for the Arlington Heights Center's Post and Paddock Party. The Sextons danced to the music of George Fanelli's Orchestra following cocktails and dinner in the private club.

ABOARD THE SHOWBOAT for the Cotton Blossom Ball Saturday at Inverness Country Club were the Alvin Rucks of Inverness and the Otis Schmidts of Schaumburg. Sponsored by Palatine Center of Infant Welfare, entertainment included the Best Off Broadway Players who presented selections from "Showboat."

SOUTHERN BELLES (from the southern part of Palatine) donated their services as ticket sellers Saturday evening when Palatine Infant Welfare Center staged its Cotton Blossom Ball at Inverness Country Club. Pat Driscoll, Lynn Rosenhauer, Katie Seery and Julie Evans, seated, donned their prettiest formals for the affair which had a showboat theme. (S

Let Plumber Fix Tree-Clogged Sewer

If tree roots are clogging your sewer pipe, the wise thing to do is call a plumbing contractor. He'll reel a special auger into the line to cut out the growth.

Don't try to do the job yourself, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau points out. Improper use of the auger by an amateur can break the pipe and worsen the problem.

If the roots haven't penetrated so far as to make cutting necessary, a chemical is sometimes flushed through the line to retard further growth. A plumbing contractor can recommend the type to use.

Neither of these measures is a permanent answer to the root problem, however. When sewers are clogged by roots it's usually because there are leaks in the pipe. The water draws the moisture-seeking roots, and they grow right into the pipe. The permanent solution is to replace the leaky sewer with high-quality, watertight material. For details, consult your plumbing contractor. (S

Faulty Bite

Premature loss of "baby" teeth is a major cause of malocclusion (faulty bite), a dental scientist has reported. Dr. Max Oppenheim, Philadelphia, pointed out that one of the functions of the first teeth is to lead the permanent teeth into position. Another function is to preserve space for the eruption of permanent teeth. Thus, early loss of the first teeth will sharply influence the child's oral gorwth pattern. (S

TABLE CHATTING OR DANCING, the evening was fun for Robert Rich and Mrs. A. J. Daley of Mount Prospect and Mrs. Robert Hamer of Palatine. Guests at the Arlington Heights Infant Welfare's Post and Paddock Party, they were among the hundreds who dined and danced at the exclusive club Friday evening. For Mrs. Daley, the party was especially relaxing for as president of the Auxiliary of Northwest Community Hospital, she had worked hard on the recent hospital ball.

Doctors Urge Pap Smear for Women in 20's

Since the sooner cervical cancer is detected the greater the chance it can be treated successfully, three University of Miami School of Medicine physicians recommend that "Pap" smears be made part of the regular check-up of women in their 20's, as well as in older women.

Dr. Dennis Cavanagh and associates reported in a recent issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association that almost 30 per cent of young women in their 20's whose Pap smears indicated abnormality proved to have cancer of the cervix. The doctors wrote that the truer incidence was probably closer to 40 per cent since many women with suspicious smears failed to return for additional checking.

Every year about 14,000 women die of this form of cancer. Yet such deaths could be reduced drastically, according to the American Cancer Society, by widespread use of the Pap test for early detection. (S

Gordon Newcomb Takes Bride In May 28 Rites in Waukegan

Married on May 28 in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Waukegan, the same church in which her parents exchanged vows 25 years ago, Hester Mary Sirvidas became the bride of Gordon Mitchell Newcomb of Mount Prospect. It was a nostalgic afternoon for Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sirvidas of Waukegan as they witnessed the double ring rites, along with the groom's parents, the Louis Newcombs of 119 Prospect Manor, and other relatives and friends.

A yellow and lavender color scheme formed a springtime setting as the bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a traditional gown of silk organza and chantilly lace, the bodice styled of lace with scalloped neckline and long sleeves and the organza skirt ending in a chapel train which was detailed with lace.

HER HEADPIECE, a double crown of pearls and organza, held a butterfly veil in place, and the only color in her attire was in the three yellow cymbidiums centered in her colonial bouquet. The arrangement included lilies of the valley and stephanotis.

The yellow of the color scheme was repeated in the maid of honor's attire. The bride's sister, Rita Sirvidas, wore a yellow crepe dress, accented with venice lace-trimmed sleeves and a lace-edged panel at the back waistline. Her yellow picture hat was also trimmed in venice lace, and she carried a lace fan decorated with yellow roses and daisies.

THREE bridesmaids and two junior bridesmaids were gowned alike, in ensembles matching the maid of honor's, but in lavender crepe and venice lace, and they carried fans with lavender daisies attached to them.

The groom's sister, Mrs. Madeline Webb of Madison, Wis., was a bridesmaid, along with Valeria Sirvidas, the bride's cousin, and Laura Bena, both of Waukegan.

The junior bridesmaids were twins Patricia and Michele Sutinis of Waukegan, also cousins of the bride.

TWO OTHER cousins of the bride, Laura Kajfez, 5, and Mark Kajfez, 4, both of Waukegan, took part in the ceremony as flower girl and ring bearer. Laura was dressed in a miniature of the bride and carried a basket of white and yellow daisies. Mark wore a white dinner jacket with matching bermudas as he carried the rings on a pillow decorated with stephanotis.

Terry Loveless of Wheeling was best man, and groomsmen included Vernon Newcomb, the groom's brother; Alan Webb of Madison, Fran Tulley and Richard Newgard, both of Mount Prospect.

Following the 4 o'clock nuptials, 325 guests were invited for a sit-down dinner and dancing at John F. Kennedy Memorial Hall in Waukegan.

FOR THE day's festivities, the bride's mother appeared in an aqua 2-piece suit with a white cymbidium corsage. Mrs. Newcomb wore a celery green sheath with avocado lace coat and also had a white cymbidium corsage.

The newlyweds have taken an apartment in Mount Prospect and both work in the suburban area. The groom, an Arlington High School graduate, spent four years with the U.S. Air Force and is now crew chief for the Air National Guard at O'Hare Field. His bride, a phy O'Hare Field. His bride, a physical education graduate from Northern Illinois University, is teaching for Beach Park Consolidated Schools in Waukegan.

The couple flew to Mexico for a honeymoon trip, with sightseeing stops in Mexico City, Cuernavaca, Taxco and Acapulco. (S CULINARY ART, courtesy of Jewel Tea in Wheeling, was the program for the May meeting of Meadowbrook Woman's Club. Robert Kalabas, store manager, and Dennis Thomas, meat department manager, show Mrs. Rodger Chindberg the packaging process used in the store. Various cuts of meat, their preparation for counter sale and tips on getting more for your money were explained and demonstrated for the clubwomen. The meeting also included films of the club's recent fashion show. (S

Rise in Juvenile Crime Hits Home

by BILLIE BACHHUBER

Local, state and federal authorities are deeply concerned by the rapid escalation of crime among our younger citizens. The President of the United States has advocated immediate action to pass pending legislation in order to deal swiftly with this very real threat to our society.

I am sorry to report that a crime has been committed that has affected our neighborhood. The comments ranged from an indignant "We thought we were moving into a good neighborhood" to a defensive, "Our suburb is expanding so rapidly that we are bound to have a small percentage of troubled teens."

It all came to light at a recent afternoon bridge game. The bids were going hot and heavy when the telephone rang. Our heads snapped to attention at an explosive, "You're kidding! Well, what in the world do you expect me to do about it? I am sorry, but I have a houseful of company, and you know that this isn't my week for the car."

THE VOICE became muffled and soon our hostess reappeared. Her face was pale and her eyes were snapping.

"There's been a theft at school, and they are bringing my son home from school"

Stunned silence followed. We uneasily returned to our game. Electric expectation filled the room as we heard a car drive up and the back door open.

A grinning juvenile appeared, attired in white gym shorts, and happily explained: "Hi, someone stole my pants outta' my locker."

I am relieved to be able to tell you that the pants were recovered without a serious, criminal investigation.

Mt. Prospect Couple Reach 50th Wedding Anniversary

Saturday will be an exciting day for Mr. and Mrs. Alfred O. Spiers of 206 N. Wille, Mount Prospect, as they celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. Although the actual date 50 years ago was on April 20, the couple reside in Florida during the winter months so the party was postponed until their return north.

Festivities will be held in the home of a daughter, Phyllis, and family, the H. F. Blosses of 1109 W. Miner St., Arlington Heights. A buffet supper at 5:30 p.m. will be served to relatives and friends.

THE ANNIVERSARY pair have another daughter, Dillaye, who lives nearby in Mount Prospect with her family, the Edward J. Muellers of 216 N. Dale. The daughters have given Mr. and Mrs. Spiers a total of six grandchildren.

Alfred Spiers met Jeannette Price in Chicago when both participated in a church young people's group. Alfred was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, but came to this country in his youth and attended Illinois Institute of Technology.

They were married in Chicago, but since 1949 Mount Prospect has been "home" to them. Mr. Spiers retired in 1959 after over 30 years' service with A. B. Dick Co. (S

A Half-Century of Respected Service

To help but not demand

A truly perfect tribute for a loved one should always reflect the wishes of the family. Our desire is to suggest, to advise, and to guide but never to thrust our ideas upon the bereaved.

FAMILY POT LUCK

Spring Treats

The season of outdoor meals is with us again. Compliment your outside menus with dessert platters. Fruits and berries may be arranged on a tiered platter. Peach slices dipped in lemon juice, melon squares and wedges on toothpicks, grapes and plums make a fine bottom tier. You can then add cookies, iced petit fours, mints, nuts or cheese wedges on toothpicks.

Red plums and amber peaches make a tasty jam when used together. The flavors compliment each other and the color is a lighter red than if the jam were made from just plums. Make the jam in small quantities to avoid long cooking and too much fruit preparation at one time.

To spark up the flavor of maccaroni and cheese, add a dash of dry mustard or worcestershire sauce to the cheese sauce.

A teaspoon of lemon juice and some chopped parsley added to 1/4 cup melted butter makes a speedy topping for broiled fish or green vegetable.

Helen's Favorite:
Whipped Cream Sherbet
(Serves 6)
Juice of 2 oranges
Juice of 1 lemon
1 cup crushed pineapple with juice
1 cup sugar
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
Combine juices, pineapple and sugar, stirring thoroughly to dissolve sugar. Fold in whipped cream. Pour into tray or pan and freeze in coldest portion of refrigerator, stirring once when half frozen.
